Introduction to Crisis and Trauma Counseling Thelma Duffey, Shane Haberstroh, 2020-04-09. This introductory text integrates evidence-based models and best practices with relational cultural theory which is responsive to the many forms of traumatic stress and tragedies that clients experience. It is a unique contribution that emphasizes the power of the connections counselors form with clients and communities in crisis and the means by which counselors can intervene, inspire growth, and promote healing during times of tragedy and loss. Readers will gain vital skills as they learn real-life approaches to crisis work with diverse populations in a variety of settings including individuals, families, communities, students, military personnel, violence survivors, and clients who are suicidal. The authors provide strength-based, trauma-informed applications of cognitive behavioral therapy, behavioral therapy, neurofeedback, mindfulness, and creative practices. In addition, each chapter contains compelling case examples, multiple choice and essay questions, and key topic discussion prompts to guide student learning and promote classroom discussion. Surviving Images Kamran Rastegar, 2015 Surviving Images explores the prominent role of cinema in the development of cultural memory around war and conflict in colonial and postcolonial contexts It does so through a study of three historical eras the colonial period the national independence struggle and the postcolonial Beginning with a study of British colonial cinema on the Sudan then exploring anti colonial cinema in Algeria Egypt and Tunisia followed by case studies of films emerging from postcolonial contexts in Palestine Iran Lebanon and Israel this work aims to fill a gap in the critical literature on both Middle Eastern cinemas and to contribute more broadly to scholarship on social trauma and cultural memory in colonial and postcolonial contexts This work treats the concept of trauma critically however and posits that social trauma must be understood as a framework for producing social and political meaning out of these historical events Social trauma thus sets out a productive process of historical interpretation and cultural texts such as cinematic works both illuminate and contribute to this process Through these discussions Surviving Images illustrates cinema's productive role in contributing to the changing dynamics of cultural memory of war and social conflict in the modern world

In/visible War Jon Simons, John Louis Lucaites, 2017-06-14 In Visible War addresses a paradox of twenty first century American warfare The contemporary visual American experience of war is ubiquitous and yet war is simultaneously invisible or absent we lack a lived sense that America is at war This paradox of in visibility concerns the gap between the experiences of war zones and the visual mediated experience of war in public popular culture which absents and renders invisible the former Large portions of the domestic public experience war only at a distance For these citizens war seems abstract or may even seem to have disappeared altogether due to a relative absence of visual images of casualties Perhaps even more significantly wars can be fought without sacrifice by the vast majority of Americans Yet the normalization of twenty first century war also renders it highly visible War is made visible through popular commercial mediated culture The spectacle of war occupies the contemporary public sphere in the forms of celebrations at athletic events and in films video games and other media coming together as MIME the Military Industrial Media Entertainment Network
