Writing Life Celebrated Canadian And International Authors On Writing And Life:

The Cambridge Companion to Alice Munro David Staines, 2016-03-08 This Companion is a thorough introduction to the writings of the Nobel Prize winner Alice Munro. Uniting the talents of distinguished creative writers and noted academics, David Staines has put together a comprehensive exploratory account of Munro's biography, her position as a feminist, her evocation of life in small town Ontario, her non-fictional writings as well as her short stories and her artistic achievement. Considering a wide range of topics including Munro's style, life, writing, her personal development and her use of Greek myths, Celtic ballads, Norse sagas and popular songs, this volume will appeal to keen readers of Munro's fiction as well as students and scholars of literature and Canadian and gender studies.

Writing Life Constance Rooke, 2006 Since they were first published in the mid 1990s, PEN Canada's two previous fundraising anthologies, the widely acclaimed Writing Away and Writing Home, have raised 200,000 in support of PEN's vital work on behalf of free speech and writers in prison around the world. Now Writing Life promises to be the most successful volume yet. In Writing Life, fifty celebrated authors reveal surprising truths about what it means to be a writer and about the sparks that can result when writing and life intersect and sometimes collide. Provocative, candid, often very funny, personal and passionately engaged, this inspired collection will take readers deep into the heart of the writing life. Margaret Atwood revisits how she came to write five of her novels. Russell Banks reveals why he doesn't do research. John Berger and Michael Ondaatje discuss gate-crashing characters and the magical instant when a work begins. Joseph Boyden takes time out from promoting his first novel to go moose hunting. Margaret Drabble considers the wickedness of stealing material from real life. Howard Engel describes the stroke that took away his ability to read and where that left him as a writer. Yann Martel reflects on the impossible, necessary challenge of writing about the Holocaust. Lisa Moore shows how crucial the mess and vitality of family life are to her writing. Alice Munro shares why she might give up writing. Rosemary Sullivan negotiates the risks and responsibilities that come with telling the story of a life. Susan Swan wrestles with historical fact, fiction and Casanova. Proceeds from this volume will go to PEN Canada in support of its vital work on behalf of writers in prison around the world and in defence of freedom of expression both in Canada and abroad.

Alice Munro's Miraculous Art Janice Fiamengo, Gerald Lynch, 2017-02-14 Alice Munro's Miraculous Art is a collection of sixteen original essays on Nobel laureate Alice Munro's writings. The volume covers the entirety of Munro's career from the first stories she published in the early 1950s as an undergraduate at the University of Western Ontario to her final books. It offers an enlightening range of approaches and interpretive strategies and provides many new perspectives, reconsidered positions and analyses that will enhance the reading, teaching and appreciation of Munro's remarkable, indeed, miraculous work. Following the editors' introduction, which surveys Munro's recurrent themes, explains the design of the book and summarizes each contribution, Munro biographer Robert Thacker contributes a substantial bio-critical introduction to her career. The book is then divided into three sections focusing on Munro's characteristic forms, themes and most notable literary effects.

Toronto Trailblazers Ruth Panofsky, 2019-09-12. The first ever study of women in Canadian publishing, Toronto Trailblazers delves into the cultural influence of seven key women who, despite pervasive gender bias, helped advance a modern literary culture for Canada. Publisher Irene Clarke, scholarly editors Eleanor Harman and Frances Halpenny, trade editors Sybil Hutchinson, Claire Pratt and Anna Porter, and literary agent Bella Pomer made the most of their vocational prospects first by securing their respective positions and then by refining their professional methods. Individually, each woman asserted her agency by adapting orthodox ways of working within Canadian publishing. Collectively and perhaps more importantly, their overarching approach emerged more broadly as a feminist practice. Guided by the resolve to make industry-wide improvements, these women disrupted the dominant masculine paradigm and reinvigorated the culture of publishing and authorship in Canada. Through their vision and method, these trailblazing women became agents of change who helped transform publishing practice.

Canadian Book Review Annual, 2007. Descendants of Waverley Martha F. Bowden, 2016-08-11. Descendants of Waverley examines contemporary novelists' combination of historical authority and narrative art to create authentic and accessible depictions of the past. This technique, the romance of history, challenges conventional theories that the novel as a genre erased the romance. Individual chapters establish the critical framework, analyze the strategies that authors use to romance history and demonstrate the subgenres that exist in current historical fiction. While the author does not consider Walter Scott to be the inventor of historical fiction, she demonstrates the ways in which contemporary fiction's techniques reflect the form of the genre that Scott both developed and theorized in the Waverley novels (1814-1832). In writing his historical romances, Scott drew on the forms of the fictions that preceded his work, especially Gothic fiction, and was influenced by the fluid definitions of romance that permeated the theorizing of the novel and its development in the eighteenth century, where fiction was described as evolving from and replacing romances and referred to as romances themselves. She begins by tracing this history and moves on to discuss contemporary fiction both as technique in the uses of intertextuality and in as form in the increasing hybridity of contemporary fiction. This hybridity is reflected in such forms as the historical detective novel, the embedded narrative and the biographical novel, the pedagogical elements inherent in the historical novel before Scott's oeuvre continue into the present. The book ends with the recent phenomenon of historical fantasy in this subgenre the traits of more conventional historical fiction such as intertextuality and the tension between the familiar and strange combine with a playful form of fantasy that releases revenants among the Luddites and wizards into the Battle of Waterloo John Frow's theory of the slipperiness of genre is a critical component for explicating the most recent metamorphoses of historical fiction The critical framework also develops from recent and eighteenth century histories of the novel twentieth and twenty first century theories of Scott's influence and contemporary writers own reflections on what they do when they write historical novels Quill & Quire, 2007 Sharon Pollock Sharon Pollock, 2005 Third volume of plays from one of Canada's most celebrated playwrights The Malahat Review, 2007
