The Chains That Bound Us Mona Hunt, 2022-02 The Chains That Bound Us is a collection of poems about the negative impacts that traumatic events can play in people's lives. Post City Trauma D. Pyle, 2015-11-23 A retrospective collection of 44 poems written between December 2012 and April 2015. A Trauma Theory Reading of the Book of Job Michelle Keener, 2025-06-12 Michelle Keener incorporates advances in modern trauma theory in the interpretation of the book of Job. Keener focuses primarily on using the framework of a psychological trauma narrative to read the text, providing new insights into how Job functions as a text that deals with trauma. After an extensive introduction to the history and fundamentals of trauma theory, Keener actively applies a trauma theory reading to the book of Job with special attention paid to the elements of a therapeutic trauma narrative: its role in the cognitive resolution of trauma and how this is reflected in the biblical text. This approach provides alternative answers to some of the suggested redactions, reconstruction, and inconsistencies identified in the text of Job by previous scholars. Keener also draws in the Wesleyan Quadrilateral as a means of reading the texts and examines how her conclusions may be useful in applied community contexts.

The Art and Science of Trauma and the Autobiographical Meg Jensen, 2019-01-04 This book examines posttraumatic autobiographical projects elucidating the complex relationship between the science of trauma and how that idea is understood across various scientific disciplines and the rhetorical strategies of fragmentation, dissociation, reticence, and repetitive troping widely used in the representation of traumatic experience. From autobiographical fictions to prison poems, from witness testimony to autobiography and from testimonio to war memorials, otherwise dissimilar projects speak of past suffering through a limited and even predictable discourse in search of healing. Drawing on approaches from literary, human rights, and cultural studies that highlight relations between trauma, language, meaning, and selfhood and the latest research on the science of trauma from the fields of clinical, behavioral, and evolutionary psychology and neuroscience, I read such autobiographical projects not as symptoms but as complex interrogative negotiations of trauma and its aftermath: commemorative and performative narratives navigating aesthetic, biological, cultural, linguistic, and emotional pressure and inspiration.

Traumatic Verses Andrés José Nader, 2007 Traumatic Verses provides psychoanalytically informed close readings of a range of poems and discusses their significance for aesthetic theory and for research on the camps. It also tells the stories behind the composition and preservation of these poems and the history of their publication since 1945 Most of the poems appear here for the first time in English translation along with the original texts This book fills a gap left by literary historians who have mostly ignored writings from the camps and avoided careful scrutiny of literature produced under the Nazi regime Studies of trauma have concentrated on post traumatic experiences discussions of aesthetics after the Holocaust have neglected the issue of the artistic impulse in the camps On both counts this book constitutes a unique contribution to scholarship showing that when read attentively the poems written in the camps are invaluable sites for confronting the Nazi past book jacket Being Heard: Healing Voices of Trauma Vera Stasny,2021-03-28 This collection of deeply introspective poems reflects Vera's inner voice in response to her unrecognized and unfelt personal traumas and shocks She writes about loss pain joy love fear memories and death The poems written over a four year period emerged from moments of silence They give voice to that which otherwise might remain lost or hidden They reflect her previously unexpressed emotions underlying life's traumatic experiences The voices within compelled her to bring them forth on her healing journey A debut collection details the way poetry can transform pain into hope and healing The author is particularly good at demonstrating the way in which psychic pain lodges in the body how mental strife has physical effect She makes readers feel the shortness of her breath and the churning in her gut But even in such struggle there is hope and her verse also testifies to the possibility of recovery Her moving book is an invitation a well one those suffering from trauma would do well to accept Touching poems that show reader both the storm and the calm that can follow Kirkus Review of Books A soulful well written and sincere narrative uniting us all in our common vulnerability The collection can be easily read in any order each entry connected and yet able to stand alone The writing speaks openly from one heart to another leaving you in a better place at the end of the journey Kathryn Castelli Ted Hughes and Trauma Danny O'Connor,2016-08-31 This book is a radical re appraisal of the poetry of Ted Hughes placing him in the context of continental theorists such as Jacques Lacan Jacques Derrida and Slavoj Zizek to address the traumas of his work As an undergraduate Hughes was visited in his sleep by a burnt fox man who left a bloody handprint on his essay warning him of the dangers of literary criticism Hereafter criticism became burning the foxes This book offers a defence of literary criticism drawing Hughes poetry and prose into the network of theoretical work he dismissed as the tyrant's whisper by demonstrating a shared concern with trauma Covering a wide range of Hughes work it explores the various traumas that define his writing Whether it is comparing his idea of man as split from nature with that of Jacques Lacan considering his challenging relationship with language in light of Roland Barthes and Jacques Derrida seeing him in the art gallery and at the movies with Gilles Deleuze or considering his troubled relationship with femininity in regard to Teresa Brennan and Slavoj Zizek Burning the Foxes offers a fresh look at a familiar poet Diagnostic Imaging: Musculoskeletal Non-Traumatic Disease E-Book B. Trauma in 20th Century Multicultural American Poetry Jamie D. Barker, 2020-02-06 In Trauma in 20th Century Multicultural American Poetry Jamie D Barker argues that by using literary trauma theory in conjunction with a reader response approach readers can gain a better understanding of how poetry can work towards building community and encouraging empowerment over oppression by establishing collectives of people who may share similar stories and experiences connected to trauma Rather than demonstrating how the poetry may fail or trying to establish what traumatic events the speaker or poet in some studies may have encountered and the significance thereof this study focuses on how the reader may find community with the ideas represented within the poem The poetry of various ethnicities are examined including African American poets Amiri Baraka and Lucille Clifton Native American poets Robin Coffee Linda Hogan and Peter Blue Cloud as well as Japanese American poets Mitsuye Yamada Keiho Soga and Lawson Fusao Inada Although many of these poets have had their poems examined in the past none have been explored through this type of approach Furthermore very few studies have expanded upon the ideas of literary trauma theory by using reader response and no writings have examined the idea of ambivalence in poetry as this study does

Early Modern Trauma Erin Peters, Cynthia Richards, 2021-08 The term trauma refers to a wound or rupture that disorients causing suffering and fear Trauma theory has been heavily shaped by responses to modern catastrophes and as such trauma is often seen as inherently linked to modernity Yet psychological and cultural trauma as a result of distressing or disturbing experiences is a human phenomenon that has been recorded across time and cultures The long seventeenth century 1598 1715 has been described as a period of almost continuous warfare and the sixteenth to eighteenth centuries saw the development of modern slavery colonialism and nationalism and witnessed plagues floods and significant sociopolitical economic and religious transformation In Early Modern Trauma editors Erin Peters and Cynthia Richards present a variety of ways early modern contemporaries understood and narrated their experiences Studying accounts left by those who experienced extreme events increases our understanding of the contexts in which traumatic experiences have been constructed and interpreted over time and broadens our understanding of trauma theory beyond the contemporary Euro American context while giving invaluable insights into some of the most pressing issues of today

Wordsworth's Trauma and Poetry Richard E. Matlak, 2024-07-11 Based upon the testimony of Thomas Carlyle most biographers acknowledge that Wordsworth witnessed the beheading of the journalist Antoine Gorsas in October 1793 during the Reign of Terror But they go no further This study reads the Poet's reactions to the Terror in passages from The Prelude as explicitly about his twenty three year old self witnessing the gory deaths of Gorsas and others which caused post traumatic stress disorder and its symptoms exacerbated by guilt for abandoning his French lover and their child a year earlier Following a chronological arc from October 1793 when the trauma began until its conclusion in October 1803 when Wordsworth became a poet soldier I examine poetic works from The Borderers 1796 the Discharged Soldier 1798 the Two Part Prelude 1799 Home at Grasmere 1800 and the Liberty sonnets 1803 to follow the Poet working through anxiety fear and remorse to a resolution

Trauma and Transcendence in Early Qing Literature Wilt L. Idema, Wai-yee Li, Ellen Widmer, 2020-03-17 The collapse of the Ming dynasty and the Manchu conquest of China were traumatic experiences for Chinese intellectuals not only because of the many decades of destructive warfare but also because of the adjustments necessary to life under a foreign regime History became a defining subject in their writings and it went on shaping literary production in succeeding generations as the Ming continued to be remembered re imagined and refigured on new terms The twelve chapters in this volume and the introductory essays on early Qing poetry prose and drama understand the writings of this era wholly or in part as attempts to recover from or transcend the trauma of the transition years By the end of the seventeenth century the sense of trauma had diminished and a mood of accommodation had taken hold Varying shades of lament or reconciliation critical or nostalgic retrospection on the Ming and rejection or acceptance of the new order distinguish the many voices in these writings

Transformations of Trauma in Women's Writing Laura Alexander, 2023-01-10 This volume examines the ways in which trauma alters women's identities While some of the chapters look deeply at individual experiences many of the contributions look to national traumas and the consequences of political abuses including colonial subjugation and genocide for women The book shows that language has a transformative power to change us to give us a great capacity for inner and outer dialogues and for healing and self love As shown here women have historically employed autobiography and memoir to free themselves and others rather than seeing the limit of form they reinvent the parameters to offer a new relationship with language      Trauma, Primitivism and the First World War Joy Porter, 2021-04-08 This book examines the extraordinary life of Frank Toronto Prewett and the history of trauma literary expression and the power of self representation after WWI Joy Porter sheds new light on how the First World War affected the Canadian poet and how war induced trauma or shell shock caused him to pretend to be an indigenous North American Porter investigates his influence of and acceptance by some of the most significant literary figures of the time including Siegfried Sassoon Edmund Blunden Wilfred Owen and Robert Graves In doing so Porter skillfully connects a number of historiographies that usually exist in isolation from one another and rarely meet By bringing together a history of the WWI era early twentieth century history Native American history the history of literature and the history of class Porter expertly crafts a valuable contribution to the field
