Threatened Masculinity from British Fiction to Cold War German Cinema Joseph Willis, 2019-05-30 The impact of the Cold War on German male identities can be seen in the nation's cinematic search for a masculine paradigm that rejected the fate centered value system of its National Socialist past while also recognizing that German males once again had become victims of fate and fatalism but now within the value system of the Soviet and American hegemonies that determined the fate of Cold War Germany and Central Europe This monograph is the first to demonstrate that this Cold War cinematic search sought out a meaningful masculine paradigm through film adaptations of late Victorian and Edwardian male writers who likewise sought a means of self determination within a hegemonic structure that often left few opportunities for personal agency In contrast to the scholarly practice of exploring categories of modern masculinity such as Victorian imperialist manliness or German Cold War male identity as distinct from each other this monograph offers an important comparative corrective that brings forward an extremely influential century long trajectory of threatened masculinity For German Cold War masculinity lessons were to be learned from history namely from late Victorian and Edwardian models of manliness Cold War Germans like the Victorians before them had to confront the unknowns of a new world without fear or hesitation In a Cold War mentality where nuclear technology and geographic distance had trumped face to face confrontation between East and West Cold War German masculinity sought alternatives to the insanity of mutual nuclear destruction by choosing not just to confront threats but to resolve threats directly through personal agency and self determination

Poison and Poisoning in Science, Fiction and Cinema Heike Klippel, Bettina Wahrig, Anke Zechner, 2017-11-14 This book is about poison and poisonings it explores the facts fears and fictions that surround this fascinating topic Poisons attract attention because they are both dangerous and hard to discover Secretive and invisible they are a challenging object of representation How do science studies literature and especially film the medium of the visible explain and show what is hidden How can we deal with uncertainties emerging from the ambivalence of dangerous substances These considerations lead the editors of this volume to the notion of precarious identities as a key discursive marker of poisons and related substances This book is unique in facilitating a multi faceted conversation between disciplines It draws on examples from historical cases of poisoning figurations of uncertainty and blurred boundaries in literature and cinematic examples from early cinema and arthouse to documentary and blockbuster The contributions work with concepts from gender studies new materialism post colonialism deconstructivism motif studies and discourse analysis

D.H. Lawrence's Australia Dr David Game, 2015-08-28 The first full length account of D H Lawrence s rich engagement with a country he found both fascinating and frustrating D H Lawrence s Australia focuses on the philosophical anthropological and literary influences that informed the utopian and regenerative visions that characterise so much of Lawrence s work David Game gives particular attention to the four novels and one novella published between 1920 and 1925 what Game calls Lawrence's Australian period shedding new light on Lawrence's attitudes towards Australia in general and more specifically towards Australian Aborigines women and colonialism He revisits key aspects of Lawrence's development as a novelist and thinker including the influence of Darwin and Lawrence's rejection of eugenics Christianity psychoanalysis and science While Game concentrates on the Australian novels such as Kangaroo and The Boy in the Bush he also uncovers the Australian elements in a range of other works including Lawrence's last novel Lady Chatterley's Lover Lawrence lived in Australia for just three months but as Game shows it played a significant role in his quest for a way of life that would enable regeneration of the individual in the face of what Lawrence saw as the moral collapse of modern industrial civilisation after the outbreak of World War I

Retroland Peter Kemp,2023-08-29 The essential companion for lovers of the contemporary novel Over the past fifty years fiction in English has never looked more various Books bulkier than Victorian three deckers appear alongside works of minimalist brevity and experiments with form have produced everything from verse novels to Twitter thread narratives This is truly a golden age But what unites this kaleidoscopic array of genres and styles Celebrated writer and critic Peter Kemp shows how modern writers are obsessed with the past In a series of engaging and illuminating chapters Retroland traces this novelistic preoccupation with history from the imperial and the political to the personal and the literary Featuring famous names from across the United Kingdom United States and the wider Anglophone world ranging from Salman Rushdie to Sarah Waters Toni Morrison to Hilary Mantel this is a work of remarkable synthesis and clarity a wonderfully readable and enjoyably opinionated guide to our current literary landscape
