Truth Recovery In Northern Ireland Critically Interpreting The Past:

Truth Recovery in Northern Ireland Kirk Simpson, 2009 Northern Ireland has entered a key phase in its troubled political history truth recovery dealing with the legacy of the past yet the lack of academic literature with regard to victims rights is striking This book analyses truth recovery as a fundamental aspect of the transition from political violence to peace

Truth recovery in Northern Ireland Kirk Simpson, 2013-07-19 Northern Ireland has entered what is arguably the key phase in its troubled political history truth recovery and dealing with the legacy of the past yet the void in knowledge and the lack of academic literature with regard to victims rights is particularly striking This book newly available in paperback analyses truth recovery as a fundamental aspect of the transition from political violence to peace democracy and stability in post conflict Northern Ireland Kirk Simpson argues that it is essential for any process of truth recovery in Northern Ireland to provide the victims of political violence with the opportunity to express and articulate their narratives of suffering within the context of public dialogic processes He outlines a unique and original model that victims of political violence should be enabled to engage in meaningful truth recovery through a Habermasian process of public democratic deliberation and communication involving direct dialogue with the perpetrators of such violence This process of communicative justice is framed within Habermas s theory of communicative action and can help to ensure that legitimate truth recovery publicly acknowledges the trauma of victims and subjects perpetrator narratives of political violence to critical scrutiny and rational deconstruction Crucially the book aims to contribute to the empowerment of victims in Northern Ireland by stimulating constructive discussion and awareness of hitherto silenced narratives of the conflict This difficult and unsettling interrogation and interpretation of the conflict from a comparatively unknown perspective is central to the prospects for critically examining and mastering the past in Northern Ireland Very British Rebels? James W. McAuley, 2016-01-01

Challenging traditional narrow views this unique work proposes to rethink and reinterpret Ulster loyalism from the beginning of the Troubles to the present day by tracing its religious paramilitary political and community influences The work examines the core values of loyalist communities the roots of violence and the shift toward peaceful coexistence with former enemies Also discussed are the DUP s claims that it represents loyalism s true voice along with the complex and varying degrees of commitment to the Crown the Protestant Faith and the British governance of Northern Ireland Lastly it looks at how cultural expressions of loyalist identity such as poetry or cartoons are being used in the re construction of a loyalist memory Written by a leading expert on Ulster loyalism the work is based on extensive interviews with loyalists and loyalist literature to provide an inside account of the processes of loyalist identity formation and transformation Drawing on political science sociology and cultural studies it will appeal to anyone interested in Irish politics as well as conflict and peace processes

Unionist Voices and the Politics of Remembering the Past in Northern Ireland Kirk Simpson, 2015-12-11 Simpson offers a reflective and theoretical explanation of the ways in which unionists conceive of the past in the present post conflict environment He considers the ways in which scholarly literature has often painted an outdated and inaccurate portrait of a highly complex people

The Northern Ireland Troubles in Britain Graham Dawson,Jo Dover,Stephen Hopkins,2016-11-28 This ground breaking book provides the first comprehensive investigation of the history and memory of the Northern Ireland Troubles in Britain It examines the impacts of the conflict upon individual lives political and social relationships communities and culture in Britain and explores how the people of Britain including its Irish communities have responded to and engaged with the conflict in the context of contested political narratives produced by the State and its opponents Setting an agenda for further research and public debate the book demonstrates that unfinished business from the conflicted past persists unaddressed in Britain and advocates the importance of acknowledging legacies understanding histories and engaging with memories in the context of peace building and reconciliation

Violence, Law and the Impossibility of Transitional Justice Catherine Turner,2016-07-07 The field of transitional justice has expanded rapidly since the term first emerged in the late 1990s Its intellectual development has however tended to follow practice rather than drive it Addressing this gap Violence Law and the Impossibility of Transitional Justice pursues a comprehensive theoretical inquiry into the foundation and evolution of transitional justice Presenting a detailed deconstruction of the role of law in transition the book explores the reasons for resistance to transitional justice It explores the ways in which law itself is complicit in perpetuating conflict and asks whether a narrow vision of transitional justice underpinned by a strictly normative or doctrinal concept of law can undermine the promise of justice Drawing on case material as well as on perspectives from a range of disciplines including law political science anthropology and philosophy this book will be of considerable interest to those concerned with the theory and practice of transitional justice

Northern Ireland a generation after Good Friday Colin Coulter,Niall Gilmartin,Katy Hayward,Peter Shirlow,2021-07-20 The Good Friday Agreement is widely celebrated as a political success story one that has brought peace to a region that was once synonymous around the globe with political violence The truth as ever is rather more complicated than that In many respects the era of the peace process has seen Northern Irish society change almost beyond recognition Those incidents of politically motivated violence that were once commonplace have become thankfully rare and a new generation has emerged whose identities and interests are rather more fluid and cosmopolitan than those of their predecessors However Northern Ireland continues to operate in the long shadow of its own turbulent past Those who were victims of violence as well as those who were its agents have often been consigned to the margins of a society still struggling to cope with the traumas of the Troubles Furthermore the transition to peace has revealed the existence of new and not so new forms of violence in Northern Irish society directed towards women ethnic minorities and the poor Northern Ireland a generation after Good Friday sets out to capture the complex and often contradictory realities that have emerged more than two decades on from the region s vaunted peace deal Across nine original essays the authors offer a critical and comprehensive reading of a society that often appears to have left its violent past behind but at the same time remains subject to its gravitational pull Confronting the Past Vjeran Pavlaković, Davor Pauković, Višeslav Raos, 2012-09-01 The Routledge Handbook of the Northern Ireland Conflict and Peace Laura McAtackney, Máirtín Ó Catháin, 2023-11-13 The Routledge Handbook of the Northern Ireland Conflict and Peace is the first multi authored volume to specifically address the many facets of the 30 year Northern Ireland conflict colloquially known as the Troubles and its subsequent peace process This volume is rooted in opening space to address controversial subjects answer key questions and move beyond reductive analysis that reproduces a simplistic two community theses The temporal span of individual chapters can reach back to the formation of the state of Northern Ireland with many starting in the late 1960s to include a range of individuals collectives organisations understandings and events at least up to the Good Friday Belfast Agreement in 1998 This volume has forefronted creative approaches in understanding conflict and allows for analysis and reflection on conflict and peace to continue through to the present day With an extensive introduction preface and 45 individual chapters this volume represents an ambitious expansive interdisciplinary engagement with the North of Ireland through society conflict and peace from a wide range of disciplinary perspectives theoretical frameworks and methodological approaches While allowing for rich historical explorations of high level politics rooted in state documents and archives this volume also allows for the intermingling of different sources that highlight the role of personal papers memory space materials and experience in understanding the complexities of both Northern Ireland as a people place and political entity

The Cambridge History of Ireland: Volume 4, 1880 to the Present Thomas Bartlett, 2018-04-26 This final volume in the Cambridge History of Ireland covers the period from the 1880s to the present Based on the most recent and innovative scholarship and research the many contributions from experts in their field offer detailed and fresh perspectives on key areas of Irish social economic religious political demographic institutional and cultural history By situating the Irish story or stories as for much of these decades two Irelands are in play in a variety of contexts Irish and Anglo Irish but also European Atlantic and latterly global The result is an insightful interpretation on the emergence and development of Ireland during these often turbulent decades Copiously illustrated with special features on images of the Troubles and on Irish art and sculpture in the twentieth century this volume will undoubtedly be hailed as a landmark publication by the most recent generation of historians of Ireland Memory, Politics and Identity C. McGrattan, 2012-10-10 The question of how to move beyond contentious pasts exercises societies across the globe Focusing on Northern Ireland this book examines how historical injustices continue to haunt contemporary lives and how institutional and juridical approaches to dealing with the past often give way to a silencing consensus or re marginalising victims Peacebuilding and the Arts Jolyon Mitchell, Giselle Vincett, Theodora Hawksley, Hal Culbertson, 2019-11-19 Ending violent conflict requires societies to take leaps of political imagination Artistic communities are often uniquely placed to help promote new thinking by enabling people to see things differently In place of conflict s binary divisions artists are often charged with exploring the ambiguities and possibilities of the excluded middle Yet their role in peacebuilding remains little explored This excellent and agenda setting volume provides a ground breaking look at a range of artistic practices and the ways in which they have attempted to support peacebuilding a must read for all practitioners and policy makers and indeed other peacemakers looking for inspiration Professor Christine Bell FBA Professor of Constitutional Law Assistant Principal Global Justice and co director of the Global Justice Academy The University of Edinburgh UK Peacebuilding and the Arts offers an impressive and impressively comprehensive engagement with the role that visual art music literature film and theatre play in building peaceful and just societies Without idealizing the role of the arts the authors explore their potential and limits in a wide range of cases from Korea Cambodia Colombia and Northern Ireland to Uganda Rwanda South Africa and Israel Palestine Roland Bleiker Professor of International Relations University of Queensland Australia and author of Aesthetics and World Politics and Visual Global Politics Peacebuilding and the Arts is the first publication to focus critically and comprehensively on the relations between the creative arts and peacebuilding expanding the conventional boundaries of peacebuilding and conflict transformation to include the artist actor poet novelist dramatist musician dancer and film director The sections on the visual arts music literature film and theatre include case studies from very different cultures contexts and settings but a central theme is that the creative arts can play a unique and crucial role in the building of peaceful and just societies with the power to transform relationships heal wounds and nurture compassion and empathy Peacebuilding and the Arts is a vital and unique resource which will stimulate critical discussion and further research but it will also help to refine and reframe our understanding of peacebuilding While it will undoubtedly become mandatory reading for students of peacebuilding and the arts its original approach and dynamic exploratory style should attract a much wider interdisciplinary audience Professor Anna King Professor of Religious Studies and Social Anthropology and Director of Research Centre of Religion Reconciliation and Peace WCRRP University of Winchester UK This volume explores the relationship between peacebuilding and the arts Through a series of original essays authors consider some of the ways that different art forms including film theatre music literature dance and other forms of visual art can contribute to the processes and practices of building peace This book breaks new ground by setting out fresh ways of analysing the relationship between peacebuilding and the arts Divided into five sections on the Visual Arts Music Literature Film and Theatre Dance over 20 authors offer conceptual overviews of each art form as well as new case studies from around the globe and critical reflections on how the arts can contribute to peacebuilding As interest in the topic increases no other book approaches this complex relationship in the way that Peacebuilding and the Arts does By bringing together the insights of scholars and practitioners working at the intersection of the arts and peacebuilding this book develops a series of unique critical perspectives on the interaction of diverse art forms with a range of peacebuilding endeavours

Painting History Tony Crowley, 2025-09-16 Painting History The Murals of Northern Ireland 1908 2024 is the first book length study of the oldest and most enduring tradition of political wall art Tony Crowley shows how muralism became an important medium for the unionist and loyalist community in its political domination of public space before and after Partition. The text also demonstrates that nationalists and republicans painted few murals before the start of the 1981 Hunger Strike during which they painted wall art across republican areas of Northern Ireland as a way of publicizing their cause. In the context of a divided society by the mid 1980s murals had become an established genre for the expression of political demands and aspirations. In Painting History Tony Crowley provides a detailed analysis of the complex tradition of muralism in the context of the history that produced it with particular attention given to the cultural politics of this remarkable form. The book also raises and discusses a series of theoretical questions about murals and muralism that transcend Northern Ireland issues of propriety and legality form and content authority and censorship. The work ends with a consideration of the future of the murals in a still polarized but changing region.

A Sort of Homecoming Marcia Boniferno, Amanda Jagt, Andrew Stephens-Rennie, 2020-08-04 We live in a culture of collective fear over climate change and mass migration and we experience increasing intense personal anxiety and despair. How might the Bible's themes of homecoming and homemaking address our physical emotional and spiritual displacement? This collection of essays honors the academic and community work of Brian J Walsh upon his retirement as Campus Minister at the University of Toronto Christian Reformed Campus Ministry. The collection is a stunning mosaic at once academic and personal representing the many elements of Brian's life as pastor theologian professor farmer mentor and friend. In an age when home feels physically and spiritually elusive for so many this volume reawakens our imaginations to the foundational biblical themes of homecoming and homemaking. Academic pastoral personal and timely this volume honors Brian's career and equips readers to engage the fear and anxiety of our age with the hope of the gospel.

Seeking Stillness or The Sound of Wings Hector Acero Ferrer, Michael DeMoor, Peter Enneson, Matthew Klaassen, 2021-03-11 Seeking Stillness or The Sound of Wings pays tribute to Lambert Zuidervaat one of the most productive Reformational philosophers of the present generation by picking up the central concerns of his philosophical work art truth and society and working with the legacy of his published concern to see what more can be understood about our world in light of that legacy. Zuidervaat is an internationally recognized expert in critical theory especially the work of Theodor Adorno and a leading systematic philosopher in the reformational tradition. His research and teaching range across continental philosophy epistemology social philosophy and philosophy of art with an emphasis on Kant Hegel Marx Heidegger Gadamer and Habermas. He is currently developing a new conception of truth for an allegedly post truth society. At the Institute for Christian Studies 2002-2016 Zuidervaat held the Herman Dooyeweerd Chair in Social and Political Philosophy and served as founding Director of the Centre for Philosophy Religion and Social Ethics. He was also an Associate Member of the Graduate Faculty and Full Professor status only in the Department of Philosophy at the University of Toronto and a member of the Advanced Degree Faculty at the Toronto School of Theology. Zuidervaat is currently a Visiting Scholar in the Department of Philosophy at Calvin University in Grand Rapids Michigan.

Seeking Stillness or The Sound of Wings seeks to promote new scholarship emerging from the rich and dynamic tradition of reformational intellectual inquiry Believing that all scholarly endeavor is rooted in and oriented by deep spiritual commitments reformational scholarship seeks to add its unique Christian voice to discussions about leading questions of life and society From this source it seeks to contribute to the redemptive transformation and renewal of the various aspects of contemporary society developing currents of thought that open human imagination to alternative future possibilities that may helpfully address the damage we find in present reality As part of this work Currents in Reformational thought will bring to light the inter and multi disciplinary dimensions of this intellectual tradition and promote reformational scholarship that intentionally invites dialogue with other traditions or streams of thought

The Body in Pain in Irish Literature and Culture Fionnuala Dillane, Naomi McAreavey, Emilie Pine, 2016-12-06 This book elucidates the ways the pained and suffering body has been registered and mobilized in specifically Irish contexts across more than four hundred years of literature and culture There is no singular approach to what pain means the material addressed in this collection covers diverse cultural forms from reports of battles and executions to stage and screen representations of sexual violence produced in response to different historical circumstances in terms that confirm our understanding of how pain whether endured or inflicted witnessed or remediated is culturally coded Pain is as open to ongoing redefinition as the Ireland that features in all of the essays gathered here This collection offers new paradigms for understanding Ireland's literary and cultural history

Transitional Justice and the Politics of Inscription Joseph Robinson, 2017-08-04 Taking Northern Ireland as its primary case study this book applies the burgeoning literature in memory studies to the primary question of transitional justice how shall societies and individuals reckon with a traumatic past Joseph Robinson argues that without understanding how memory shapes moulds and frames narratives of the past in the minds of communities and individuals theorists and practitioners may not be able to fully appreciate the complex emotive realities of transitional political landscapes Drawing on interviews with what the author terms memory curators coupled with a robust analysis of secondary literature from a range of transitional cases the book analyses how the bodies of the dead the injured and the traumatised are written into or written out of transitional justice The author argues that scholars cannot appreciate the dynamism of transitional memory space unless they first engage with the often silenced or marginalised voices whose memories remain trapped behind the antagonistic politics of fear and division Ultimately challenging the imperative of national reconciliation the author argues for a politics of public memory that incubates at multiple nodes of social production and can facilitate a vibrant democratic debate over the ways in which a traumatic past can or should be remembered

The Gender Politics of Contemporary Performance in Northern Ireland Alexander Coupe, 2024-12-07 This book examines theatre and performance produced since the 1998 Belfast Good Friday Agreement in the context of growing discontent with the failure of the peace in Northern Ireland to deliver genuinely transformative forms of social justice The economic expansion that attended the peace accord propelled the growth of the region's theatre and performance sector and assisted in increasing the representation of women and LGBTQ people across the arts. Despite this, much of the performance work produced since 1998 has illuminated the darker social consequences of Northern Ireland's embrace of a specifically neoliberal vision of a post-conflict society. Existing scholarship has already highlighted the role of theatre and performance in drawing attention to the misogyny and homophobia that has underwritten political antagonism in the North since partition. Instead, this book offers a sustained examination of contemporary performance makers that have engaged specifically with the reconstruction of gender norms amidst the region's political and economic transformation. The story it tells is of an emerging current in theatre performance art and dance consisting of work concerned not only with uncovering the morbid symptoms of the neoliberal peace but also embodying those messy and everyday conditions of co-dependency, vulnerability and solidarity that both patriarchal nationalisms and androcentric individualism seek to deny.

Lethal Force, the Right to Life and the ECHR Stephen Skinner, 2019-08-22. In its case law on the use of lethal and potentially lethal force, the European Court of Human Rights declares a fundamental connection between the right to life in Article 2 of the European Convention on Human Rights and democratic society. This book discusses how that connection can be understood by using narrative theory to explore Article 2 law's specificities and its deeper historical, social and political significance. Focusing on the domestic policing and law enforcement context, the book draws on an extensive analysis of case law from 1995 to 2017. It shows how the connection with democratic society in Article 2's substantive and procedural dimensions underlines the right to life's problematic duality as an expression of a basic value demanding a high level of protection and a contextually limited provision allowing states leeway in the use of force. Emphasising the need to identify clear standards in the interpretation and application of the right to life, the book argues that Article 2 law's narrative dimensions bring to light its core purposes and values. These are to extract meaning from pain and death, ground democratic society's foundational distinction between acceptable force and unacceptable violence and indicate democratic society's essential attributes as a restrained, responsible and reflective system.

The European Convention on Human Rights and the Conflict in Northern Ireland Brice Dickson, 2012-03-15. This book charts the role played by the European Convention on Human Rights during the conflict in Northern Ireland from 1968 to the present day. It offers a systematic case study of the Convention's capacity to protect human rights in a society wracked by terrorism and political conflict.
