Transforming Preschool Storytime Betsy Diamant-Cohen, Melanie A. Hetrick, 2013-06-18 According to recent research the best way to make new connections in a child's brain is by building on something already known. A child who loves a book will listen to it repeatedly maintaining interest. Using a selected book in a number of consecutive preschool storytimes but presenting it differently each time can help children learn new skill sets. This book presents a new approach to storytime one that employs repetition with variety to create an experience which helps children connect and engage with the story on a higher level. Diamant-Cohen recently awarded the 2013 ASCLA Leadership and Professional Achievement Award and Hetrick offer a year's worth of activities specifically designed to address multiple intelligences through a repetition-based process. Incorporating recent theories on developmental learning this book includes Scripts for 8 different books with enough activities to repeat each one for six weeks along with lists of optional alternative books. Planning aids such as outlines of storytime sessions a fill in the blanks planning sheet questions for evaluation and tips for enhanced storytimes using props and crafts. Detailed but straightforward explanations of theory and research that will help readers communicate effectively with parents caregivers and other stakeholders. From setup to execution here's everything you need to create and implement a successful elevated storytime. Every Child Read for School Dorothy Stoltz, Elaine M. Czarnecki, Connie

Wilson, 2013-06-21 The topic of early literacy continues to gain momentum in educational circles. But early literacy storytimes are only one way libraries can contribute. The authors of this innovative training handbook offer many more. Reflecting the combined expertise of a reading specialist an outreach librarian and an early literacy trainer Every Child Ready for School keeps libraries at the forefront of early literacy and school readiness information delivery. Focusing on training the caregiver this handbook Explains how to help day care providers homeschoolers and others who care for young children foster school readiness skills among their charges. Arms librarians with a step by step workshop model with tips on implementing and evaluating the program. Provides guidance for coordinating workshops with other library early literacy initiatives. Includes resources and activities to share with participants. Presenting models which can be easily adapted to state mandated school readiness requirements. Every Child Ready for School helps libraries fashion their own innovative community early literacy outreach programs. Children's Services Today Jeanette Larson, 2015-03-01 Here one of America's foremost experts in
