Towards Creative Learning Spaces Re Thinking The Architecture Of Post Compulsory Education:

Towards Creative Learning Spaces Jos Boys, 2010-11-23 Looking at relationships between learning and the spaces in which it takes place this book considers the distinctiveness of post compulsory education and what matters about the design of its spaces

Exploring Informal Learning Space in the University Graham Walton, Graham Matthews, 2017-09-01 Growing student numbers increased student expectations new approaches to learning and fast paced technological advances all contribute to the need for universities to take a more strategic approach to their buildings including formal and informal learning spaces Exploring Informal Learning Space in the University addresses the issue of informal learning space from the perspectives of a comprehensive range of stakeholders including students academics facilities managers university managers IT managers architects interior designers and librarians With contributions from a range of experts practitioners and academics around the world this book uses a combination of case studies and theoretical discussion to explore the rationale and theory of informal learning space alongside the practicalities of its planning development and utilization The volume is at once ambitious and pragmatic combining innovative thinking with a firm awareness of practicalities including the varied constraints faced by universities and the need to work in tandem with broader strategies Advocating broad collaboration at both planning and delivery stage the result is essential reading for anyone involved in the delivery of learning space provision from architects and designers to university managers and strategists It will also be of particular interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students engaged in the study of library information science or higher education policy and strategy

Cases on Higher Education Spaces: Innovation, Collaboration, and Technology Carpenter, Russell G., 2012-12-31 Higher education spaces are undergoing radical transformations in an attempt to respond to the needs of 21st century learners and a renewed interest in collaboration that spans beyond the walls of departments colleges and libraries Cases on Higher Education Spaces Innovation Collaboration and Technology highlights key innovations and collaborative ventures in space design from across campuses and institutions Including writing and communication centers studios libraries digital media labs learning commons and academic learning spaces this collection is ideally suited for university and professional administrators

The Physical University Paul Temple, 2014-03-21 The great universities of the world are to a large extent defined in the public imagination by their physical form when people think of a university they usually think of a distinctive place rather than about say the teaching or the research that might go on there This is understandable both because universities usually stay rooted to the same spot over the centuries and because their physical forms may send powerful messages about the kind of places they are The physical form of the university and how the spaces within it become transformed by their users into places which hold meanings for them has become of increased interest recently from both academic and institutional management perspectives when trying to understand more about how universities work and how they may be made more effective Yet despite its seemingly obvious importance the available literature on space and place in higher education internationally is scant when compared to that dealing with say teaching and learning methods or with evaluating quality or many other topics This book brings together a range of academic and professional perspectives on university spaces and places and show how technical matters of building design maintenance and use interact with academic considerations on the goals of the university Space issues are located at an intellectual crossroads where widely differing conceptual and professional perspectives meet and need to be integrated and this important book brings together perspectives from around the world to show design and use issues are changing Higher Education Globally higher education is being required to do more things to teach more students to be better at research to engage more with business and communities and many other things These pressures are leading universities to reconsider their management processes as well as their academic structures an often quoted saying is that we make our buildings and afterwards they make us At a time when universities and colleges are seeking competitive advantages ideas and analysis about space design and use is much needed and will be well received

Re-Shaping Learning: A Critical Reader Anne Boddington, Jos Boys, 2012-01-01

Learning Spaces is an emerging field fuelled by a growing interest in the relationships between learning and spaces in which it takes place whether conceptual personal social physical and or virtual It is concerned with making learning spaces that can better meet the needs of 21st century learners academics and other related publics In post compulsory education this has opened up many interesting and important issues There remains a lack of any theoretical understanding as to how such spaces should be conceived or designed and hardly any critical discussion about effective frameworks for either the development of contemporary learning spaces or for assessing their impact on learning teaching and research At the same time there is much debate about what the purposes of post compulsory education should be as well as concerns about where and by whom it should be provided We therefore need to urgently improve our understanding of the interactions between learning and space It is essential that we not only share perspectives theories and methodologies but also critically reflect on our own different assumptions and work together to build better models for post compulsory education in the future To help in this process this book is designed as a critical reader that can enable researchers academics students and managers involved in Learning Spaces to share and engage with some key ideas issues and texts A central aim is to bring together some of the best research from across the many different disciplines concerned with learning spaces including education architecture anthropology human computer interaction estate planning and museum studies Reshaping Learning is thus intended for anyone interested in and wanting to think more about learning spaces whether as users clients or managers or who are want to better understand interactions between the social and the spatial

Building Better Universities Jos Boys, 2014-11-13

Building Better Universities provides a wide ranging summary and critical review of the increasing number of groundbreaking initiatives undertaken by universities and colleges around the world It suggests that we have reached a key moment for the higher education sector in which the services location scale ownership and distinctiveness of education are being altered dramatically whether universities and colleges want it or not These shifts are affecting traditional assumptions about both the future shape of higher education institutions and the roles of and relationships between learners teachers researchers managers businesses communities and other stakeholders Building Better Universities aims to bridge the gap between educational ideas about what the university is or should be for and its day to day practices and organisation It roams across strategic operational and institutional issues space planning and building design and technological change in order to bring together issues that are often dealt with separately By analysing the many challenges faced by higher education in the contemporary period and exploring the various ways universities and colleges are responding this powerful book aims to support a step change in debates over the future of higher education and to enable senior managers and faculty to develop more strategic and creative ways of enabling effective twenty first century learning in their own institutions

Hybrid Learning Spaces Einat Gil,Yishay Mor,Yannis Dimitriadis,Christian Köppe,2022-02-04 As we have come to accept the duality of physical and virtual learning spaces as a permanent feature of our educational landscape we begin to question its validity Is this really a dichotomy or is it a continuum Should this be the primary dimension around which we cluster educational experiences how does it intersect and interact with other axes such as formal informal vocational recreational open closed teacher student How do we adapt as teachers learners designers policy makers to this changing landscape How do we shape it to offer an optimal learning experience Such questions led us to conduct a series of academic and professional events on the theme of Hybrid Learning Spaces HLS spaces which challenge and defy the dichotomies above This edited book collates some of the products of that endeavor offering a multi vocal interdisciplinary approach to hybridity in education It connects practical examples design directives and theoretical analysis combining perspectives from technology research and development educational theory and practice architecture and space and product design This book addresses researchers practitioners innovators and policy makers in education technology and design offering broad perspectives and then distilling practical insights in the form of design principles and patterns pedagogical models and predictions of future trends

Physical Language Learning Spaces in the Digital Age Felix A. Kronenberg,2024-02-08 How do we intentionally design physical environments for language learning and teaching How can we build spaces that are inclusive accessible safe and equitable While the Covid 19 pandemic has advanced notions of online education it has also revealed the benefits and affordances of human to human interaction in physical learning spaces This book explores the design of physical spaces intended for language learning specifically From residential learning spaces to active classrooms from social and experiential spaces to zoom rooms and language centers from mobile community based learning to hybrid makerspaces language learners and educators have more choices than ever regarding their possible learning environments Changing pedagogies and new technologies provide ever more alternatives to the normalized technology of the classroom With a focus on creating new awareness of the affordances and benefits of physical spaces as active agents in the language learning and teaching processes this book takes a practical approach to introduce readers without any prior knowledge of design or architecture to the topic As language learning spaces need to consider stakeholders from diverse cultures Felix Kronenberg provides examples from language centers around the world including Asia Europe and the United States Readers will learn how to conceptualize and create supportive resilient flexible inclusive accessible affordable sustainable and safe physical learning spaces The book is an interdisciplinary introduction to this emerging field drawing from research in disciplines such as architecture learning spaces design second language acquisition pedagogy history and sociology

The Translational Design of Universities ,2019-08-12 Whilst schools are transforming their physical and virtual environments at a relatively glacial pace in most countries across the globe universities are under extreme pressure to adapt to the rapid emergence of the virtual campus Competition for students by online course providers is resulting in a rapidly emerging understanding of what the nature of the traditional campus will look like in the 21st century The blended virtual and physical technology enabled hybrid learning environments now integrate the face to face and online virtual experience synchronously and asynchronously Local branch campuses are emerging in city and town centres and international branch campuses are growing at a rapid rate There is increasing pressure at various levels i e the city the urban and the campus to create formal and informal learning spaces as well as re purposing the library and social or third spaces Many new hybrid campus developments are not based on any form of rigorous scholarly evidence The risk is that many of these projects may fail In taking an evidence based approach this book seeks to align with the model of translational research from medical practice using a modified translational design approach The majority of the chapter material comes from the scholarly work of doctoral graduates and their dissertations This book is the second in a series on the evidence based translational design of educational institutions with the first volume focussing on schools This volume on Higher Education covers the city to the classroom and those elements in between It also explores what the future might look like as judgements are made about what works in campus planning and design in our rapidly changing virtual and physical worlds Contributors are Neda Abbasi Ronald Beckers Flavia Curvelo Magdaniel Mollie Dollinger Robert A Ellis Kenn Fisher Barry J Fraser Kobi Jacov Haina Rifca Hashimshony Leah Irving Marian Mahat Saadia Majeed Jacqueline Pizzuti Ashby Leanne Rose Munro Mahmoud Reza Saghafi Panayiotis Skordi Alejandra Torres Landa Lopez and Ji Yu
