Saxton provides fresh and convincing insights into the deeply complex ways in which categories of criminality gender and fiction intersected in the long eighteenth century She offers the figure of the murderess as evidence of the constitutive relationship between eighteenth century legal and fictional texts comparing non fiction representations of homicidal women in biographies of Newgate Ordinaries and in trial reports with those in the early novels of Aphra Behn Delariviere Manley Daniel Defoe and Henry Fielding As Saxton demonstrates that legal narratives informed the budding genre of the novel and fictional texts shaped the development of legal narratives her study of deadly plots becomes a feminist intervention in scholarship on the literature of crime that simultaneously insists on the centrality of crime literature in
