Transforming Leader Paradigms James E.

Luckman, Olga Flory, 2019-05-29 An easy read with clear examples and engaging stories this book is a treat for leaders who are interested in totally transforming the way they work Luckman and Flory help leaders and organizations shift from a solutions mindset to a problem solving culture that results in flow and growth where everyone in the organization can become a winner Anand V Tanikella Vice President R D Abrasives Worldwide Saint Gobain Luckman and Flory explain how to create a platform for change and a culture of meaningful continuous improvement through what they call Problem Solving for Complexity This approach is about engaging everybody in the organization to improve every aspect of how work gets done Read this book if you want to be a real change leader not just the person who goes around talking about the need for change Robert Kessiakoff Coach Consultant Partner LTGe Sweden This book describes how the leader through changing his or her own behaviors and practices can transform an organization that is slow to adapt into one that solves problems organically The book is an important read for leaders and managers at all levels Peter Ward Senior Associate Dean for Academics Richard M Ross Chair in Management Professor of Management Sciences Director Center for Operational Excellence Ohio State University Organizational transformation is difficult and despite expensive continuous improvement programs most change efforts fail This pattern James E Luckman and Olga Flory argue is due to the fact that most change efforts start with senior leaders assigning an external or internal consulting group to attempt to drive change from the top down Leaders today can no longer roll out solutions in the hopes of seeing better results What they can do is play an active role in helping to transform their organization from blanket solutions thinking to learning how to solve complex business problems in a rapidly changing world Drawing upon decades of leadership experience and years of research with executives across many different industries Luckman and Flory make a persuasive case that most companies have not been able to stay ahead in what is an increasingly turbulent business environment because they simply have not made the cultural changes required to do so In discussing how to facilitate this culture change the authors share a model for leadership designed to guide an organization to extraordinary new levels of performance by focusing on three key areas building a framework for problem solving encouraging respectful communication and accelerating the pace at which the organization learns The result is more energized team members who are dedicated to their daily work in an organization that is better positioned to achieve operational excellence Readers will also find powerful stories from executives who have effectively changed their approach to leadership all of which serve to inspire more leaders to take the leap and become problem solvers for complexity

The Transformed Leader Ernest L. Stech,2004 A single portrait of the enlightened leader and wise person has existed in the world s literature for over 2 000 years and for much longer in mythology The portrait is fleshed out with modern work in humanistic psychology and the psychology of archetypes The resulting picture is of an individual transformed as a result of life s journey who stands in two worlds the realm of the possible and the land of the practical The transformed leader perspective is universal timeless gender free and based on fundamental truths about human nature By undergoing a transformative process either deliberately or involuntarily a leader discovers a life mission and true vocation The transforming journey results in someone who is tough passionate humble sees the world clearly and perseveres all traits needed in the ordinary world However the transformed leader also has a vision of the possible of what could be together with faith that the possible can become tangible Having been set free of the boundaries of ordinary existence the transformed leader is spontaneous and creative Finally that person experiences transcendence a sense of uniqueness and being specially chosen Being chosen is at once energizing and a burden The Transformed Leader relies on the work of Joseph Campbell in mythology the writings of Lao Tze and other Taoist writers Carol Pearson s efforts to describe basic human archetypes and Abraham Maslow s studies in humanistic psychology A single picture of the transformed person and leader emerges from those sources Transformation is distinguished from training and development processes and a survey of transformative events and activities is provided A concluding chapter deals with the kinds of relationships a transformed leader might have with subordinates the ways in which such a leader would work over time and the contexts in which the transformed leader is most likely to flourish

Transforming Leadership, Improving the Patient Experience Alan T. Belasen, Ph.D., Barry Eisenberg, Ph.D., Jill Borgos, Ph.D., 2024-02-27 This book focuses on the patient experience as a leadership strategy It explores the relationships between coordinated care expert leadership provider patient communications and the patient experience When clinical and nonclinical staff collaborate effectively healthcare teams can improve patient outcomes prevent medical errors improve efficiency and increase patient satisfaction Surprisingly however healthcare leaders tend to prioritize specific metrics to improve hospital performance and patient satisfaction even though patient experience and provider patient communications are intertwined Determining the most effective strategy for achieving higher levels of service quality and patient satisfaction can prove elusive for providers Consider the evidence a survey in 2012 of more than 17 000 healthcare leaders in North America for example found that leaders perceptions did not always match the data and many hospital leaders overestimated the performance of their hospitals Over 75% of the hospital leaders reported quality of care was something their hospital did well while their patients on average rated them lower on perceived service quality Ten years later in 2022 only a few providers integrated best practices to achieve high patient satisfaction which severely impacted CMS Hospital Star Rating This has significant effects on profit margins since patients consider the star rating differentials in their choices of hospitals and are willing to pay upward of 17% extra for treatments in 5 star hospitals a revenue generating source of income at times when hospitals have seen falling revenues down 4 8% and rising labor up 37% from pre COVID 19 pandemic levels To reduce the gap between perception and reality hospital leaders can consider the link between communication goals e g responsiveness of hospital staff pain management communication about medicines and outcomes e g increased adherence and compliance readmission healthcare delivery costs hospital overall ratings as well as improve the patient experience When intentions and outcomes are aligned they create a powerful medium by which healthcare leaders can evaluate the gaps that exist between patient care measures and best practices and mitigate organizational or technological factors relevant to improving the patient experience When the alignment is optimal care teams develop a better sense of shared purpose become more committed and accountable and work together to improve the patient experience When accomplished patients participate more fully and actively in the exchange and are discharged with an enhanced commitment to carry out care management requirements Key topics in this practical guide include provider patient communications demonstrating the value of patient focused care how physician and nurse executives use synergy as a strategy engaging board members in promoting quality and safety goals and in developing hospital community partnerships building bridges between physicians administrators trustees and hospital staff and developing a leadership pipeline

Transforming Leadership for Service Business Yong Nie, 2017-07-18 Doctoral Thesis Dissertation from the year 2014 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance grade A Japan Advanced Institute of Science and Technology language English abstract Customers are increasingly becoming active participants and co creators of value in the mobile Internet era With this trend employees are encouraged to engage in active dialogue with customers effectively manage customer diversity and co create personalized experiences Such changes challenge the leadership The relevant literature reveals that the significance to leadership of shared vision has attracted attention and become widely acceptable However there is a large gap in the literature regarding how to model the building of shared vision in service business Our study represents a first attempt to shed light on how vision co creation between leaders and employees can affect the leadership in corporate transformation Based on comparisons of the leadership literature regarding product oriented and service oriented companies we hypothesised about vision co creation with employees Then we conducted an in depth case study in a leading software company in China and interviews in four multinational IT companies in Japan This study suggests that vision co creation with employees is imperative for leaders in today s service dominant business In the co creation process six relevant working states of employees are defined non engagement expectation satisfaction engagement loyalty and creativity As a firm creates a new vision or makes the existing corporate vision into a shared vision it goes through these phases We propose specific implications of the issues and focus on each phase to address the concerns This research makes a contribution by addressing concerns that many companies are over managed and under led Traditional management systems such as management rules PDCA performance appraisals and incentive systems are still indispensable but are not enough to lead employees to work in the high tier state The co creation process makes the new vision come alive so that it can be imagined experienced pursued and worked hard for In the final chapter we provide suggestions for future research The position centred one person leadership described in the previous literature leaves the substantial talents of employees largely untapped
