Internet Sarah Maddison, Marian Sawer, 2013-08-15 The death of feminism is regularly proclaimed in the West Yet at the same time feminism has never had such an extensive presence whether in international norms and institutions or online in blogs and social networking campaigns This book argues that the women s movement is not over but rather social movement theory has led us to look in the wrong places This book offers both methodological and theoretical innovations in the study of social movements and analyses how the trajectories of protest activity and institution building fit together The rich empirical study together with focused research on discursive activism blogging popular culture and advocacy networks provides an extraordinary resource showing how the women s movements can survive the highs and lows and adapt in unexpected ways Expert contributors explore the ways in which the movement is continuing to work its way through institutions and persists within submerged networks cultural production and in everyday living sustaining itself in non receptive political environments and maintaining a discursive feminist space for generations to come Set in a transnational perspective this book trace the legacies of the Australian women s movement to the present day in protest non government organisations government organisations popular culture the Internet and the Slut Walk The Women s Movement in Protest Institutions and the Internet will be of interest to international students and scholars of gender politics gender studies social movement studies and comparative politics
