Treasure Island Map Children:

Maps and Mapping in Children's Literature Nina Goga, Bettina Kümmerling-Meibauer, 2017-08-15 Maps and Mapping in Children's Literature is the first comprehensive study that investigates the representation of maps in children's books as well as the impact of mapping on the depiction of landscapes, seascapes and cityscapes in children's literature. The chapters in this volume pursue a comparative approach as they represent a wide spectrum of diverse genres and national children's literatures by examining a wealth of children's books from Canada, Denmark, Germany, Italy, Norway, Russia, the United Kingdom and the USA. The theoretical and methodological approaches range from literary studies, developmental psychology, maps and geography literacy, ecocriticism, historical contextualization with both new historicist and political historical leanings and intermediality to materialist cartographies, cultural studies, island studies and genre studies. By this, this volume aims at embedding children's literature in a broader field of literary and cultural studies, thus situating children's literature research within a general context of literary theory. Petrocinema Marina Dahlquist, Patrick Vonderau, 2021-01-28

Petrocinema presents a collection of essays concerning the close relationship between the oil industry and modern media, especially film. Since the early 1920s, oil extracting companies such as Standard Oil, Royal Dutch Shell, ConocoPhillips or Statoil have been producing and circulating moving images for various purposes including research and training, safety process observation or promotion. Such industrial and sponsored films include documentaries, educationals and commercials that formed part of a larger cultural project to transform the image of oil exploitation, creating media interfaces that would allow corporations to coordinate their goals with broader cultural and societal concerns. Falling outside of the domain of conventional cinema, such films firmly belong to an emerging canon of sponsored and educational film and media that has developed over the past decade. Contributing to this burgeoning field of sponsored and educational film scholarship, chapters in this book bear on the intersecting cultural histories of oil extraction and media history by looking closely at moving image imaginaries of the oil industry from the earliest origins or spills in the 20th century to today's post-industrial petromelancholia. Maphead Ken Jennings, 2012-04-17 This book traces the history of mapmaking while offering insight into the role of cartography in human civilization and sharing anecdotes about the cultural arenas frequented by map enthusiasts. It comes as no surprise that as a kid, Jeopardy legend Ken Jennings slept with a bulky Hammond world atlas by his pillow every night. It recounts his lifelong love affair with geography and explores why maps have always been so fascinating to him and to fellow enthusiasts everywhere. He takes readers on a world tour of geogeeks from the London Map Fair to the computer programmers at Google Earth. Each chapter delves into a different aspect of map culture, highlighting geocaching, road atlas rallying, even the unreal estate charted on the maps of fiction and fantasy. He also considers the ways in which cartography has shaped our history, suggesting that the impulse to make and read maps is as relevant today as it has ever been. Understanding and Teaching Primary Geography Simon Catling, Tessa Willy, 2018-06-18 This book outlines how good teaching of primary geography can extend children's world awareness and help them make connections between their environmental and geographical experiences. Chapters offer guidance on important learning and teaching issues as well as the use and creation of resources from the school environment to the global context. It covers all the key topics in primary geography including understanding places, physical and human geography, environmental sustainability, learning outside the classroom, global issues, citizenship and social justice. Summaries, classroom examples and practical and reflective tasks are included throughout to foster understanding and support the effective teaching of primary geography.

The Nineteenth-Century Child and Consumer Culture Dennis Denisoff, 2016-12-05. During the rise of consumer culture in the nineteenth century, children and childhood were called on to fulfill a range of important roles. In addition to being consumers themselves, the young functioned as both goods to be used and consumed by adults and as proof that middle class materialist ventures were assisting in the formation of a more ethical society. Children also provided necessary labor and raw material for industry. This diverse collection addresses the roles assigned to children in the context of nineteenth century consumer culture at the same time that it remains steadfast in recognizing that the young did not simply exist within adult articulated cultural contexts but were agents in their formation. Topics include toys and middle class childhood, boyhood and toy theater, child performers on the Victorian stage, gender, sexuality and consumerism, imperialism in adventure fiction, the idealization of childhood as a form of adult entertainment and self flattery, the commercialization of orphans and the economics behind formulations of child poverty. Together the essays demonstrate the rising investment both children and adults made in commodities as sources of identity and human worth.
