The Transformative Power of Performance Erika Fischer-Lichte, 2008-06-05 In this book, Erika Fischer-Lichte traces the emergence of performance as an art event in its own right. In setting performance art on an equal footing with the traditional art object, she heralds a new aesthetics: the peculiar mode of experience that a performance provokes, blurring distinctions between artist and audience, body and mind, art and life. Here, performance is framed as the breeding ground for a new way of understanding performing arts and, through them, even wider social and cultural processes. With an introduction by Marvin Carlson, this translation of the original Sthetik des Performativen addresses key issues in performance art, experimental theatre, and cultural performances to lay the ground for a new appreciation of the artistic event.

Data Representations, Transformations, and Statistics for Visual Reasoning Ross Maciejewski, 2011 Analytical reasoning techniques are methods by which users explore their data to obtain insight and knowledge that can directly support situational awareness and decision making. Recently, the analytical reasoning process has been augmented through the use of interactive visual representations and tools which utilize cognitive design and perceptual principles. These tools are commonly referred to as visual analytics tools, and the underlying methods and principles have roots in a variety of disciplines. This chapter provides an introduction to young researchers as an overview of common visual representations and statistical analysis methods utilized in a variety of visual analytics systems. The application and design of visualization and analytical algorithms are subject to design decisions, parameter choices, and many conflicting requirements As such this chapter attempts to provide an initial set of guidelines for the creation of the visual representation including pitfalls and areas where the graphics can be enhanced through interactive exploration Basic analytical methods are explored as a means of enhancing the visual analysis process moving from visual analysis to visual analytics Table of Contents Data Types Color Schemes Data Preconditioning Visual Representations and Analysis Summary

Western Education and Political Domination in Africa Magnus O. Bassey, 1999-10-30 The contribution of Western education to the creation of an African educated elite is well documented What is not equally well documented is the fact that African educated elites have used their education and the schools to perpetuate their dominance by denying the poor the knowledge necessary to protect their political and economic rights and to advance in society. On the other hand, educated elites in Africa make opportunities available to their own members through selective ordering, legitimization of certain language forms and learning processes in schools, and legitimization of elite codes and experiences to the exclusion of the histories, experiences, and worldviews of the poor. This book highlights the processes by which the poor in Africa have been disenfranchised and marginalized through schools ascriptive mechanisms and explains why African economic development is very slow.

Response Surfaces, Mixtures, and Ridge Analyses George E. P. Box, Norman R. Draper, 2007-04-10. The authority on building empirical models and the fitting of such surfaces to data, completely updated and revised. Revising and updating a volume that represents the essential source on building empirical models. George Box and Norman Draper, renowned authorities in this field, continue to set the standard with the Second Edition of Response Surfaces, Mixtures, and Ridge Analyses, providing timely new techniques, new exercises, and expanded material. A comprehensive introduction to building empirical models, this book presents the general philosophy and computational details of a number of important topics, including factorial designs at two levels, fitting first and second order models, adequacy of estimation, and the use of transformation and occurrence, and elucidation of ridge systems. Substantially rewritten, the Second Edition reflects the emergence of ridge analysis of second order response surfaces as a very practical tool that can be easily applied in a variety of circumstances. This unique, fully developed coverage of ridge analysis, a technique for exploring quadratic response surfaces including surfaces in the space of mixture ingredients and/or subject to linear restrictions, includes MINITAB routines for performing the calculations for any number of dimensions. Many additional figures are included in the new edition, and new exercises, many based on data from published papers, offer insight into the methods used. The exercises and their solutions provide a variety of supplementary examples of response surface use, forming an extremely important component of the text. Response Surfaces, Mixtures, and Ridge Analyses, Second Edition presents material in a logical and understandable arrangement and includes six new chapters covering an up-to-date presentation of standard ridge analysis without restrictions, design and analysis of mixtures experiments, ridge analysis methods when there are linear restrictions in the experimental space, including the mixtures experiments case with or without further linear restrictions, and canonical reduction of second order response surfaces in the foregoing general case. Additional features in the new edition include new exercises with worked answers added throughout; an extensive revision of Chapter 5, Blocking and Fractionating 2^k Designs; additional discussion on the projection of two level designs into lower dimensional spaces. This is an ideal reference for researchers as well as a primary text for Response Surface Methodology graduate level courses and a supplementary text for Design of Experiments courses at the upper undergraduate and beginning graduate levels.

The EU's Transformative Power H. Grabbe, 2005-11-10. Between 1989 and 2004, the EU's conditionality for membership transformed Central and East

Europe The EU had enormous potential power over the whole range of domestic politics in the candidate countries However the EU was able to use that power at a few key points in the process leading to their accession The EU's long term influence worked primarily through soft power and through voluntary rather than coercive means During the membership preparations the EU built many different routes of influence into the candidate countries domestic policy making through Europeanization The Central and East Europeans voluntarily took on the Union's norms and methods guided by the European Commission in a massive transfer of policies and institutions However the EU missed important opportunities to effect change as well The EU's Transformative Power explores in detail how the EU used its influence to control the movement of people across Europe through both coercive use of conditionality and voluntary methods of Europeanization
