Collecting East and West Andrea M. Gáldy, Adriana Turpin, 2013-09-11 If collecting the rare and valuable is an entirely normal trait of human behaviour amassing objects from far away places has also long played a role in the history of collecting East and West or North and South for that matter are of course entirely relative to one's particular geographical position Therefore it is interesting that collecting exotic objects is an endeavour that unites humanity over millennia and round the globe The ancient Assyrians did so as assiduously as eighteenth century collectors in Paris or London Chinese emperors collected Western art and artefacts at a time when Western collectors started to gather ceramics lacquered furniture or South East Asian prints Key factors were of course increasingly frequent contact and an ever growing knowledge about the other and about the other's artistic production Of particular interest to the mission of this working group is the fact that the building of collections was only part of the endeavour but that in many cases the objects imported at huge cost and logistic effort were meant to be displayed in surroundings reminiscent of their original habitat even though their exact original context may have been open to debate and their final exhibition surroundings may have been unrecognisable to anyone from their former home Western collectors built Chinese cabinets for their exotic treasures often complemented by depictions of Oriental tea parties Less familiar is perhaps the fact that from the seventeenth century onwards Chinese emperors displayed their European collectibles in palaces built for them for this purpose in Western architectural style The essays in the present volume therefore attempt to connect the collections of exotic objects with the forms of display adopted by collectors and institutions and thus chart the levels of increasingly informed and intimate encounters between East and West scholars and collectors art lovers and institutions from the early first millennium BC to the early twentieth century and from South East Asia to North Western Europe

Vision, Race, and Modernity Deborah Poole, 2021-08-10 Through an intensive examination of photographs and engravings from European Peruvian and U S archives Deborah Poole explores the role visual images and technologies have played in shaping modern understandings of race Vision Race and Modernity traces the subtle shifts that occurred in European and South American depictions of Andean Indians from the late eighteenth to the early twentieth centuries and explains how these shifts led to the modern concept of racial difference While Andean peoples were always thought of as different by their European describers it was not until the early nineteenth century that European artists and scientists became interested in developing a unique visual and typological language for describing their physical features Poole suggests that this scientific or biological discourse of race cannot be understood outside a modern visual economy Although the book specifically documents the depictions of Andean peoples Poole's findings apply to the entire colonized world of the nineteenth century Poole presents a wide range of images from operas scientific expeditions nationalist projects and picturesque artists that both effectively elucidate her argument and contribute to an impressive history of photography Vision Race and Modernity is a fascinating attempt to study the changing terrain of racial theory as part of a broader reorganization of vision in European society and culture The Traveler's Web Randolph Hock, 2007

J. Campbell, Herbert K. Beals, Ann Savours, Anita McConnell, Roy Bridges, 2017-05-15 This volume offers annotated texts with biographical and historical introductions of four previously unpublished travel journals from the period 1775-1874 The first of these is the journal of a participant in a Spanish expedition sent from Mexico to explore the north west coast of America From the outset difficulties plagued the voyage Bodega's ship a small schooner named Sonora was not designed for open ocean voyaging A landing party was attacked and killed midway into the voyage the Sonora became separated from her flagship and later she was nearly capsized by a massive wave Bodega's journal records the voyage's travails hardships discoveries and eventual return Next comes the journal of Commander Stokes who served in command of HMS Beagle under Captain P P King during the survey of the Straits of Magellan in 1827 This is an account of a detached operation in very difficult weather conditions in the western part of the strait It is introduced by remarks on the expedition and the hydrographic history of the strait from its discovery to the inception of the survey and supplemented by remarks from Captain King's account and also that of the clerk Macdouall The third text is the journal of a young midshipman in HMS Chanticleer a small vessel commanded by Henry Foster RN who had recently been elected a Fellow of the Royal Society for his scientific work in the Arctic The voyage of 1828-31 was to make observations in the South Atlantic to determine the shape of the Earth and to ascertain the longitudes of a number of ports Kay's lively diary describes the Chanticleer's encounters with warships of the Brazilian navy largely manned by Englishmen He records his struggle to take observations at Deception Island during gales and snowstorms and near Cape Horn in fierce squalls and constant chilling rain nevertheless remaining cheerful in the company of his fellow midshipmen The final piece is the diary of Jacob Wainwright
