Women And Resistance In South Africa:

Women and Resistance in South Africa Cherryl Walker, 1982 Treatise on the political participation of women from 1910 to the 1960s and the development of a women's organization within the context of a black national liberation movement in South Africa. It discusses historical aspects and the growth of political opposition among women and formation of the Federation of South African Women. It examines the social role and economic role of black and White women in a period of increasing racial conflict. The ANC and the Liberation Struggle in South Africa Thula Simpson, 2018-10-03 The history of the ANC which is the oldest liberation movement on the African continent is one that has generated a great deal of interest amongst historians in recent years. Gone are the days when the history of African nationalism could be relegated to the margins of the study of the South African past. Instead, with the ANC having ascended to the helm of political power, a position it has maintained for over twenty years, there can be no question that its history occupies an important and permanent place in the history of the nation. This volume gathers together some of the most important contributions to the literature on the ANC's role in South Africa's struggle for liberation. Besides important themes such as gender, ethnicity and healthcare, contributions from leading historians also address why the ANC decided to engage in armed struggle, what role the South African Communist Party played in making this decision, how the ANC External Mission contributed to the upsurge of mass protest in South Africa in the 1970s and 1980s, and the ANC's contribution relative to the other components of the liberation struggle in ensuring the eventual demise of the old racial order. The chapters in this book were originally published in the South African Historical Journal, the Journal of Southern African Studies and African Studies. Women and Gender in Southern Africa to 1945

Cherryl Walker, 1990 Young Women Against Apartheid Emily Bridger, 2021 Provides a new perspective on the struggle against apartheid and contributes to key debates in South African history: gender inequality, sexual violence and the legacies of the liberation struggle. WINNER OF THE RHS GLADSTONE BOOK PRIZE 2022. WINNER OF THE SOCIETY FOR THE HISTORY OF CHILDREN AND YOUTH GRACE ABBOTT BOOK PRIZE 2021. SHORTLISTED FOR THE ASAUK FAGE. relate their personal experiences to collective histories of the struggle and insert themselves into a historical narrative from which they have been excluded. Through exploring these women's memories, this book serves as an important corrective to South Africa's male-centric literature on violence and provides a new gendered perspective on the wider histories of township politics, activism and conflict. Gender and Sexuality in South African Music Chris Walton, Stephanus Muller, 2005-05-01 During the past two decades, the study of sexuality and gender in music has become a decidedly mainstream activity. To be sure, music has long been obviously and intimately involved in matters pertaining to relations, both sexual and otherwise, between and amongst the sexes. Its use in courtship is the one that perhaps first comes to mind, this use being probably as old as music itself. This book contains all the papers presented at the conference by the same name. Women in South African

Everyday Communists in South Africa's Liberation Struggle Alan Kirkaldy, 2021-11-10 This book explores the role of social movements in the Southern African liberation struggle through the lens of two everyday communists Focusing on the Communist Party of South Africa CPSA the author explores the lives of Ivan and Lesley Schermbrucker whose contribution to the party was more clandestine than that of leaders such as Bram Fischer and Joe Slovo They represent how ordinary people could play significant roles based on stances more rooted in common decency and morality than in Marxist theory The book also sheds light on the interplay between transnational and national tendencies during the liberation movement particularly between the 1940s and the 1960s The Schermbruckers changed their views in response to the shifting national and international political landscape the rise of Stalinism and the flight of South African activists into exile from the 1960s Both fluent in African languages they were able to create relationships of trust with African members of the CPSA Examining tensions and conflicts during the liberation struggle this book provides fresh insights into underground activism The
