Writing The Past Inscribing The Future History As Prophecy In Colonial Java:

Writing the Past, Inscribing the Future Nancy K. Florida, 1995 Located at the juncture of literature history and anthropology Writing the Past Inscribing the Future charts a strategy of how one might read a traditional text of non Western historical literature in order to generate with it an opening for the future This book does so by taking seriously a haunting work of historical prophecy inscribed in the nineteenth century by a royal Javanese exile working through this writing of a colonized past to suggest the reconfiguration of the postcolonial future that this history itself apparently intends After introducing the colonial and postcolonial orientalist projects that would fix the meaning of traditional writing in Java Nancy K Florida provides a nuanced translation of this particular traditional history a history composed in poetry as the dream of a mysterious exile She then undertakes a richly textured reading of the poem that discloses how it manages to escape the fixing of tradition Adopting a dialogic strategy of reading Florida writes to extend as the work s Javanese author demands this history s prophetic potential into a more global register Babad Jaka Tingkir the historical prophecy that Writing the Past Inscribing the Future translates and reads is uniquely suited for such a study Composing an engaging history of the emergence of Islamic power in central Java around the turn of the sixteenth century Babad Jaka Tingkir was written from the vantage of colonial exile to contest the more dominant dynastic historical traditions of nineteenth century court literature Florida reveals how this history s episodic form and focus on characters at the margins of the social order work to disrupt the genealogical claims of conventional royal historiography thus prophetically to open the possibility of an alternative future

A Global History of History Daniel Woolf, 2011-02-17 An illustrated survey of global historical scholarship from the ancient world to the present for courses in theory and historiography Javanese Literature in Surakarta Manuscripts Nancy K. Florida, 2018-08-06 This book completes a series of three volumes cataloguing the Javanese language manuscripts housed in four repositories in the Central Javanese city of Surakarta that were preserved in microfilm under the auspices of the Cornell University s Surakarta Manuscript Project The present volume describes the manuscripts of the Radya Pustaka Museum and the private library of the late Panembahan Hardjonagoro a body of materials that date from the early eighteenth to the early twentieth century Detailing the contents of the 1 204 texts inscribed in these 478 manuscripts Nancy K Florida s fully indexed catalogue guides the reader through a wide range of materials The manuscripts catalogued include autobiographical writings gamelan notation works of calendrical divination annotated translations of the Qur an compendia of colonial laws and regulations Sufi poetry royal genealogies handbooks on horsemanship histories of legendary heroes and scripts for wayang performances Each entry includes information of titles authors dates and places of composition dates and places of inscription identities of scribes and patrons and concise descriptions of the contents Each title is also provided with a subject categorization along with notes on the physical size and condition of the original manuscript descriptions of scripts and scribal styles papers and watermarks It is an essential resource for researchers of Javanese history and culture

Gender, Islam, Nationalism and the State in Aceh Jaqueline Aquino Siapno, 2013-11-05 This book sets out to open up the space for interpretation of history and politics in Aceh which is now in a state of armed rebellion against the Indonesian government. It lays out a groundwork for analysing how female agency is constituted in Aceh in a complex interplay of indigenous matrilocality, Islamic belief and practices, state terror and political violence. Analysts of the current conflict in Aceh have tended to focus on present events. Siapno provides a historical analysis of power co-optation and resistance in Aceh and links it to broader comparative studies of gender, Islam and the state in Muslim communities throughout the world.

The Wheel-Turner and His House Geok Goh, 2014-11-30 The recorded history of precolonial Burmese empire and the modern state of Myanmar starts with the kingdom of Bagan in the eleventh century. The oldest surviving written records and structures are from the reign of King Anawrahta 1044-1077. Anawrahta converted to Theravada Buddhism and created a vibrant Buddhist state in the Irrawaddy River basin. Anawrahta is a folk hero to this day in Myanmar and is widely credited as a charismatic and pious leader who consolidated various ethnic groups throughout the region into a single nation. The Wheel-Turner and His House traces the archaeological and historical record of Anawrahta and his seminal position in forming modern Myanmar based on the few sources that have been recovered. The Great Chronicle, an important history of the country written by the 18th-century Burmese nobleman U Kala, forms the basis for much of the knowledge we have about Anawrahta today. Geok Yian Goh examines U Kala's work in light of the context of U Kala's own time and points out the bias of his royal court as well as the scribe's personal views from the elaborate narratives he produced. She looks at other sources as well, including unpublished palm leaf manuscripts, to disentangle earlier knowledge about Anawrahta and eleventh-century Bagan. Placing the overall study of Burmese historical tradition within the larger manuscript culture of Asia, Goh presents a critique of theoretical issues in history, especially the relationship between the past and memory. In order to analyze the expansion of Anawrahta's historical image that formed the development of a Buddhist ecumene in the eleventh and twelfth centuries, Goh utilizes published and unpublished texts in Burmese and classical Chinese along with northern Thai and Sri Lankan texts, many of which Goh makes available for the first time in English.

Current Contents, 1999 The Discrepancy Between the Public and the Private Selves of Indonesian Women Soe Tjen Marching, 2007 This study investigates public and private representations of identities of Indonesian women in the New Order period 1967-1998 in the form of published autobiographies and unpublished diaries collected during fieldwork. During the New Order era, the government tried to indoctrinate conservative ideas about gender using various media. While autobiographies published in New Order Indonesia did not have the freedom to challenge the authoritative eye, those women who produced such works are still perceived as exerting their individuality and criticizing, however indirectly, the social conditions surrounding them. In the unpublished diaries, considered although the authors are
