Urban Ecological Design A Process For Regenerative Places:

Urban Ecological Design Danilo Palazzo, Frederick R. Steiner, 2012-06-22 This trailblazing book outlines an interdisciplinary process model for urban design that has been developed and tested over time Its goal is not to explain how to design a specific city precinct or public space but to describe useful steps to approach the transformation of urban spaces Urban Ecological Design illustrates the different stages in which the process is organized using theories techniques images and case studies In essence it presents a how to method to transform the urban landscape that is thoroughly informed by theory and practice The authors note that urban design is viewed as an interface between different disciplines They describe the field as peacefully overrun invaded and occupied by city planners architects engineers and landscape architects with developers and politicians frequently joining in They suggest that environmental concerns demand the consideration of ecology and sustainability issues in urban design It is after all the urban designer who helps to orchestrate human relationships with other living organisms in the built environment The overall objective of the book is to reinforce the role of the urban designer as an honest broker and promoter of design processes and as an active agent of social creativity in the production of the public realm

Urban Ecology in the Global South Charlie M. Shackleton, Sarel S. Cilliers, Elandrie Davoren, Marié J. du Toit, 2021-04-20 Against the background of unprecedented rates of urbanisation in the Global South leading to massive social economic and environmental transformations this book engages with the dire need to understand the ecology of such settings as the foundation for fostering sustainable and resilient human settlements in contexts that are very different to the Global North It does so by bringing together scholars from around the world drawing together research and case studies from across the Global South to illustrate in an interdisciplinary and comprehensive fashion the ecology of towns and cities in the Global South Framed using a social ecological systems lens it provides the reader with an in depth analysis and understanding of the ecological dynamics and ecosystem services and disservices within the complex and rapidly changing towns and cities of the Global South a region with currently scarce representation in most of the urban ecology literature As such the book makes a call for greater geographical balance in urban ecology research leading towards a more global understanding and frameworks The book embraces the complexity of these rapid transformations for ecological and environmental management and how the ecosystems and the benefits they provide shape local ecologies livelihood opportunities and human wellbeing and how such knowledge can be mobilised towards improved urban design and management and thus urban sustainability
