Touring Seeing Knowing Travel often evokes strong reactions and engagements But what of the ethics and politics of this experience Through critical personal reflections the essays in Detours grapple with the legacies of cultural imperialism that shape travel research and writing Influenced by the works of anthropologists Ruth Behar and Renato Rosaldo the scholars and journalists in this volume consider how first encounters those initial awkward attempts to learn about a culture and a people evolved into enduring and critical engagements Contemplating the ethics and racial politics of traveling and doing research abroad they call attention to the power and privilege that permit researchers to enter people's lives ask intimate questions and publish those disclosures Focusing on Latin America and the Caribbean they ask Why this place What keeps us coming back And what role do we play in producing narratives of inequality uneven development and global spectacle The book examines the politics of return the experiences made possible by revisiting a field site over extended periods of time of scholars and journalists who have spent decades working in and writing about Latin America and the Caribbean Contributors aren't telling a story of enlightenment and goodwill they focus instead on the slippages and conundrums that marked them and raised questions of their own intentions and intellectual commitments Speaking from the intersection of race class and gender the contributors explore the hubris and nostalgia that motivate returning again and again to a particular place Through personal stories they examine their changing ideas of Latin America and the Caribbean and how those places have shaped the people they've become as writers as teachers and as activists Democracy and Time in Cuban Thought María de los Ángeles Torres, 2024-01-30 In this analysis of political discourse in Cuban culture María de los Angeles Torres focuses on how the concept of time has been employed by different political projects arguing that an emphasis on human actions in the present is important for a democratic political culture Dreams of Archives Unfolded Jocelyn Fenton Stitt, 2021-06-18 Introduction Archival dreams and Caribbean life writing Autobiography in a graveyard doors of no return and revolutionary failures Speculative autobiography ghosts and feminist fugitivity Repicturing the picturesque genealogical desire archives and descendant community autobiography Ashes to ashes dust to dust Indo Caribbean archival impossibility Put my mom in there Memorialization as Caribbean counter archive Coda Untelling history Four Books, One Latino Life Ignacio F. Rodeño Iturriaga, 2021-02-19 Acclaimed by many as one of the most gifted essayists and stylists in American letters these last few decades Richard Rodriguez has left an indelible imprint on the tradition of autobiographical writing of the nation Rodeo's study of the four installments of Rodriguez's self-writing offers an insightful and perspicacious analysis of the evolution and the most controversial elements in this Chicano writer's production so far Delving deeply into issues of racial and ethnic identity sexual orientation religious background various types of hybridity and different forms of socio-cultural adaptation this book presents all kinds of incisive observations about the contested spaces that minority self-writers are often pushed to occupy in the American tradition of the genre The Seventh Heaven Ilan Stavans,2019-10-01

Internationally renowned essayist and cultural commentator Ilan Stavans spent five years traveling from across a dozen countries in Latin America in search of what defines the Jewish communities in the region whose roots date back to Christopher Columbus's arrival. In the tradition of V. S. Naipaul's explorations of India, the Caribbean, and the Arab World, he came back with an extraordinarily vivid travelogue. Stavans talks to families of the desaparecidos in Buenos Aires, to Indian Jews, and to people affiliated with neo-Nazi groups in Patagonia. He also visits Spain to understand the long-term effects of the Inquisition, the American Southwest habitat of secret Jews, and Israel, where immigrants from Latin America have reshaped the Jewish state. Along the way, he looks for the proverbial seventh heaven, which, according to the Talmud, is out of proximity with the divine. The meaning of life in general and Jewish life in particular becomes clearer. The Seventh Heaven is a masterful work in Stavans's ongoing quest to find a convergence between the personal and the historical. Ethnographies in Pan Pacific Research

Robert E. Rinehart,elke emerald,Rangi Matamua,2015-06-26 The book is about exciting ethnographic happenings in the vibrant and growing global interface which includes Australia, New Zealand, and some of the Asian geographical regions, as well as more broadly the global South. It explores ethnographic writing as culture's re-produced positionalities of authors, tensions between authors and others, multi-faceted groups, and as co-productions of these works. The contributors describe and discuss a variety of topical areas of interest, from Facebook to memory work, from children's sexuality to urban racism, from meanings of Indigenous knowledge to how communities can come together to retain what is valuable to themselves. The authors also manage to locate themselves and others' positionings in the research hierarchies, tensions. This is a valuable guide to the effects of 21st-century ethnography on the qualitative research project. Stavans Unbound Bridget Kevane,2019-08-27 Twenty-five years ago, Ilan Stavans published his first book, Imagining Columbus: The Literary Voyage (1993). Since then, Stavans has become a polarizing figure, dismissed and praised in equal measure, a commanding if contested intellectual whose work as a cultural critic has been influential in the fields of Latino and Jewish studies, politics, immigration, religion, language, and identity. He can be credited for bringing attention to Jewish Latin America and issues like Spanglish; he has been instrumental in shaping a certain view of Latino Studies in universities across the United States, as well as abroad. He has anthologized much of Latino and Latin American Jewish literature, and he has engaged in contemporary pop culture via the graphic novel. He was the host of a PBS show called Conversations with Ilan Stavans and has had his fiction adapted into the stage and the big screen. The man, as one critic stated, clearly has energy to burn, and it does not appear to be abating. This collection celebrates twenty-five years of Stavans's work with essays that describe the good and the bad, the inspired and the pedestrian, the worthwhile and the questionable.
