Army Dept, 2010-08 This field manual FM provides keystone Army doctrine for civil support operations It expands on the discussion of civil support operations the fourth element of full spectrum operations in FM 3-0. This manual focuses on the planning, preparation, execution, and assessment of civil support operations which are conducted within the United States and its territories. It discusses the role of Army forces cooperating with and supporting civilian organizations in domestic operational environments with particular emphasis on how operations conducted by Army forces within the United States differ from full spectrum operations conducted overseas. All civil support operations buttress the capabilities of civil authorities within the United States. The mechanisms that regulate civil support come from law, policy, regulation, and directive. Civil support operations require Army leaders to understand an environment shaped primarily by federal, state, local, and tribal agencies and circumscribed by law. Nowhere is this more striking than in the roles of the National Guard. In sharp contrast to stability operations, Army forces may conduct civil support operations with National Guard forces responding under the direction of a governor or alongside active duty forces as part of a coordinated national response. FM 3-28 explains the reasons for the division of forces and provides considerations for the entire Army including all three components: Regular Army, Army Reserve, and Army National Guard.

Army Field Manual FM 22-100 (the U. S. Army Leadership Field Manual) The United States Army, 2015-12-31. This edition of the US Army Leadership Field Manual FM 22-100 establishes a unified leadership theory for all Army leaders based on the Army leadership framework and three leadership levels. Specifically, it defines and discusses Army values and leader attributes; discusses character-based leadership; establishes leader attributes as part of character; focuses on improving people and organizations for the long term; outlines three levels of leadership: direct, organizational, and strategic; identifies four skill domains that apply at all levels; specifies leadership actions for each level. The Army leadership framework brings together many existing leadership concepts by establishing leadership dimensions and showing how they relate to each other. Solidly based on BE-KNOW-DO, that is, character, competence, and action, the Army leadership framework provides a single instrument for leader development. Individuals can use it for self-development. Leaders can use it to develop subordinates. Commanders can use it to focus their programs. By establishing leadership dimensions grouped under the skill domains of values, attributes, skills, and actions, the Army leadership framework provides a simple way to think about and discuss leadership. The Army is a values-based institution. This field manual establishes and clarifies those values. Army leaders must set high standards, lead by example, do what is legally and morally right, and influence other people to do the same. They must establish and sustain a climate that ensures people are treated with dignity and respect and create an environment in which people are challenged and motivated to be all they can be. This field manual discusses these aspects of leadership and how they contribute to developing leaders of character and competence.
