Routledge Handbook of Urban Forestry Francesco Ferrini, Cecil C. Konijnendijk van den Bosch, Alessio Fini, 2017-03-31 More than half the world's population now lives in cities Creating sustainable healthy and aesthetic urban environments is therefore a major policy goal and research agenda This comprehensive handbook provides a global overview of the state of the art and science of urban forestry It describes the multiple roles and benefits of urban green areas in general and the specific role of trees including for issues such as air quality human well being and stormwater management It reviews the various stresses experienced by trees in cities and tolerance mechanisms as well as cultural techniques for either pre conditioning or alleviating stress after planting It sets out sound planning design species selection establishment and management of urban trees It shows that close interactions with the local urban communities who benefit from trees are key to success By drawing upon international state of art knowledge on arboriculture and urban forestry the book provides a definitive overview of the field and is an essential reference text for students researchers and practitioners The Urban Forest in the Age of Urbanisation Samaneh Sadat Nickain, 2022-09-01 The Urban Forest in the Age of Urbanization seeks to reflect on the connotation of urban forestry in line with related emergent holistic theories Today much of the planet is urbanised and planners debate Planetary Urbanization economists discuss The Global City ecologists describe the planet's biodiversity hotspots and climate scientists warn of a global crisis We might think therefore that focusing on forestation approaches at the Urban and peri urban edge might be reductionist However if the city is everywhere and everything is a city if the urbanised world now is a chain of metropolitan areas connected by places and corridors of communication then what is not urban And above all which forests are not urban forests Starting from the dualism between city and forest and its evolution towards holism the book seeks to create a framework of dialectical approaches The case studies included analyse a wide range of urbanisation processes to review the practical approaches of urban forestry in line with the global crisis of the era of globalisation when climate change population growth implosions and explosions of urbanisation lack of arable land and food are unavoidable Forestry in the Midst of Global Changes Christine Farcy,Eduardo Rojas-Briales,Inazio Martinez de Arano,2018-12-07 Forestry today like many other sectors that traditionally rely on material goods faces significant global drivers of societal change that are less often addressed than the environmental concerns commonly in the spotlight of scientific political and news media There are three major interconnected issues that are challenging forestry at its foundation urbanization tertiarization and globalization These issues are at the core of this book The urbanization of society a process in development from the first steps of industrialization is particularly significant today with the predominance and quick growth rate of the world s urban population Ongoing urbanization is creating new perspectives on forestry inducing changes in its social representation and changing lifestyles and practices with a tendency toward dematerialization The process of urbanization is also creating a disconnect and in some ways is leaving behind rurality the sector of society where forestry has traditionally developed and taken place over centuries The second issue covered in this book is the tertiarization of the economy In society today the sector of services largely dominates the economy and occupies the major part of the world s active population This ongoing process modifies professional modalities and ways of life and opens new doors to forests through the immaterial goods they provide It also profoundly changes the framework rules processes means of production exchanges between economic factors and the processes of innovation The third issue is undoubtedly globalization in its economic political and social components Whether it s through bridging distances crossing borders accelerating changes standardizing practices leveling hierarchical structures or pushing for interdependence globalization impacts everyone everywhere in multiple ways Forestry is no exception Forestry in the Midst of Global Changes focuses on these global drivers of change from the perspective of their relationships with how society functions By analyzing them in depth through multidisciplinary interdisciplinary and even transdisciplinary approaches this book is helping to design the forestry of tomorrow 6th IUFRO European Forum on Urban Forestry 'Educating the Urban Foresters' ,2003 Restoring the Urban Forest Ecosystem Mary L.
