Tourism Development and the Environment Richard Sharpley, 2009 First Published in 2009 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Tourism Development and the Environment: Beyond Sustainability? Richard Sharpley, 2009-09-02 Tourism Development and the Environment Beyond Sustainability challenges the sustainable tourism development paradigm that has come to dominate both theoretical and practical approaches to tourism development over the last two decades It extends the sustainable tourism debate beyond the arguably managerialist blueprint and destination focused approach that continues to characterise even the most recent sustainability agenda within tourism development Reviewing the evolution of the sustainable tourism development concept its contemporary manifestations in academic literature and policy developments and processes the author compares its limitations to prevailing political economic socio cultural and environmental contexts He then proposes alternative approaches to tourism development which nevertheless retain environmental sustainability as a prerequisite of tourism development This book also acts as an introduction to the Earthscan series Tourism Environment and Development About the series Tourism Environment and Development aims to explore within a variety of contexts the developmental role of tourism as it relates explicitly to its environmental consequences Each book will review critically and challenge traditional perspectives on sustainable tourism development exploring new approaches that reflect contemporary economic socio cultural and political contexts

Sustainable Development Chaouki Ghenai, 2012-02-24 The technological advancement of our civilization has created a consumer society expanding faster than the planet s resources allow with our resource and energy needs rising exponentially in the past century Securing the future of the human race will require an improved understanding of the environment as well as of technological solutions mindsets and behaviors in line with modes of development that the ecosphere of our planet can support Sustainable development offers an approach that would be practical to fuse with the managerial strategies and assessment tools for policy and decision makers at the regional planning level

Justice and Ethics in Tourism Tazim Jamal, 2019-01-25 This is the first book to look at justice and ethics in tourism in one volume bringing theoretical perspectives into conversation with tourism development and the environment The book explores some key ethical perspectives and approaches to justice including building capabilities distributive justice recognition representation and democracy Human rights integral in the context of tourism are discussed throughout Space is also given to structurally embedded injustices including those related to historical racism and colonialism responsibility toward justice justice within and beyond borders and justice in the context of sustainability governance policy and planning A variety of international case studies contributed by researchers and experts from around the globe illustrate these concepts and facilitate understanding and practical application Comprehensive and accessible this is essential reading for students and researchers in tourism studies and will be of interest to students of geography development studies business and hospitality management cultural studies anthropology sociology urban planning heritage conservation international relations and environmental studies The range of insights offered make this valuable reading for planners policymakers business managers and civil society organizations as well

Political Ecology of Tourism Mary Mostafanezhad,Roger Norum,Eric J. Shelton,Anna Thompson-Carr,2016-01-08 Why has political ecology been assigned so little attention in tourism studies despite its broad and critical interrogation of environment and politics As the first full length treatment of a political ecology of tourism the collection addresses this lacuna and calls for the further establishment of this emerging interdisciplinary subfield Drawing on recent trends in geography anthropology and environmental and tourism studies Political Ecology of Tourism Communities Power and the Environment employs a political ecology approach to the analysis of tourism through three interrelated themes Communities and Power Conservation and Control and Development and Conflict While geographically broad in scope with chapters that span Central and South America to Africa and South Southeast and East Asia to Europe and Greenland the collection illustrates how tourism related environmental challenges are shared across prodigious geographical distances while also attending to the nuanced ways they materialize in local contexts and therefore demand the historically situated place based and multi scalar approach of political ecology This collection advances our understanding of the role of political economic and environmental concerns in tourism practice It offers readers a political ecology framework from which to address tourism related issues and themes such as development identity politics environmental subjectivities environmental degradation land and resources conflict and indigenous ecologies Finally the collection is bookended by a pair of essays from two of the most distinguished scholars working in the subfield Rosaleen Duffy foreword and James Igoe afterword This collection will be valuable reading for scholars and practitioners alike who share a critical interest in the intersection of tourism politics and the environment
