Toward An Islamic Reformation Toward An Islamic Reformation:

Toward an Islamic Reformation Abdullahi Ahmed An Na'im, 2019-01-31 Toward an Islamic Reformation is an ambitious attempt to modernize Islamic law calling for reform of the historical formulations of Islamic law commonly known as Shari'a that is perceived by many Muslims to be part of the Islamic faith As a Muslim Abdullahi Ahmed An Na'im is sensitive to and appreciative of the delicate relationship between Islam as a religion and Islamic law Nevertheless he considers that the questions raised here must be resolved if the public law of Islam is to be implemented today An Na'im draws upon the teachings and writings of Sudanese reformer Mahmoud Mohamed Taha to provide what some have called the intellectual foundations for a total reinterpretation of the nature and meaning of Islamic public law Toward an Islamic

Toward an Islamic Reformation 'Abdallāh Aḥmad an-Na'im, 2017 Muslims and Global Justice Abdullahi Ahmed An-Na'im, 2011-06-06 Over the course of his distinguished career legal scholar Abdullahi Ahmed An Na'im has sought to reconcile his identity as a Muslim with his commitment to universal human rights In Muslims and Global Justice he advances the theme of global justice from an Islamic perspective critically examining the role that Muslims must play in the development of a pragmatic rights based framework for justice An Na'im opens this collection of essays with a chapter on Islamic ambivalence toward political violence showing how Muslims began grappling with this problem long before the 9/11 attacks Other essays highlight the need to improve the cultural legitimacy of human rights in the Muslim world As An Na'im argues in order for a commitment to human rights to become truly universal we must learn to accommodate a range of different reasons for belief in those rights In addition the author contends building an effective human rights framework for global justice requires that we move toward a people centered approach to rights Such an approach would value foremost empowering local actors as a way of negotiating the paradox of a human rights system that relies on self regulation by the state Encompassing over two decades of An Na'im's work on these critical issues Muslims and Global Justice provides a valuable theoretical approach to the challenge of realizing global justice in a world of profound religious and cultural difference Human Rights Eva Brems, 2001-05-15 2 2 In the CRC An Islamic Reformation? Michaelle

Browsers, Charles Kurzman, 2004-01-01 This book brings together scholars with expertise in modern Islamic thought and practice to evaluate the claim that we are witnessing something tantamount to an Islamic Reformation by assessing the character and impact of various reformist trends in the Middle East and North Africa Each chapter also addresses the question of the appropriateness and usefulness of comparisons between Christian and Islamic or Western and Eastern reformations Crescent and Dove Qamar-ul Huda, 2010 Crescent and Dove looks at the relationship between contemporary Islam and peacemaking by tackling the diverse interpretations concepts and problems in the field of Islamic peacemaking It addresses both theory and practice by delving into the intellectual heritage of Islam to discuss historical examples of addressing conflict in Islam and exploring the practical challenges of contemporary peacemaking in Arab countries Turkey Iran Pakistan and Indonesia Islamic Reform in South Asia Filippo Osella, Caroline Osella, 2013-05-16 The articles in this volume build up ethnographic analysis complementary to the historiography of South Asian Islam which has explored the emergence of reformism in the context of specific political and religious circumstances of nineteenth century British India Taking up diverse popular and scholarly debates as well as everyday religious practices this volume also breaks away from the dominant trend of mainstream ethnographic work which celebrates Sufi inspired forms of Islam as tolerant plural authentic and so on pitted against a reformist Islam Urging a more nuanced examination of all forms of reformism and their reception in practice the contributions here powerfully demonstrate the historical and geographical specificities of reform projects In doing so they challenge prevailing perspectives in which substantially different traditions of reform are lumped together into one reified category often carelessly shorthanded as wah habism and branded as extremist if not altogether demonised as terrorist Shaping the Current Islamic Reformation B.A. Roberson, 2004-08-02 Roberson goes beyond the media presentation of the impact of Islam in the Middle East to consider the reality that lies behind it Islamic Reform and Arab Nationalism Amal N. Ghazal, 2010-04-08 Bridging African and Arab histories this book examines the relationship between Islam nationalism and the evolution of identity politics from late 19th Century to World War II It provides a cross national cross regional analysis of religious reform nationalism anti colonialism from Zanzibar to Oman North Africa and the Middle East This book widens the scope of modern Arab history by integrating Omani rule in Zanzibar in the historiography of Arab nationalism and Islamic reform It examines the intellectual and political ties and networks between Zanzibar Oman Algeria Egypt Istanbul and the Levant and the ways those links shaped the politics of identity of the Omani elite in Zanzibar Out of these connections emerges an Omani intelligentsia strongly tied to the Arab cultural nahda and to movements of Islamic reform pan Islamism and pan Arabism The book examines Zanzibari nationalism as formulated by the Omani intelligentsia through the prism of these pan Islamic connections and in the light of Omani responses to British policies in Zanzibar The author sheds light on Ibadism an overlooked sect of Islam and its modern intellectual history and the role of the Omani elite in bridging Ibadism with pan Islamism and pan Arabism Although much has been written about nationalism in the Arab world this is the first book to discuss nationalism in Zanzibar in the wider context of religious reform and nationalism in the Arab world and the first to offer a new framework of analysis to the study of pan Islamic and pan Arab movements and nationalism Islamic Reform in Twentieth-Century Africa Roman Loimeier, 2016-09-08 The first comprehensive analysis of Muslim movements of reform in modern sub Saharan Africa Based on twelve case studies Senegal Mali Nigeria Niger Chad Sudan Ethiopia Somalia Kenya Tanzania Zanzibar and the Comoros this book looks at patterns and peculiarities of different traditions of Islamic reform Considering both Sufi and Salafi oriented movements in their respective historical contexts it stresses the importance of the local context to explain the different trajectories of development The book studies the social religious and political impact of these reform movements in both historical and contemporary times and asks why some have become successful as popular mass movements while others failed to attract substantial audiences It also considers jihad minded movements in contemporary Mali northern Nigeria and Somalia and looks at modes of transnational entanglement of movements of reform Against the background of a general inquiry into what constitutes areform the text responds to the question of what areform actually means for Muslims in contemporary Africa Key featuresBiographies of reformist scholars complement the textCase studies are placed in the context of the dynamics of areform in the larger world of IslamAddresses the importance of trans national entanglements and their formative powerFocuses on the dynamics of social and religious development the political dynamics of Islamic areform and issues of youth generational change and gender

Islamic Reform and Conservatism Indira Falk Gesink,2009-11-30 The famed reform debates at al Azhar Madrasa in nineteenth century Cairo one of the most influential centres of religious study in Sunni Islam were enormously influential for twentieth century Islamic thought Here Indira Gesink offers a revisionist history of these debates over curricular and administrative reforms and challenges our understanding of the struggle between Islamic reform and conservatism It has been assumed that famous Islamic modernists such as Muhammad Abduh instigated the reform movement and the ideas of modern religious life that emanated from al Azhar and permeated Islamic society a development that religious conservatives opposed Gesink draws on obscure but important archival sources legal manuals and ephemeral journals to tell the other side of the story and to illustrate the important contributions of conservative scholars to the evolution of twentieth century Sunni Islam Conservative opponents of reform engaged many of the same issues as reformers and actively pursued alternative visions of reform In fact texts of enacted reforms show greater attention to concerns of conservatives than to the original programmes of Muhammad Abduh and conservatives led ulama committees that generated and implemented reforms Had religious conservatives not contributed to the reforms of the early twentieth century these reforms would have lacked the crucial cultural assonance that permitted them to become rooted in public life in an environment of rising nationalist anti British sentiment which saw Abduh as a willing agent of colonialists The debates ultimately catalyzed public acceptance of secularism Islamic modernism and radical Islamism They also led to the practice of lay legal interpretation the proliferation of competing interpretations within Sunni Islam and the rise of militant sects By drawing on obscure archival sources and restoring conservative voices to the debate Islamic Reform and Conservatism presents a more nuanced picture of the al Azhar debates and the forces that shaped Islamic religious life in the twentieth century than has become the norm Its original scholarship and fresh analysis make this book indispensable for all those interested in the modern Middle East religious history Islamic studies radical Islam and militancy secularism modernism and religious reform

Islamic Reform David Dean Commins,1990-04-12 Religious community and nation have long been the chief poles of political and cultural identity for peoples of the modern Middle East This work explores how men in turn of the century Damascus dealt in word and deed with the dilemmas of identity that arose from the Ottoman Empire's 19th century reforms Muslim religious scholars ulama who advocated a return to scripture as the basis of social and political order were the pivotal group The reformers clashed with their fellow ulama who defended the integrity of prevailing religious practices and beliefs In addition to two conflicting interpretations of Islam Arabism comprised a new strand of thought represented by young men with secular educations advancing Arab interests in the Ottoman Empire Religious reformers and Arabists shared a political agenda that shifted focus from constitutionalism before 1908 to administrative decentralization shortly thereafter Using unpublished manuscripts and correspondence inheritance documents and Ottoman era periodicals this work weaves together social political and intellectual aspects of a local history that represents an instance of a fundamental issue in modern history

Islam and Human Rights Abdullahi An-Na'im, edited by Mashood A. Baderin, 2017-05-15 The relationship between Islam and human rights forms an important aspect of contemporary international human rights debates Current international events have made the topic more relevant than ever in international law discourse Professor Abdullahi An Na'im is undoubtedly one of the leading international scholars on this subject He has written extensively on the subject and his works are widely referenced in the literature His contributions on the subject are however scattered in different academic journals and book chapters This anthology is designed to bring together his academic contributions on the subject under one cover for easy access for students and researchers in Islamic law and human rights

Essays on Islamic Fundamentalism and Reactive Trend among Indian Hindus toward Revivalism Rasheed Talib, Hidden Liberalism Hussein Banai, 2020-12-10 Compared to rival ideologies liberalism has fared rather poorly in modern Iran This is all the more remarkable given the essentially liberal substance of various social and political struggles for liberal legality individual rights and freedoms and pluralism in the century long period since the demise of the Qajar dynasty and the subsequent transformation of the country into a modern nation state The deeply felt but largely invisible purchase of liberal political ideas in Iran challenges us to think more expansively about the trajectory of various intellectual developments since the emergence of a movement for reform and constitutionalism in the late nineteenth century It complicates parsimonious accounts of Shi'ism secularism socialism nationalism and royalism as defining or representative ideologies of particular eras Hidden Liberalism offers a critical examination of the reasons behind liberalism's invisible yet influential status and its attendant ethical quandaries in Iranian political and intellectual discourses
