Self-Care, Translation Professionalization, and the Translator's Ethical Agency Abderrahman Boukhaffa, 2024-10-10 This book draws on an interdisciplinary approach to investigate the impact of codes of ethics as prescribed in translator organizations proposing alternative ethical pathways grounded in self care ethics to enhance translators symbolic recognition and ethical agency The volume seeks to provide a counterpoint to existing views in translation studies research on ethics by building on work in sociology and philosophical genealogy particularly Foucault's notion of Epimeleia Heautou to establish a framework of self care ethics Featuring analyses of various codes of ethics across different professional associations the book offers a critical examination of the potential impact of codified ethics on translator autonomy and symbolic status and in turn their broader social and planetary responsibilities within their roles as translators beyond the translation community In setting out an alternative charter of ethics which promotes a culture of the self within larger institutions and critical pedagogy within translator education programs the volume charts new directions in emergent debates on ethics in translation practice This book will appeal to scholars in translation and interpreting studies particularly those interested in ethics and sociological and philosophical approaches within the discipline Language and Language Behavior Abstracts, 1982 How Does it Feel? Point of View in Translation Charlotte Bosseaux, 2007-01-01 Narratology is concerned with the study of narratives but surprisingly it does not usually distinguish between original and translated texts This lack of distinction is regrettable In recent years the visibility of translations and translators has become a widely discussed topic in Translation Studies yet the issue of translating a novel's point of view has remained relatively unexplored It seems crucial to ask how far a translator's choices affect the novel's point of view and whether characters or narrators come across similarly in originals and translations This book addresses exactly these questions It proposes a method by which it becomes possible to investigate how the point of view of a work of fiction is created in an original and adapted in translation It shows that there are potential problems involved in the translation of linguistic features that constitute point of view deixis modality transitivity and free indirect discourse and that this has an impact on the way works are translated Traditionally comparative analysis of originals and their translations have relied on manual examinations this book demonstrates that corpus based tools can greatly facilitate and sharpen the process of comparison The method is demonstrated using Virginia Woolf's To The Lighthouse 1927 and The Waves 1931 and their French translations

Palestine Nur Masalha, 2018-08-15 This rich and magisterial work traces Palestine's millennia old heritage uncovering cultures and societies of astounding depth and complexity that stretch back to the very beginnings of recorded history Starting with the earliest references in Egyptian and Assyrian texts Nur Masalha explores how Palestine and its Palestinian identity have evolved over thousands of years from the Bronze Age to the present day Drawing on a rich body of sources and the latest archaeological evidence Masalha shows how Palestine's multicultural past has been distorted and mythologised by Biblical lore and the Israel Palestinian conflict In the process Masalha reveals that the concept of Palestine contrary to accepted belief is not a modern invention or one constructed in opposition to Israel but rooted firmly in ancient past Palestine represents the authoritative account of the country's history Routledge Encyclopedia of Translation Studies Mona Baker, Gabriela Saldanha, 2009-03-04 Praise for the previous edition of the Encyclopedia of Translation Studies Translation has long deserved this sort of treatment Appropriate for any college or university library supporting a program in linguistics this is vital in those institutions that train students to become translators Rettig on Reference Congratulations should be given to Mona Baker for undertaking such a mammoth task and successfully pulling it off It will certainly be an essential reference book and starting point for anyone interested in translation studies ITI Bulletin This excellent volume is to be commended for bringing together some of its most recent research It provides a series of extremely useful short histories quite unlike anything that can be found elsewhere University teachers will find it invaluable for preparing seminars and it

Translation Competence and Language Contrast - A Multi-Method Study Iryna Kloster, 2021-10-07 Experience in translation does not always correlate with the quality of the target text Also the evaluations of translation work vary considerably among evaluators Why not shifting the focus of attention from the final translation to the underlying translation process when assessing translation competence Iryna Kloster applies a multi method approach to model the translation competence based on empirical parameters such as gaze behavior dictionary use revisions as well as subjective evaluations of comprehension and translation difficulty Eye tracking keystroke logging screen recording and retrospective interviews were applied to collect data in the experimental groups consisting of novice and semi professional translators As a consequence the author suggests using language contrasts for researching translation competence She draws conclusions based on hypotheses testing provides justification by triangulating quantitative and qualitative data and discusses the results in the light of empirical translation studies as well

Translation in Early Modern Diplomacy Vladislav Rjéoutski, Guido Braun, Indravati Félicité, Sophie Holm, 2025-11-07 This book highlights the crucial contributions of translators in shaping early modern diplomacy offering a unique lens through which to understand the growing complexity of international relations and communication in this era The early modern period was a transformative time for European diplomacy marked by the rise of resident diplomacy the advent of peace congresses and significant shifts in linguistic practices As Latin German and Italian waned as major diplomatic languages French emerged as the dominant pan European medium of diplomatic communication These changes had profound implications for translation in diplomacy shaping its role function and institutionalisation New translation departments were established and the need for trained translators became critical leading to the foundation of schools and the development of specialised practices By adopting a transnational perspective the book offers a fresh insightful exploration of the evolution of translation and its impact on the expanding network of diplomatic contacts and correspondence Bringing a panoramic and multidisciplinary approach to the history of translation this book is intended for scholars and students of the early modern period translation studies the history of diplomacy the history of languages and historical sociolinguistics and European cultural history more generally
