Feminisms and Ruralities Barbara Pini, Berit Brandth, Jo Little, 2014-12-18 Feminist concern with difference has rarely extended to rurality even if it is now widely recognized that experiences of inequality depend on intersections of several identities in each individual life This lack of concern may reflect the urban background of the majority of feminist academics or at least their urban positionality once in the academy It may equivalently be that feminists have been influenced by stereotypes of rural women as traditional and reactionary and thus seen them as unlikely exponents of gender equality and an unfruitful focus for scholarly energies Perhaps the problem is a broader one that is reflective of the much documented but still apparent unwillingness of many feminists to recognize and address difference in any of its manifestations Regardless even with the recent interest in intersectionality which has necessarily renewed and reenergized debates in feminism about diversity and inclusion the question of how women are differently positioned because of their non metropolitan location has remained largely overlooked

Rural Women in Leadership Lori Ann McVay, 2013-09-18 Rural women and leadership have in recent years come to be the focus of development initiatives in many countries To date however much of the writing on this topic has focused heavily on obstacles rather than facilitative factors in women's attainment of leadership positions Citing examples from a case study in Northern Ireland this book gives voice to the many vital positive elements in rural women's leadership development

More Than a Farmer's Wife Amy Mattson Lauters, 2009 Examining how women were presented in farming and mainstream magazines over fifty years and interviewing more than 180 women who lived on farms Lauters reveals that rather than being victims of patriarchy most farm women were astute businesswomen working as partners with their husbands and fundamental to the farming industry Provided by publisher

Gender Regimes, Citizen Participation and Rural Restructuring Ildiko Asztalos Morell, Bettina B. Bock, 2008 This book aims to unravel how rural gender regimes are constituted enforced made sense of and resisted and how struggles of resistance lead to empowerment and change in various countries in the four corners of Europe as well as Australia and India The book focuses on the intricate relationship between laws and institutions and everyday life

It analyzes on the one hand how laws and institutions are constituted and on the other hand how gender regimes are built at the local rural level sometimes in compliance with these frames and sometimes contesting them The articles in diverse ways give voice both to women s struggles for recognition and men s voices in gendered rural societies Through applying the concepts of the welfare state and gender regimes within rural research this book contributes to the further development of a comparative theoretical framework for rural gender studies The importance of integrating rural gender studies into both the mainstreams of rural and feminist research has been emphasized in previous research as has that of developing comparative analytical frameworks The conceptual framework adopted in this volume sets out to meet this challenge by approaching rural gender relations as the meeting point of two core research areas gender regimes and rural transformative processes

Research into gender regimes offers a promising analytical framework for comparing gender relations in diverse rural settings At the same time by addressing rural concerns deriving from the specificity of rural transition processes and gender regimes the approach also contributes to an elucidation of the complexity of citizenship Book jacket Masculinities and Management in Agricultural Organizations Worldwide Barbara Pini,2017-11-30 Using contemporary gender theory to examine gender and rurality beyond that of simply women femininities this illuminating book accurately locates the subject of masculinities within the rural agricultural context While there has been a wealth of literature on men and masculinities published in recent years the climate of ideas has been typically experienced through an urban lens This book therefore investigates new conceptual territory Embedded in the literature on gender and rurality as well as the scholarship on gender and organizations management the book draws on an in depth ethnographic study of gender relations in Australian agricultural politics It will speak to academic audiences in rural social sciences gender studies and management organization studies More Than a Farmers's Wife Amy Mattson Lauters,2005 Agriculture and Human Values ,2002

Gender, Bodies and Work D. H. J. Morgan,Berit Brandth,Elin Kvande,2005 All work is gendered and all work is embodied Yet in common with so many features of social life these connections have remained largely unnoticed in most areas of social enquiry All three topics gender bodies and work have their own history and theoretical concerns and have recently showed signs of convergence This volume recognizes this convergence and explores the inter connections more specifically The authors provide a set of questions which draw together themes already present in existing studies and which provide the basis for further analysis and theoretical elaboration The chapters explore processes of embodiment and disembodiment within working settings and discuss the implications of these for the construction of gendered identities Enhancing our knowledge of all three terms Gender Bodies and Work develops a perspective that has considerable potential both for assessing the past and exploring the future The Structure and Dynamics of Rural Territories C. R. Bryant,Brandon
