

To Kill A Mockingbird

Chapter 18:

1. How old are Jem and Scout now?
Jem is 12, Scout is 8.
2. What connection does Scout make that causes her to cry?
She connects the mob at the jail and the mob dog. Both were poised to attack.
3. What subtle change does Scout notice in Atticus?
"It was a quiet digging in, never outright irritation." He is annoyed with Aunt Alexandra.
4. How does Atticus explain "mob" to the children?
"A mob's always made up of people, no matter what. Mr. Cunningham was part of a mob last night, but he was still a man. Every mob in every little Southern town is always made up of people you know—doesn't say much for them, does it?"
5. What is Miss Maudie's reaction to everyone wanting to go to the trial?
"It's terrible, watching a poor devil on trial for his life. Look at all these folks, it's like a Roman carnival."
"Just because it's public, I don't have to go, do I?"
6. What is peculiar about Mr. Dolphus Raymond?
He prefers the company of blacks to whites. He drinks out of a sack and is always "half-drunk."
7. Why does Jem say the "colored children" are sad?
"They don't belong anywhere. Colored folks won't have 'em because they're half-white; white folks won't have 'em 'cause they're colored, so they're just in-between, don't belong anywhere."
8. What does Scout overhear about Atticus's defeating Tom Robinson? Does it give her any comfort?
The court appointed Atticus to defend Tom. It comforts her a little, but it mostly confuses her. Why didn't Atticus tell them this so that she won't criticize?
9. What do the children sit with in the courtroom?
They sit with Reverend Spivey and all the other black people, up in the balcony.

Honor Bound Stuart I. Rochester, Frederick T. Kiley, 1998 Honor Bound is the result of a fruitful collaboration between Stuart I. Rochester and Frederick Kiley. In examining the lives of the prisoners in captivity, it presents a vivid, sensitive, sometimes excruciating account of how men sought to cope with the physical and psychological torment of imprisonment under wretched and shameful conditions. It includes insightful analyses of the circumstances and conditions of captivity and its varying effects on the prisoners, the strategies and tactics of captors and captives, the differences between captivity in North and South Vietnam and between Laos and Vietnam, and analysis of the quality of the source materials for this and other works on the subject.

Adolescence in the 21st Century Frances R. Spielhagen, Paul D. Schwartz, 2013-12-01 What is wrong with young people today? This question has captured the concerns of the older generation about the habits and attitudes of the adolescents in their midst. The assumption is that there is indeed something wrong with young people. Even Plato must have rolled his eyes as he relates his diatribe about the adolescents of Greece. Is the current generation of adolescents less motivated or less focused than their parents? How will they respond to the challenges facing them as they progress to adulthood? When, in fact, do they become adults? Although every generation draws upon their own unique and varied experiences, the speed of our current societal changes has created a very different adolescent passage for contemporary youth than ever before. The world as we know it has changed significantly, and because of it, much of today's youth is decidedly different from their parents. Adolescence itself has shifted dramatically. Young children are displaying adolescent behaviors well before they are ready to act on or understand their meaning, and older adolescents are staying perpetual children. As one writer put it, the conveyor belt that transported adolescents into adulthood has broken down. This book provides an interdisciplinary collection of research on the constants and challenges faced by young people today: Failure to launch, Social media, Economic stagnation. For the generation that is coming of age in a post-terrorist world and in the midst of economic upheaval, the challenges might seem insurmountable. However, in this book, scholars from across the academy—from sociology, psychology, education, philosophy, science, and business—explain how the young people today are responding to the constants of growth and change in adolescence and the unique challenges of life in the 21st century.
