Historical Research in central London one of a series of such conferences over the previous ten years Assembled were a modest group of academics and activists come to mark the 50th anniversary of the events of 1956 and to do so in a particular way Firstly by presenting new historical research on the questions under review rather than trotting out tired orthodoxies Secondly by linking historical inquiry to political activism It was queried why such a conference was held in February 2006 rather than in the autumn and the answer was a simple one To intervene historically in the debates of the year by setting a socialist historical agenda for doing so The opening plenary heard from Sami Ramidani an Iraqi exile now lecturing at a British University from Stan Newens who had been present at the protests in 1956 and from Nigel Wilmott the letters editor of the Guardian but here speaking about Hungary The flavour was one both of historical recall of the events of 1956 and of contemporary political parallels Indeed during this session news came through via text message that the left wing MP George Galloway had been detained in a Cairo jail overnight and an emergency protest called at the Egyptian Embassy for later in the day The next two sessions focused on the key moments of autumn 1956 Hungary and Suez but again with new research examining their wider significance Mike Haynes looks at the origins of the Hungarian revolt in terms of workplace politics while Anne Alexander reviews the impact that Suez had on Nasser s reputation within the Arab world and Arab nationalist politics In the afternoon there was a widening of the focus One session examined the impact of the events of 1956 on left wing organisation and in particular the orthodox Communist or Stalinist tradition Terry Brotherton took a fresh look at the impact of 1956 on the Communist Party of GB while Toby Abse focused on how the events of that year worked their way through in the largest of the Western European CPs the Italian Alan Woodward examined how the crisis of Stalinist politics opened new possibilities for libertarian left wing ideas The other focused on the rise of a new left as a result of the crisis of 1956 Paul Blackledge examined the development of the theory of socialist humanism by E P Thompson and others as an alternative to Stalinism Neil Davidson examined the ideas of a forgotten left wing thinker from this period Alisdair Macintyre while Christian Hogsberg reviewed the influence of an existing Trotskyist theorist CLR James around the events of 1956 Of course the conference could not hope to cover the huge range of possible historical issues arising from the 50th anniversary of 1956 The beginnings of the consumer society and the age of affluence the birth of youth culture and rock n roll British nuclear tests and the origins of CND and campaigns against the bomb the new theatre marked by look back in anger In an introduction the editor Keith Flett reviews some of these wider trends However the research agenda proposed by the conference was and remains an important one Adapting Science Fiction to Television Max Sexton,Malcolm Cook,2015-07-01 Before it reached television science fiction existed on the printed page in comic books and on movie screens for decades Adapting science fiction to the new medium posed substantial challenges Small viewing screens and limited production facilities made it difficult to achieve the sense of wonder that had become the genre s hallmark Yet television also offered unprecedented opportunities Its serial nature allowed for longer more complex stories as well as developing characters and building suspense over time Producers of science fiction television programming learned to create adaptations that honored the source material literature comics or film while taking full advantage of television s unique aesthetic In Adapting Science Fiction to Television Small Screen Expanded Universe Max Sexton and Malcolm Cook examine how the genre evolved over time The authors consider productions in both the UK and the United States ranging from Walt Disney s acclaimed Man in Spacein the 1950s to the BBC s reimagined Day of the Triffids in the 1990s Iconic characters from Flash Gordon and Captain Nemo to Superman and Professor Quatermass all play a role in this history along with such authors as E M Forster and Wernher von Braun The real stars of this study however are the pioneering producers and directors who learned how to bring imagined worlds and fantastic stories into living rooms across the globe The authors make the case that television has become more sophisticated capable of taking on larger themes and deploying a more complex use of the image than other media A unique reappraisal of the history and dynamics of the medium Adapting Science Fiction Television will be of interest not only to scholars of science fiction but to anyone interested in the early history of television as well as the evolution of its unique capacity to tell stories Failed Frontiersmen James J. Donahue,2015-02-04 In Failed Frontiersmen James Donahue writes that one of the founding and most persistent mythologies of the United States is that of the American frontier Looking at a selection of twentieth century American male fiction writers E L Doctorow John Barth Thomas Pynchon Ishmael Reed Gerald Vizenor and Cormac McCarthy he shows how they reevaluated the historical romance of frontier mythology in response to the social and political movements of the 1960s particularly regarding the Vietnam War civil rights and the treatment of Native Americans Although these writers focus on different moments in American history and different geographic locations the author reveals their commonly held belief that the frontier mythology failed to deliver on its promises of cultural stability and political advancement especially in the face of the multicultural crucible of the 1960s Cultural Frames Framing Culture American Literatures Initiative Billboard ,1997-02-01 In its 114th year Billboard remains the world s premier weekly music publication and a diverse digital events brand content and data licensing platform Billboard publishes the most trusted charts and offers unrivaled reporting about the latest music video gaming media digital and mobile entertainment issues and trends Imagining the African American West Blake Allmendinger,2005-01-01 The literature of the African American West is the last racial discourse of the region that remains unexplored Blake Allmendinger addresses this void in literary and cultural studies with Imagining the African American West the first comprehensive study of African American literature on the early frontier and in the modern urban American West Allmendinger charts the terrain of African American literature in the West through his exploration of novels histories autobiographies science fiction mysteries formula westerns melodramas experimental theater and political essays as well as rap music and film He examines the histories of James P Beckwourth and Oscar Micheaux slavery the Civil War and the significance of the American frontier to blacks and the Harlem Renaissance the literature of urban unrest rap music black noir and African American writers including Toni Morrison and Walter Mosley His study utilizes not only the works of well known African American writers but also some obscure and neglected works out of print books and unpublished manuscripts in library archives Much of the scholarly neglect of the Black West can be blamed on how the American West has been imagined constructed and framed in scholarship to date In his study Allmendinger provides the appropriate theoretical cultural and historical contexts for understanding the literature and suggests new directions for the future of black western literature The Athenæum James Silk Buckingham,John Sterling,Frederick Denison Maurice,Henry Stebbing,Charles Wentworth Dilke,Thomas Kibble Hervey,William Hepworth Dixon,Norman Maccoll,Vernon Horace Rendall,John Middleton Murry,1908
