White Mistress Black Slave Stories:

A Womanist Reading of Hebrew Bible Narratives as the Politics of Belonging from an Outsider Within Vanessa Lovelace, 2024-05-29 The U S Declaration of Independence of 1776 decreed that all men were created equal and were endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights Yet U S born free and enslaved Black people were not recognized as citizens with equal protections under the law until the passage of the Fourteenth Amendment Even then White supremacists impeded the equal rights of Black people as citizens due to their beliefs in the inferiority of Black people and that America was a nation for White people White supremacists turned to biblical passages to lend divine justification for their views A Womanist Reading of Hebrew Bible Narratives as the Politics of Belonging from an Outsider Within analyzes select biblical narratives including Noah s curse in Genesis 9 Sarah and Hagar in Genesis 16 and 21 Mother in Israel in Judges 5 and Jezebel Phoenician Princess and Queen of Israel in 1 and 2 Kings This analysis demonstrates how these narratives were first used by ancient biblical writers to include some and exclude others as members of the nation of Israel and then appropriated by White supremacists in the antebellum era and the early twentieth century to do the same in America The book analyzes the simultaneously intersecting and interconnecting dynamics among race gender class and sexuality and biblical narratives to construct boundaries between us versus them particularly the politicization of motherhood to deny certain groups inclusion Empowering Black Women through Female Solidarity in Selected Black Female Narratives Md Abu Shahid Abdullah, Moutushi Islam, This book attempts to identify the subversive writing techniques adopted by the black female authors to empower their black female protagonists Maryse Condé in I Tituba Black Witch of Salem Gloria Naylor in Mama Day Alice Walker in The Color Purple Ntozake Shange in Sassafrass Cypress Indigo and Toni Morrison in Beloved demonstrate how their victimised black female protagonists unify with other afflicted black women to challenge stereotypical ideologies of patriarchal society to interrupt the continuity of their subjugation in order to emancipate as a collective and to reconstruct their future Black Manhood on the Silent Screen Gerald R. Butters, 2002 In early twentieth century motion picture houses offensive stereotypes of African Americans were as predictable as they were prevalent Watermelon eating chicken thievery savages with uncontrollable appetites Sambo and Zip Coon were all representations associated with African American people Most of these caricatures were rendered by whites in blackface Few people realize that from 1915 through 1929 a number of African American film directors worked diligently to counter such racist definitions of black manhood found in films like D W Griffith s The Birth of a Nation the 1915 epic that glorified the Ku Klux Klan In the wake of the film s phenomenal success African American filmmakers sought to defend and redefine black manhood through motion pictures Gerald Butters s comprehensive study of the African American cinematic vision in silent film concentrates on works largely ignored by most contemporary film scholars African American produced and directed films and white independent productions of all black features Using these race movies to explore the construction of masculine identity and the use of race in popular culture he separates cinematic myth from historical reality the myth of the Euro American controlled cinematic portrayal of black men versus the actual black male experience Through intense archival research Butters reconstructs many lost films expanding the discussion of race and representation beyond the debate about good and bad imagery to explore the construction of masculine identity and the use of race as device in the context of Western popular culture He particularly examines the filmmaking of Oscar Micheaux the most prolific and controversial of all African American silent film directors and creator of the recently rediscovered Within Our Gates the legendary film that exposed a virtual litany of white abuses toward blacks Black Manhood on the Silent Screen is unique in that it takes contemporary and original film theory applies it to the distinctive body of African American independent films in the silent era and relates the meaning of these films to larger political social and intellectual events in American society By showing how both white and black men have defined their own sense of manhood through cinema it examines the intersection of race and gender in the movies and offers a deft interweaving of film theory American history and film history

Black Indian Slave Narratives Patrick Neal Minges, 2004 Few people realize that Native Americans were enslaved right alongside the African Americans in this country Fewer still realize that many Native Americans owned African Americans and Native Americans from other tribes Recently historians have determined that of the 2 193 interviews with former slaves that were collected by the Federal Writers Project 12 percent contain some reference to the interviewees being related to or descended from Native Americans In addition many of the interviewees make references to their Native American owners In Black Indian Slave Narratives Patrick Minges offers the most absorbing of these firsthand testimonies about African American and Native American relationships in the 19th century The selections include an interview with Felix Lindsey who was born in Kentucky of Mvskoke African heritage and who served as one of the buffalo soldiers who rounded up Geronimo Chaney Mack whose father was a full blood African from Liberia and whose mother was a pure blood Indian gives an in depth look at both sides of her cultural heritage including her mother's visions based on the night the stars fell over Alabama There are stories of Native Americans taken by nigger stealers who found themselves placed on slave auction blocks alongside their African counterparts The narratives in this collection provide insight into the lives of people who lived in complex and dynamically interconnected cultures The interviews also offer historical details of capture and enslavement life in the Old South and the Old West Indian removal and slavery in the Indian territory Patrick Mingos worked for 17 years for Amnesty International and Human Rights Watch He teaches in Stokes County Schools and at Forsyth Technical Community College in Winston Salem He is also the author of Slavery in the Cherokee Nation The Keetowah Society and the Defining of a People 1855 1867 and Far More Terrible for Women Personal Accounts of Women in Slavery This book is an important contribution to the dialogue about relationships between African Americans and Native Americans and the complex political context in which these narratives were recorded Patrick does not over analyze this often emotional subject He simply allows the people to tell their stories Wilma Mankiller
