Women and Criminal Justice Jo Brayford, John Deering, 2015 This title focuses on developments since the publication of the 2007 Corston Report into women and criminal justice The challenges of working with women in the current climate also explored translating lessons from good practice to policy development and recommending future directions arising from the Transforming Rehabilitation plans The Complete Book of Colleges 2021 The Princeton Review, 2020-07 The mega guide to 1 349 colleges and universities by the staff of the Princeton Review including detailed information on admissions financial aid cost and more Cover The Complete Book of Colleges, 2020 Edition Princeton Review, 2019-07-02 No one knows colleges better than The Princeton Review Inside The Complete Book of Colleges 2020 Edition students will find meticulously researched information that will help them narrow their college search American Book Publishing Record ,2006

Women's Transitions from Prison Rosemary Sheehan, Chris Trotter, 2017-08-25 Women continue to be one of the fastest growing groups of offenders with an increasing group of women involved in the criminal justice system around the world Whilst internationally women comprise a low percentage of the total prison population there is an escalating use of custody inextricably linked to the high levels of personal and social needs of women involved in the justice system This book presents original research undertaken with Corrections Victoria Australia which examines the effectiveness of services and programmes women access in prison and after release and the impact of this on successful reintegration into the community and on other trends such as reoffending Victoria s Department of Justice introduced the Better Pathways strategy in response to a growing number of women entering the Victorian corrections system and the concerning extent to which prison is used for women with inadequate accommodation and complex treatment and support needs The strategy was developed to address the causes of women s offending and to try and help break the cycle of women s reoffending by funding more holistic initiatives to support women in their transition to life after prison It is well acknowledged that pathways into offending by women can also be the factors that most affect their reintegration The research outlined in this book presents data about individual women s pathways through the programmes offered as part of the Better Pathways strategy and the views of the women themselves about the effectiveness of these programmes Negligible research attention has been paid to what services and programmes are effective for women after prison This book addresses this gap and provides a cohesive presentation of the key issues salient to the needs of women offenders BHARTIYA NYAYA SANHITA -II (PAPER-V) ,2025-04-01 TP LAW SOLVED SERIES For LL B Bachelor of Laws 3 Years Second Semester Students of University of Lucknow

Transforming Justice, Transforming Lives April Bernard, 2015-10-30 What is a just response to persons seeking to desist from criminal behavior In America over the last several decades mass incarceration has emerged as the prevailing policy response to crime and reoffending The majority of those who are imprisoned will be released and those that are released tend to return to communities challenged by high rates of violence crime unemployment and poverty In these conditions without some type of intervention persons with criminal histories are likely to reoffend April Bernard through compelling interviews and field research with formerly gang affiliated women illuminates how through community support and their active engagement in peacemaking work in distressed neighborhoods throughout Chicago they were able to desist from crime rebuild their lives and become meaningful contributors to their communities This book explores the role of community in facilitating the commitment to desist from crime by offering critical support and opportunities for stewardship Bernard provides a timely analysis of the transformative potential of a new perspective on criminal justice which incorporates stewardship and community engagement as a fundamental principal in the response to persons seeking to desist from criminal behavior particularly women The book combines moving personal narratives with concrete practical evidence to call for an alternative to ideology that supports the existing punitive policies and practices of the criminal justice system and the corresponding lack of interventions and opportunities for persons seeking to desist from crime This deeply informed and perceptive analysis concludes with suggestions for alternatives that fit within a transformative justice paradigm

Women and Girls in the Criminal Justice System Russell Immariageon,2006 For many years sentenced women were ignored or neglected locked up in male surroundings or lost among caseloads of men Today however there are systemic approaches and interventions designed especially to meet the needs of this population Women and Girls in the Criminal Justice System provides essential practice guidance for professionals who deal with the problems of female offenders criminal justice policymakers correctional administrators probation and parole officials ATI program administrators vocational program agency heads social workers mental health clinician judges This authoritative guide from the editor of Women Girls Criminal Justice distills the best thinking of leading practitioners and researchers all in a convenient single resource that puts a wealth of information within easy reach Publisher description

Female Offenders Ruth T. Zaplin,2008 The number of female offenders in the United States is skyrocketing Our tough on crime approach puts a female offender behind bars but doesn't consider the factors leading to her incarceration Female Offenders Critical Perspectives and Effective Interventions Second Edition proposes an alternative one that truly addresses the needs of female offenders and the root issues connected to their maladaptive behaviors trauma histories and mental health problems By focusing on these root issues this text prepares future correctional managers and supervisors to rehabilitate and empower female offenders to reenter society in a meaningful and productive way The Second Edition includes chapters written by experts in the field that discuss the diversity of issues facing female offenders in our culture from a variety of perspectives Grounded in the relevant research and literature this book blends theory with practice by presenting theories on the rehabilitation of female offenders alongside program models and effective strategies for reentry into society

How Offenders Transform Their Lives Johnna Christian,Bonita M. Veysey,Damian J. Martinez,2009 At a time when the scale of imprisonment in the United States has reached a historic high researchers estimate that more than 600 000 individuals a year are released from prison to return to their home communities These individuals have serious needs such as finding employment and housing reuniting with family members and obtaining healthcare and treatment for alcohol and substance abuse problems Similar patterns are emerging in the UK Europe and elsewhere in the world where rates of imprisonment continue to rise While research in this area has stressed these aspects of the transition from prison a less explored area of research considers the role of internal identity shifts from that of an offender to one of citizen and how this creates the conditions for desistance from criminal behaviour both within the confines of a correctional facility and in the reentry process This book presents a series of studies mostly qualitative that investigate individual identity transformation from offender status to pro social non offending roles Moreover the work in this volume highlights the perspectives of the men and women who are current or formerly incarcerated people Each piece provides an empirical analysis of the interaction between current or former prisoners and innovative pro social programs and networks which are grounded in the most current theoretical work about individual transformation and change This book will be of interest to undergraduates postgraduates researchers and lecturers in all fields within the social sciences but especially criminology and criminal justice and sociology and social work welfare as well as practitioners in social work and criminal justice sectors Female Prisoners, AIDS, and Peer Programs Kimberly Collica,2012-09-25 This book highlights a neglected area in the field of rehabilitation of female offenders with AIDS It provides data to show how women working as HIV peer educators in prison utilize their peer experiences as a transition point for rehabilitation both inside and outside of the penitentiary HIV and prison are inextricably linked and education has proved to be the one constant that mitigates the spread of both HIV and crime Research on female inmates in general is not frequent and this book presents unique qualitative data that includes rich accounts from the women themselves It illustrates the benefits derived by female inmates who work in an HIV prison based peer program while adding to the criminology literature on female patterns of criminality and rehabilitation It provides a greater understanding of how prison programs affect the processes of criminal desistance and behavioral changes for female inmates Women involved in such programming are able to change the criminal trajectory of their life direction contributing to reduced levels of recidivism and institutional disciplinary infractions The implications for these programs is relevant within the broader perspective of women HIV and incarceration Women Prisoners and Health Justice Dianne Hatton,Anastasia Fisher,2018-04-19 Incarceration severely affects the health and wellbeing of women both during their incarceration and following release further complicating the health disparities they already experience as a consequence of gender race and social class The scope of this international problem remains largely hidden from health professionals and policy makers This book brings the issues into the light with contributions from leading advocates criminologists feminists nurses physicians public health professionals social workers sociologists and former prisoners The Wiley Handbook on What Works with Girls and Women in Conflict with the Law Shelley L. Brown,Loraine Gelsthorpe,2022-03-07 The Wiley Handbook on What Works with Girls and Women in Conflict with the Law The most practical discussion of the rehabilitation of girls and women in conflict with the law in the correctional arena What Works with Girls and Women in Conflict with the Law is the leading examination of evidence based practice in the field of gender responsive corrections Adopting an international and intersectional approach the distinguished authors seek to collect the best available data and thinking on what works with girls and women and apply it to the real world problems facing correctional systems today As part of its contextual and rich approach to the subject What Works with girls and women in conflict with the law covers a broad variety of topics ranging from theories of female involvement in crime security classification and risk assessment evidence based treatment and supervision approaches special populations such as Indigenous women to legal policy developments in the field of gender responsive corrections Perfect for students and practitioners in the field of psychology criminology social work criminal justice and corrections this is the only reference of its kind to focus on the practical applications of the latest theory Drugs, Women, and Justice James Schwarz, Patricia O'Brien, Arthur J. Lurigio, 2012-11-12 A unique interdisciplinary exploration of a pressing social issue The numbers of women offenders involved in the correctional system are quickly growing Drugs Women and Justice Roles of the Criminal Justice System for Drug Affected Women gathers a distinguished group of researchers and policy analysts into one volume to explore the broad social and individual implications of current policy and practice pertaining to women in the criminal justice system This valuable resource provides readers with a superb overview of the current state of knowledge and provides recommendations for new directions Each top notch chapter was originally presented at the 2005 Drugs Women and Justice Symposium held on the University of Illinois at Chicago campus and sponsored by the Jane Addams College of Social Work Substance Abuse Research Collaboration through a grant from the National Institute on Drug Abuse Traditionally criminal justice studies and rehabilitation programs have focused on male offenders Recent studies reinforce the current evidence that females should have their needs addressed differently This unique book presents the latest research and thinking in complex and still emerging areas of policy and treatment for women in the criminal justice system Topics in Drugs Women and Justice Roles of the Criminal Justice System for Drug Affected Women include characteristics of drug involved women in the criminal justice system the negative impact on families of punitive drug laws and child welfare legislation assessing and managing the service needs of children whose mothers have been arrested influences of feelings of isolation on the course of rehabilitation demographic differences between women in drug treatment and drug involved women in the criminal justice system service needs of women released from prison a program developed for women who have survived traumatic violence working in the street economy and the criminal justice system the direct and indirect impact of mass incarceration on women and more Drugs Women and Justice Roles of the Criminal Justice System for Drug Affected Women is essential reading for researchers criminologists sociologists social workers psychologists clinicians feminists and policymakers in the areas of social welfare criminal justice and drug policy Women and Girls in the Criminal Justice System, 1979 Inside and

Out Elaine J. Leeder, 2014-05 Inside and Out Women Prison and Therapy challenges conventional thinking about the therapeutic issues facing female prisoners Therapists counselors scholars and activists examine the injustices of the criminal justice system and the roles feminist therapists can play in deconstructing and demystifying the lives of women prisoners by becoming more involved in clinical work Women and Prison Jada Hector, 2020-08-11 This edited volume presents research about life in prison for women discussing both incarcerated women and those working in prisons It addresses women s paths through the criminal justice system from sentencing through post incarceration and reintegration into society highlighting the differences in women s experience of prison compared to their male counterparts and noting both the positive and negative changes implemented for women behind bars Covering research on stigma pop culture motherhood sexuality and gender access to healthcare vocational training and educational opportunities this text takes both a local and international view Women and Prison is a comprehensive volume suitable for criminal justice researchers mental health professionals students of criminology women s studies sociology and those seeking a career in corrections Addicted to Rehab Allison McKim, 2017 Mothering and Desistance in Re-Entry Venezia Michalsen, 2018-11-05 Although there is plentiful research on the impact of marriage employment and the military on desistance from criminal behaviour in the lives of men far less is known about the factors most important to women s desistance Imprisoned women are far more likely than their male counterparts to be the primary caretakers of children before their incarceration and are far more likely to intend to reunify with their children upon their release from incarceration This book focuses on the role of mothering in women s desistance from criminal behaviour Drawing on original research this book explores the nature of mothering during incarceration how mothers maintain a relationship with their children from behind bars and the ways in which mothering makes desistance more or less likely after incarceration It outlines the ways in which race gender class nationality sexuality gender identity and other characteristics affect mothering and desistance and explores the tensions between individual and system level factors in the consideration of desistance This book suggests that any discussion of desistance particularly for women must move beyond the traditional focus on individual characteristics and decision making Such a focus overlooks the role played by context and systems which undermine both women s attempts to be mothers and their attempts to desist By contrast in the tradition of Beth Richie s Compelled to Crime this book explores both the trees and the forests and the quantum in between in a way that aims for lasting societal and individual changes Making It in the Free World Patricia O'Brien, 2001-02-01 This is the first study to address the important but neglected topic of how women return to the free world after single or multiple experiences of incarceration It uses first person narratives and a comprehensive review of contemporary theory to provide useful suggestions for practitioners and policymakers concerned with responding to the increasing number of women in the criminal justice system Patricia O'Brien provides an in depth description of the experiences of women with a variety of criminal histories to elucidate elements that contributed to their desistance from crime The book challenges practitioners to be more proactive in recognizing the needs of this population and more responsive to these needs O'Brien suggests policy changes especially related to alternatives to incarceration The first person narratives of non-recidivist women provide concrete and powerful examples of the crucial mix of ingredients any woman needs to remain free and empowered in a context of powerlessness and increasing social control
