Translation And Globalization Arabic Edition:

Translation and Globalization Michael Cronin, 2013-05-13 Translation and Globalization is essential reading for anyone with an interest in translation or a concern for the future of our world's languages and cultures. This is a critical exploration of the ways in which radical changes to the world economy have affected contemporary translation. The Internet, new technology, machine translation, and the emergence of a worldwide multi-million-dollar translation industry have dramatically altered the complex relationship between translators, language, and power. In this book, Michael Cronin looks at the changing geography of translation practice and offers new ways of understanding the role of the translator in globalized societies and economies. Drawing on examples and case studies from Europe, Africa, Asia, and the Americas, the author argues that translation is central to debates about language and cultural identity and shows why consideration of the role of translation and translators is a necessary part of safeguarding and promoting linguistic and cultural diversity. Translation, Globalization and Translocation

Concepción B. Godev, 2017-09-07 This book examines the spaces where translation and globalization intersect, whether they be classrooms, communities, or cultural texts. It foregrounds the connections between cultural analysis, literary critique, pedagogy, and practice, uniting the disparate fields that operate within translation studies. In doing so, it offers fresh perspectives that will encourage the reader to reappraise translation studies as a field reaffirming the directions that the subject has taken over the last twenty years. Offering a comprehensive analysis of the links between translation and globalization, this ambitious edited collection will appeal to students and scholars who work in any area of translation studies. The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Globalization Esperança Bielsa, Dionysios Kapsaskis, 2020-12-30

This is the first handbook to provide a comprehensive coverage of the main approaches that theorize translation and globalization, offering a wide-ranging selection of chapters dealing with substantive areas of research. The handbook investigates the many ways in which translation both enables globalization and is inevitably transformed by it. Taking a genuinely interdisciplinary approach, the authors are leading researchers drawn from the social sciences as well as from translation studies. The chapters cover major areas of current interdisciplinary interest, including climate change, migration, borders, democracy, and human rights, as well as key topics in the discipline of translation studies. This handbook also highlights the increasing significance of translation in the most pressing social, economic, and political issues of our time, while accounting for the new technologies and practices that are currently deployed to cope with growing translation demands. With five sections covering key concepts, people, culture, economics, and politics, and a substantial introduction and conclusion, this handbook is an indispensable resource for students and researchers of translation and globalization, within translation and interpreting studies, comparative literature, sociology, global studies, cultural studies, and related areas.

Stranger Fictions Rebecca C. Johnson, 2021-01-15 Zaynab first published in 1913 is widely cited as the first Arabic novel yet the previous eight decades saw hundreds of novels translated into Arabic from English and French This vast literary corpus influenced generations of Arab writers but has until now been considered a curious footnote in the genre's history Incorporating these works into the history of the Arabic novel Stranger Fictions offers a transformative new account of modern Arabic literature world literature and the novel Rebecca C Johnson rewrites the history of the global circulation of the novel by moving Arabic literature from the margins of comparative literature to its center Considering the wide range of nineteenth and early twentieth century translation practices including bad translation mistranslation and pseudotranslation Johnson argues that Arabic translators did far more than copy European works they authored new versions of them producing sophisticated theorizations of the genre These translations and the reading practices they precipitated form the conceptual and practical foundations of Arab literary modernity necessitating an overhaul of our notions of translation cultural exchange and the global Examining nearly a century of translations published in Beirut Cairo Malta Paris London and New York from Qat R binun Kur z The story of Robinson Crusoe in 1835 to pastiche crime stories in early twentieth century Egyptian magazines Johnson shows how translators theorized the Arab world not as Europe's periphery but as an alternative center in a globalized network Stranger Fictions affirms the central place of mis translation in both the history of the novel in Arabic and the novel as a transnational form itself

Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in Arabic Abeer Abdulaziz AL-Sarrani, 2016-03-25 This book explores the challenges of cross cultural translation of American literary works into Arabic which I argue have prevented many nineteenth century literary works from being translated into Arabic I have used the Arabic translations of Harriet Beecher Stowe's Uncle Tom's Cabin and an abridged English text accompanying one of the translations as a case study Since most of the Arabic translations of English and especially American literary works are merely linguistic oriented ones I reinforce the importance of adopting a period specific cultural oriented approach that maintains the cultural context of American literary works including the historical cultural religious geopolitical and gender based elements during the literary translation into the Arabic culture I start with discussing the internationalization of American works and the importance of a cultural reading of these works Reviewing many translations of English and American works in general I categorize the challenges of cross cultural literary translation from English into Arabic into the following cultural religious geopolitical and gender based ones While I am not calling for accurate cross cultural literary translations since it is impossible however I am advocating for faithful translations which maintain the literary text's cultural and historical contexts The accuracy of a literary translation depends on the amount of linguistic skill a translator has while the faithfulness of a literary translation is based upon the translator's sincere effort to include the literary text's entire cultural context including the historical cultural religious geopolitical and gender based elements Using Uncle Tom's Cabin as a case study I discuss how the previous challenges had negatively affected the translation process of the work Despite the fact the work has been translated seven times into Arabic due to the linguistic oriented approach the historical and cultural significance of Stowe's novel has not yet been introduced to Arab readers through translation Due to the current era of globalization that demands individuals to have multicultural knowledge and understanding and due to the recent cultural and translation projects of literary works from English into Arabic this book reinforces the importance and possibility of addressing the cultural religious geopolitical and gender based challenges while using Uncle Tom's Cabin as an example
