An Introductory Study on China's Cultural Transformation in Recent Times Yunzhi Geng, 2014-10-22 This book examines in detail the basic trajectory of the cultural transformation and brings to light the extrinsic conditions and intrinsic mechanisms involved. It focuses on the period from after the Opium Wars to the New Culture Movement as the New Culture Movement can be considered a pivotal phase in the cultural transformation of modern day China. The New Culture Movement was a revolutionary eruption triggered by the accumulation of all the new qualitative cultural factors since the Opium Wars. Superficially the movement's goal seemed to be to overthrow the traditional culture. But in essence its true objective was to conduct an overall screening of that culture. The book elaborates a broad variety of points in this context including the ideological and cultural evolution following the Opium Wars the pressing challenges faced by Zhong Ti the initial shaping of social public and cultural spaces and major trends in ideological and cultural transformation at the end of the Qing Dynasty the political disarray and conflicts between the new and old ideology in the first years of the Republic the rise of the New

Culture Movement and the role of conservatism in the transition to a modern culture Trends in China Shanqin Zhan,2014 Innovations of China's Mainstream Media Convergence Peng Duan,2022-03-11

This book offers fresh critical insights to the field of media convergence with a particular focus on the mainstream media of China. It begins with an exploration of the emerging change among the entire mediascape: the clear and distinct boundaries that used to demarcate media channels are gradually dissolved and the widespread introduction and application of new communication technologies have brought both challenges and opportunities toward China. This is followed by a series of theoretical endeavor about the link between conventional media and new media. Drawing on President Xi Jinping's guiding opinions regarding media convergence, this book then analyzes the political task laid upon mainstream media in which challenges may be turned into opportunities. Given its conceptual focus and practical contribution, the book helps media professionals and related government agencies understand the wide variety of changes brought about by media convergence and the new direction for media development.

China's Ongoing Agricultural Reform Colin Andre Carter, Funing Zhong, Fang Cai, 1996. The authors present a systematic and incisive study of five interrelated areas: an exploration of the causes of the slowdown in agricultural output growth since the mid 1980s; the role of both output and input markets in agricultural development; the problem of excess labor in agriculture; the potential of rural industrial development to absorb excess labor and financial flows; taxation; government expenditure; rural household savings and investment in relation to agricultural growth. The authors conclude with suggestions for fundamental changes in China's agricultural policy that are needed if the nation is to feed its 1.2 billion people. Chinese in Competitive Social Repositionings Jia Gao,2023-08-08. In the past four or so decades a significant amount of research efforts has been made to examine the rapid and constant social changes in China. However, most of the literature has focused on either macro or micro level issues and what has not been adequately analysed is how the majority of ordinary people has reacted to and influenced the changes. This inadequacy has affected our understanding of Chinese society, its dynamics and the changing trends. Drawing upon a new perspective of competitive social repositioning and the evidence recorded in numerous recent publications and interview data, this book seeks to re-examine the ever-changing but under-researched societal dynamics driving social transformations in China from 1964 when the communist heir narrative was rebranded and utilised to 2000 when Jiang Zemin formulated the Three Represents theory to modify the ideological-political thinking of China's ruling elites. This analysis focuses on how a high proportion of aspirational citizens have kept repositioning themselves in China's changing distributions of social resources and social structure; how their attitudes and behaviours have been shaped over time; what characteristics of their choices are at different stages; and how their preferences have resulted in the zig-zag patterns of China's recent social change. Handbook of Social Infrastructure
