Translating Law Deborah Cao, 2007-01-01 This is an examination of legal translation in its many facets from an interdisciplinary perspective covering both theoretical and practical grounds and linguistic as well as legal issues The text analyses the basic skills and competence of the legal translator and various types of legal texts Translating Law

Deborah Cao, 2007-04-12 The translation of law has played an integral part in the interaction among nations in history and is playing a greater role in our increasingly interconnected world today The book investigates legal translation in its many facets as an intellectual pursuit and a profession It examines legal translation from an interdisciplinary perspective covering theoretical and practical grounds and linguistic as well as legal issues It analyses legal translation competence and various types of legal texts including contracts statutes and multilateral legal instruments presents a comparative analysis of the Common Law and the Civil Law and examines the case law from Canada Hong Kong and the European Court of Justice It attempts to demonstrate that translating law is a complex act that can enrich law culture and human experience as a whole

Legal Translation Ingrid Simonnaes, Marita Kristiansen, 2019-03-07 In this anthology renowned scholars working in the area of legal translation studies LTS focus on current issues and challenges in legal translation emerging from today's globalisation and internationalisation Considering both theoretical and practical points of view the contributions present interdisciplinary approaches to legal translation dealing with legal systems in national EU and international settings and include civil law and common law as well as supranational and private international law In addition to the historical evolution of legal systems and of legal translation the papers discuss specific features of legal language and challenges in legal translation as well as new didactic strategies to deal with the future profiles of legal translators Translation and the Law

Marshall Morris, 1995-12-21 This long needed reference on the innumerable and increasing ways that the law intersects with translation and interpreting features essays by scholars and professions from the United States Australia Hong Kong Iceland Israel Japan and Sweden The essays range from sophisticated treatments of historical and hence philosophical variations in concept and practice to detailed practical advice on self education Essays show a particular concern for the challenges of courtroom discourse when the parties not only use different languages but operate from different cultural and legal traditions

Towards the Professionalization of Legal Translators and Court Interpreters in the EU Martina Bajčić, Katja Dobrić Basanež, 2016-12-14 The profession of legal translators and interpreters has been unjustly neglected despite its relevant role in international and multilingual legal settings In order to bridge this gap this volume brings together contributions from some of the leading experts in the field including not only scholars but also internationally acclaimed professional legal translators and interpreters Coming from different EU Member States the contributors address the status quo of the profession of legal translators and interpreters within their respective states while proposing ways to raise the standards of the profession In particular effort is made to make the profession more uniform Union wide in terms of training and accreditation of legal translators and interpreters and quality of their services Topics covered include ISO standards for interpreting services in judicial settings EULITA Directive 2010 64 EU on the right to translation and interpretation in criminal proceedings legal translation translation of multilingual EU legislation document translation whispered interpreting and the need to introduce uniform programmes for the education and training of legal translators and interpreters Offering a mix of theory and practice the book will appeal to scholars practitioners and students with a special interest in legal translation and interpretation in the EU Translating the Social World for Law Elizabeth Mertz, William K. Ford, Gregory Matoesian, 2016-06-22 In coordinated papers that are grounded in empirical research the volume contributors use careful linguistic analysis to understand how attempts to translate between different disciplines can misfire in systematic ways This problem takes on real life significance when one of the fields is law where how knowledge is conveyed can affect how justice is meted out Translating Words, Transferring Wisdom, Traversing Worlds Mimi Yang, 2025-09-17 What happens when Translation Studies merges with Cultural Studies The merger unveils an encyclopedic world hidden behind the cross linguistic surface catapulting us into the realms of multilingual studies cognitive sciences social sciences history geopolitics the humanities and now the exponentially growing field of AI technologies This book brings together scholars from a multitude of disciplines to attest to the merger on a 21st century intercultural and interdisciplinary platform where inter cultural agility interpretative adaptability and resonant creativity emerge as a galvanizing force in Translation Studies In doing so cutting edge theories and concepts in the field such as trans creation and eco translation among others are highlighted More significantly the chapter authors examine linguistic hierarchies embedded in geopolitical power structures and dive into the cultural and historical depth to capture the essence of the paradoxes between translatability and untranslatability among traditions cognitive frameworks mental precepts and linguistic constructs Thus disciplinary boundaries fade into the background and a symbiotic linguistic cultural undertaking in Translation Studies is crystallized The book treats translation as both a linguistic and cultural endeavor with multimodal and multi layered interactions across all human realms Crossroads between Contrastive Linguistics, Translation Studies and Machine Translation Oliver Czulo, Silvia Hansen-Schirra, 2017 Contrastive Linguistics CL Translation Studies TS and Machine Translation MT have common grounds They all work at the crossroad where two or more languages meet Despite their inherent relatedness methodological exchange between the three disciplines is rare This special issue touches upon areas where the three fields converge It results directly from a workshop at the 2011 German Association for Language Technology and Computational Linguistics GSCL conference in Hamburg where researchers from the three fields presented and discussed their interdisciplinary work While the studies contained in this volume draw from a wide variety of objectives and methods and various areas of overlaps between CL TS and MT are addressed the volume is by no means exhaustive with regard to this topic Further cross fertilisation is not only desirable but almost mandatory in order to tackle future tasks and endeavours

Translating Evidence and Interpreting Testimony at a War Crimes Tribunal Ellen Elias-Bursac, 2015-02-17 How can defendants be tried if they cannot understand the charges being raised against them? Can a witness testify if the judges and attorneys cannot understand what the witness is saying? Can a judge decide whether to convict or acquit if she or he cannot read the documentary evidence? The very viability of international criminal prosecution and adjudication hinges on the massive amounts of translation and interpreting that are required in order to run these lengthy, complex trials and the procedures for handling the demands facing language services. This book explores the dynamic courtroom interactions in the International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia in which witnesses testify through an interpreter, attorneys argue through an interpreter about translations, and the interpreting and judges adjudicate on the interpreted testimony and translated evidence.

Legalism Paul Dresch, Judith Scheele, 2015 Mainstream historians in recent decades have often treated formal categories and rules as something to be used by individuals as one might use a stick or stone and the gains of an earlier legal history are often needlessly set aside Anthropologists meanwhile have treated rules as analytic errors and categories as an imposition by outside powers or by analysts leaving a very thin notion of practice as the stuff of social life Philosophy of an older vintage as well as the work of scholars such as Charles Taylor provides fresh approaches when applied imaginatively to cases beyond the traditional ground of modern Europe and North America Not only are different kinds of rules and categories open to examination but the very notion of a rule can be explored more deeply This volume approaches rules and categories as constitutive of action and hence of social life but also as providing means of criticism and imagination A general theoretical framework is derived from analytical philosophy from Wittgenstein to his critics and beyond and from recent legal thinkers such as Schauer and Waldron Case studies are presented from a broad range of periods and regions from Amazonia via northern Chad Tibet and medieval Russia to the scholarly worlds of Roman law Islam and Classical India As the third volume in the Legalism series this collection draws on common themes that run throughout the first two volumes Legalism Anthropology and History and Legalism Community and Justice consolidating them in a framework that suggests a new approach to rule bound systems

Translation, Globalisation and Localisation Wang Ning, Sun Yifeng, 2008-03-28

The global local distinction has changed significantly and the topic has been heatedly debated in literary and cultural as well as translation scholarship In this age of globalisation the traditional definition of translation has been altered In the present anthology translation is viewed as a cultural and political practice and accordingly translation studies is based on a heightened awareness of global local tensions in translation and of its moderating and transforming impact on local cultural paradigms All the essays in this anthology deal with issues of translation from a cultural and theoretic perspective with regard to tensions and conflicts between global and local interests and values No matter how different their approaches may seem the essays are thematically integrated to discuss translation in a dialectical framework either globalising Chinese issues internationally or localising general and international issues domestically
