Traveling Light On The Road With Americas Poor:

Traveling Light Kath Weston, 2008 What happens when you're broke and you need to get to a new job an ailing parent a powwow or a funeral on the other side of the country After decades of globalization what kind of America will you glimpse out the window on your way For five years Kath Weston rode the bus to find out Traveling Light is not another book about people stuck in poverty Rather it's a book about how people move through poverty and their insights into the sweeping economic changes that affect us all Weston's route takes her through Northeastern cities buried under layoffs an immigration raid in the Southwest an antiwar rally in the capitol and the path traced by Hurricane Katrina Like any road story this one has characters that linger in the imagination the trucker who has to give up his rig to have an operation the teenager who can turn any Hollywood movie into a rap song the homeless veteran who dreams of running his own shrimp boat the sketch artist who breathes life into African American history the single mother scrambling for loose change

Traveling Light Kath Weston, 2009-09-01 How far can you get on two tacos one Dr Pepper and a little bit of conversation What happens when you're broke and you need to get to a new job an ailing parent a powwow college or a funeral on the other side of the country And after decades of globalization what kind of America will you glimpse through the window on your way For five years Kath Weston rode the bus to find out Traveling Light is not just another book about people stuck in poverty Rather it's a book about how people move through poverty and their insights into the sweeping economic changes that affect us all The result is a moving meditation on living poor in the world's wealthiest nation Exit Zero Christine J. Walley, 2022-12-22 Winner of CLR James Book Prize from the Working Class Studies Association and 2nd Place for the Victor Turner Prize in Ethnographic Writing In 1980 Christine J Walley's world was turned upside down when the steel mill in Southeast Chicago where her father worked abruptly closed In the ensuing years ninety thousand other area residents would also lose their jobs in the mills just one example of the vast scale of deindustrialization occurring across the United States The disruption of this event propelled Walley into a career as a cultural anthropologist and now in Exit Zero she brings her anthropological perspective home examining the fate of her family and that of blue collar America at large Interweaving personal narratives and family photos with a nuanced assessment of the social impacts of deindustrialization Exit Zero is one part memoir and one part ethnography providing a much needed female and familial perspective on cultures of labor and their decline Through vivid accounts of her family's struggles and her own upward mobility Walley reveals the social landscapes of America's industrial fallout navigating complex tensions among class labor economy and environment Unsatisfied with the notion that her family's turmoil was inevitable in the ever forward progress of the United States she provides a fresh and important counternarrative that gives a new voice to the many Americans whose distress resulting from deindustrialization has too often been ignored This book is part of a project that also includes a documentary film Blood Will Out Janet Carsten, 2013-07-29 Unique in focus and international in scope this book brings together 10 essays about the

Witnessing Sadism in Texts of the American South Claire Raymond, 2019-10-28 Looking at works by Carrie Mae Weems Toni Morrison Emily Dickinson Flannery O Connor Dorothy Allison Carson McCullers and Zora Neale Hurston Claire Raymond uncovers a pattern of femininity constructed around representations of sadistic violence in American women s literature and photography from the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries Dickinson s poetry is read through its relationship to the Southern Agrarian critics who championed her work While the representations of violence found in Carrie Mae Weems s installation From Here I Saw What Happened and I Cried Morrison s Beloved Dickinson s poetry O Connor s A View of the Woods and A Good Man Is Hard to Find Allison s Bastard Out of Carolina McCullers Ballad of the Sad Caf and Hurston s Mules and Men are diverse in terms of artistic presentation all allude to or are set in the antebellum and Jim Crow South In addition all involve feminine characters whose subjectivity is shaped by the practice of seeing acts of violence inflicted where there can be no effective resistance While not proposing an equivalence between representing violence in visual images and written text Raymond does suggest that visual images of violence can be interpreted in context with written evocations of violent imagery Invoking sadism in its ethical sense of violence enacted on a victim for whom self defense and recourse of any kind are impossible Raymond s study is ultimately an exploration of the idea that a femininity constructed by the positioning of feminine characters as witnesses to sadistic acts is a phenomenon distinctly of the American South that is linked to the culture s history of racism

Women, America, and Movement Susan L. Roberson, 1998 Since the colonial days American women have traveled migrated and relocated always faced with the challenge of reconstructing their homes for themselves and their families Women America and Movement offers a journey through largely unexplored territory the experiences of migrating American women These narratives both real and imagined represent a range of personal and critical perspectives some of the women describe their travels as expansive and freeing while others relate the dreadful costs and sacrifices of relocating. Despite the range of essays featured in this study the writings all coalesce around the issues of politics, poetry, and self-identity described by Adrienne Rich as the elements of the politics of location, treated here as the politics of relocation. The narratives featured in this book explore the impact of race, class, and sexual economics on migratory women, their self-identity, and their roles in family and social life. These issues demonstrate that in addition to geographic place, ideology is itself a space to be traversed. By examining the writings of such women as Louise Erdrich, Zora Neale Hurston, and Gertrude Stein, the essayists included in this volume offer a variety of experiences. The book confronts such issues as racist politicking against Native Americans, African Americans, and Asian immigrants; sexist attitudes that limit women to the roles of wife, mother, and sexual object; and exploitation of migrants from Appalachia and of women newly arrived in America. These essays also delve into the writings themselves by looking at what happens to narrative structure as authors or their characters cross geographic boundaries. The reader sees how women writers negotiate relocation in their texts and how the written word becomes a place where one finds oneself.
