Forrest Morgan, Caroline Ticknor

Transmigration Prologue Science Fiction:

Transmigration J.T. McIntosh, 2012-10-01 One man's terrifying journey out of his mind and into many others Fletcher was dying But it wasn't that simple His mind refused to follow his body instead it moved from brain to brain young old healthy ill men women But now he found himself in the brain of Charles Searle the twisted scientist who had altered Fletcher's mind leaving him a disembodied personality Fletcher now shared his brain And Searle was dying Horror and Science Fiction Films IV Donald C. Willis, 1997-08-07 This fourth title in a unique series that combines reference and analytical qualities in chronicling the horror and science fiction genres Horror and Science Fiction Films IV brings the earlier three volumes in the series up to date concentrating on the period from 1984-1994 as well as updating entries from the previous volumes and adding newly discovered titles from 1900-1983 Entries in the main list include credits cast synopsis and annotation The introduction lists 1995 releases in the genres and 1996 releases through the summer cites the more memorable films in the genres for both the current period and 1900-1984 and serves as an index to key titles in the main list including long lost titles such as the obscure silent Were Tiger and the 1931 The Phantom Willis includes many films from around the world that are not found in any other English language film reference work One appendix provides thumbnail descriptions of problem and peripheral films another updates entries in the first three books with alternate titles and a third appendix serves as an index to the approximately 7 000 films listed in the first three volumes in the series as well as in the current volume thus bringing the total number of films covered in this series to roughly 11 000 titles Philip K. Dick Hazel Pierce, 1982 Framed Time Garrett Stewart, 2008-09-15 Italian director Michelangelo Antonioni claimed three decades ago that different conceptions of time helped define the split in film between European humanism and American science fiction And as Garrett Stewart argues here this transatlantic division has persisted since cinema's 1995 centenary made more complex by the digital technology that has detached movies from their dependence on the sequential frames of the celluloid strip Brilliantly interpreting dozens of recent films from Being John Malkovich Donnie Darko and The Sixth Sense to La mala educaci n and Cach Stewart investigates how their treatments of time reflect the change in media from film's original rolling reel to today's digital pixel He goes on to show with 140 stills how American and European narratives confront this shift differently while Hollywood movies tend to revolve around ghostly afterlives psychotic doubles or violent time travel their European counterparts more often feature second sight erotic telepathy or spectral memory Stewart questions why these recent plots in exploring temporality gravitate toward either supernatural or uncanny apparitions rather than themes of digital simulation In doing so he provocatively continues the project he began with Between Film and Screen breaking new ground in visual studies cinema history and media theory Cinefantastique Frederick S. Clarke, 1985 The Literary World, 1890 The Bibliophile Library of Literature, Art and Rare Manuscripts Forrest Morgan, Caroline Ticknor, 1904 Reflections on the Fantastic Michael R. Collings, 1986-10-16 In Reflections on the Fantastic Selected Essays from the Fourth International Conference on the Fantastic in the Arts editor Michael R Collings has selected the best of the conference proceedings reflecting the intent of the conference to discover aspects of the fantastic in every branch of the arts The twelve essays commence with theoretical discussions of the fantastic as it relates to other genres and elements of life The second section examines individual authors including Peter Beagle French fantasists Alain Robbe Grillet and Felix Labisse and Spanish authors Amado Nervo and Jose Maria Merino The third section discusses issues in contemporary science fiction opening with a look at artificial language in the work of Samuel R Delaney It continues with examinations of the work of Brian W Aldiss and a look at the narrative structure in works by Ursula K Le Guin and Frederik Pohl The section concludes with a further discussion of artificial language by Gregory Shreve

The Way to the Spring Ben Ehrenreich, 2016-06-14

From an award winning journalist a brave and necessary immersion into the everyday struggles of Palestinian life Over the past three years American writer Ben Ehrenreich has been traveling to and living in the West Bank staying with Palestinian families in its largest cities and its smallest villages Along the way he has written major stories for American outlets including a remarkable New York Times Magazine cover story Now comes the powerful new work that has always been his ultimate goal The Way to the Spring We are familiar with brave journalists who travel to bleak or war torn places on a mission to listen and understand to gather the stories of people suffering from extremes of oppression and want Katherine Boo Ryszard Kapuściński Ted Conover and Philip Gourevitch among them Palestine is by any measure whatever one's politics one such place Ruled by the Israeli military set upon and harassed constantly by Israeli settlers who admit unapologetically to wanting to drive them from the land forced to negotiate an ever more elaborate and more suffocating series of fences checkpoints and barriers that have sundered home from field home from home this is a population whose living conditions are unique and indeed hard to imagine In a great act of bravery empathy and understanding Ben Ehrenreich by placing us in the footsteps of ordinary Palestinians and telling their story with surpassing literary power and grace makes it impossible for us to turn away
