Inspiring Faith in Schools Marius Felderhof, 2016-05-23 Inspiring Faith in Schools addresses the privileging of secularism that appears to affect RE in countries influenced by modern western thought The authors argue that a more engaging form of RE would emerge if religious life were to inhabit centre stage Currently religious faith is made to hover in the wings awaiting the call to face the inquisitorial challenge of the modern day enquirer The consequent relationship between pupil and the Divine as the purpose of study is then already intrinsically irreligious as indicated in the Book of Job by putting God in the dock whereas it is the pupil who should be cross examining his or her life What are the ways of exciting and engaging the young so that they begin to entertain the possibility of religious life as a genuine option for themselves Leading scholars in philosophy and theology from the UK Australia Canada and the USA come together to address these questions together with RE experts Marius Felderhof writes an Afterword summing up the challenges faced by such a re visioning of RE

Discipline, Devotion, and Dissent Graham P. McDonough, Nadeem A. Memon, Avi I. Mintz, 2013-09-03 The education provided by Canada s faith based schools is a subject of public political and scholarly controversy As the population becomes more religiously diverse the continued establishment and support of faith based schools has reignited debates about whether they should be funded publicly and to what extent they threaten social cohesion These discussions tend to occur without considering a fundamental question How do faith based schools envision and enact their educational missions Discipline Devotion and Dissent offers responses to that question by examining a selection of Canada s Jewish Catholic and Islamic schools The daily reality of these schools is illuminated through essays that address the aims and practices that characterize these schools how they prepare their students to become citizens of a multicultural Canada and how they respond to dissent in the classroom The essays in this book reveal that Canada s faith based schools sometimes succeed and sometimes struggle in bridging the demands of the faith and the need to create participating citizens of a multicultural society Discussion surrounding faith based schools in Canada would be enriched by a better understanding of the aims and practices of these schools and this book provides a gateway to the subject
