Ylimaki, 2017-10-04 This book is open access under a CC BY 4.0 license This volume argues for the need of a common ground that bridges leadership studies curriculum theory and Didaktik It proposes a non-affirmative education theory and its core concepts along with discursive institutionalism as an analytical tool to bridge these fields It concludes with implications of its coherent theoretical framing for future empirical research Recent neoliberal policies and transnational governance practices point toward new tensions in nation state education These challenges affect governance leadership and curriculum involving changes in aims and values that demand coherence Yet the traditionally disparate fields of educational leadership curriculum theory and Didaktik have developed separately both in terms of approaches to theory and theorizing in USA Europe and Asia and in the ways in which these theoretical traditions have informed empirical studies over time An additional aspect is that modern education theory was developed in relation to nation state education which in the meantime has become more complicated due to issues of globalism This volume examines the current state of affairs and addresses the issues involved In doing so it opens up a space for a renewed and thoughtful dialogue to rethink and re-theorize these traditions with non-affirmative education theory moving beyond social reproduction and social transformation perspectives      Curriculum Leadership by Middle Leaders Kelvin Heng Kiat Tan, Mary Anne Heng, Christina Lim-Ratnam, 2016-08-12 Curriculum Leadership by Middle Leaders focusses on major issues relating to the continuing national and international discourse on curriculum leadership and highlights the vital role of middle leaders in schools School leadership has focused primarily on first order change involving school leaders or principals This book seeks to put the spotlight on second order change that involves curriculum leadership and professional development support on the part of middle leaders for more sustainable and long term change in teaching and learning that will influence what happens in classrooms With timely and thought provoking contribution from authors who pursue a range of scholarly interests in multiple educational settings the book is guided by several underlying questions How might we re-envision curriculum leadership so that it addresses both local and global concerns and aspirations How might we better grasp how middle leaders understand and respond to the pressures of educational reform initiatives How might middle leaders transform pressures into possibilities This book will appeal to current teachers those currently undertaking teacher training and students or academics carrying out research in the field of educational leadership      Developing Distributed Curriculum Leadership in Hong Kong Schools Edmond Hau-fai Law, 2017-04-07 The book aims to explore distributed leadership in developing curriculum innovations in schools with a target of bringing about theoretical underpinnings in the West with the empirical studies and practices in the East It examines theoretically the roots of the curriculum leadership studies and practically with the empirical data and case studies in Hong Kong which has been considered a melting pot of the Western concepts and innovations in a land of Eastern cultures The examination is framed within theoretical frameworks of activity theories discourse analysis and social network systems The findings will show the impact of the cultural traditions of Eastern countries in the mediation of the direction of the discourses in teacher meetings and the effectiveness of decision making in the processes of developing school based curriculum leadership The book is theoretically exploratory with practically examined practices for educational leaders like schools headers and department leaders as well as teachers who aim at asserting greater influence in the educational decision making processes Topics discussed in the book include Curriculum leadership functions and patterns of leadership distribution Engaging teachers in reflective practice tensions between ideological orientations and pragmatic considerations Models of distributed leadership focus development and future Initiating designing and enacting curriculum innovations procedures and processes This book will appeal to researchers interested in Curriculum Studies School leadership and comparative education Those who studies the theory of education and Asian education will also find this book valuable

Transformative Democracy in Educational Leadership and Policy Lisa Fetman,Linsay DeMartino,2024-06-21 Transformative Democracy in Educational Leadership and Policy critiques education policies and practices that failed to deliver on their transformative promises and explores more rigorous nuanced transformative approaches within the context of the 2020s and beyond

Creating a Culture of Support for Teacher Leaders Rosemary Gornik,Wendy L. Samford,2018-02-09 Within the pages of this book you will meet six K 12 practicing public school administrators and two university instructors who give concise study and practice guidance on two aims 1 to build the awareness and capabilities to become a lead professional for democratic ways of living and 2 to develop the school culture needed to support this teacher leadership Teacher leadership is not in addition to the many initiatives administrators face each day Rather you will read stories about teacher leadership incorporated into the initiatives that already exist By distributing leadership administrators organically utilize the gifts and talents that individual teachers already possess defying prescribed roles and specific job descriptions A key feature in this text is its problem solving orientation and the interplay among teaching learning leading research that raises critical questions for professionals ready to understand the nuances of educational growth in societies with democratic ideals In spite of the political demands for efficiency and accountability six administrators worked with teacher leaders in different contexts to develop and exercise the wisdom which honors the democratic ideals upon which our society was built

Paradigm Debates in Curriculum and Supervision Linda Behar-Horenstein,Jeffrey Glanz,2000-01-30 Paradigm debates in the educational research community are a frequent if not common occurrence How do paradigm debates in other educational fields such as curriculum and supervision shape educators understanding and practice In this volume it is suggested that educators adherence to particular views of curriculum and supervision is influential in guiding their beliefs and subsequent actions For example a widely accepted belief is that if an individual adopts a mechanistic view of the curriculum then s he is likely to deliver a curriculum grounded in pre established objectives and evaluate student achievement in relationship to formulated objectives Postmodernists contend that such educators are bound by rigid bifurcation and a constrictive linear logic In supervision educational leaders who favor leadership styles comprised by autocratic behaviors tend to create school climates that favor a top down approach to human relationships Autocratic leaders rely on hierarchical organizational structures and styles that seek to instill compliance and subordination Yet prospective administrators who want concrete proposals put in practice find modern perspectives of supervision helpful In contrast postmodern supervisors allege that such leaders disallow the emergence of relevant and authentic relationships that might occur when conventional hierarchical structures are diminished and open lines of communication between teachers students administrators become normative The chapters in this book present an in depth analysis of how an individual s predisposition towards modern and postmodern views of curriculum and supervision are likely to influence 1 curriculum development 2 teaching styles 3 leadership styles 4 teacher and student evaluation and 5 the missions intrinsic to the creation of professional preparation programs that serve to promulgate existing practice or create a new order of teachers and administrator
