

One of the two exposures of Vilnius' Pastoria has survived. Unlike most pigpens built as a means of food and for their guests which was used for feeding the guests, in this case only the foodstuffs given were allowed to enter pigpens, as the presence of a pigpen already became something of a status symbol. The cultural phenomenon related to wealth continues, when principal houses have a courtyard filled by pigs of domestic and foreign breeds, representing pigpens.

Notes:

This uniquely surviving structure in Vilnius Pastoria was built here – a traditional pigpen and carriage house being built about 1500. In the early twentieth century the carriage house below was used as store a family library, a library for the carriage that was from equipment. Looking into contemporary use, it is now abandoned and seriously deteriorating.

Matrana,2009-01-01 The great majority of the South s plantation homes have been destroyed over time and many have long been forgotten In Lost Plantations of the South Marc R Matrana weaves together photographs diaries and letters architectural renderings and other rare documents to tell the story of sixty of these vanquished estates and the people who once called them home From plantations that were destroyed by natural disaster such as Alabama s Forks of Cypress to those that were intentionally demolished such as Seven Oaks in Louisiana and Mount Brilliant in Kentucky Matrana resurrects these lost mansions Including plantations throughout the South as well as border states Matrana carefully tracks the histories of each from the earliest days of construction to the often contentious struggles to preserve these irreplaceable historic treasures Lost Plantations of the South explores the root causes of demise and provides understanding and insight on how lessons learned in these sad losses can help prevent future preservation crises Capturing the voices of masters and mistresses alongside those of slaves and featuring more than one hundred elegant archival illustrations this book explores the powerful and complex histories of these cardinal homes across the South A Haunted History of Louisiana Plantations Cheryl H. Transforming the South David King Gleason,1982-09-01 From the Greek Revival grandeur of Belle Helene to the Moorish fantasy of Longwood to the simplicity of Rosella the plantation homes of Louisiana and the Natchez area powerfully recall the brief flowering of the unique civilization of the Old South In their noble fa ades sculptured interiors and scattered outbuildings can be seen the feudal splendor of the great cotton and sugar planters and the doomed glory of the Confederate war effort In these 120 resonant full color photographs David King Gleason fully captures the aura of Louisiana s plantation homes some beautiful in the morning light some shaded by trees and hanging moss some crumbling in decay and neglect Taking each house on its own terms Gleason s photographs present the buildings and their environs sharply and without deception Accompanying the photographs are captions that give a brief architectural evaluation of each house and provide notes on its construction history and present condition Gleason has organized his book as a journey along the waterways that were the lifeline of Louisiana s plantations their link to New Orleans and to the markets and factories of the North Beginning in the vicinity of New Orleans and the lower Mississippi Gleason presents such houses as Evergreen with its columns and twin circular staircases the exuberant San Francisco and Oak Alley set at the end of a spectacular avenue of 28 oak trees Continuing along the bayous that lead into the western part of the state he shows us the palatial Madewood constructed from seasoned timbers and 60 000 slave made bricks the meticulously restored Shadows on the Teche the ramshackle Darby House and Bubenzer which served as a Union army headquarters during the Civil War From Cane River country and north Louisiana the photographs portray Magnolia burned by Union troops and then rebuilt to its original specifications Melrose built in the early 1830s by a freed slave and Oakland the location for the Civil War movie The Horse Soldiers Moving overland towards Natchez the elaborate octagonal Longwood Rosemont the boyhood home of Jefferson Davis Oakley where John James Audubon was once engaged as a tutor and Rosedown with its elaborate gardens Continuing south of Baton Rouge along the River Road Gleason closes his tour with homes including Mount Hope built in the eighteenth century Nottoway the largest plantation home in the South completed on the eve of the Civil War Indian Camp a leprosarium for most of its existence and the pillared galleries of Belle Helene The plantation homes of Louisiana were highly personal expressions of pride and faith in the future Yet the building of these spectacular monuments was a brief phenomenon In the wake of the Civil War the South s economy was devoted to survival not luxury A tribute to the plantation home David King Gleason s photographs reveal the beauty grandeur and poignance of these monuments
