Rachel Murray,Malcolm Evans,2001-11-06 Fourteen years since its establishment the work of the African Commission on Human and Peoples Rights has not received the attention that should have been paid to its important contributions towards the promotion and protection of human rights in Africa The aim of this publication is to provide not only the basic documents but also the less well known material related to the jurisprudence emanating from the consideration of communications This volume therefore includes amongst other material the twelve activity reports adopted by the Commission resolutions and final communiqu s from the sessions This is the first attempt to reproduce comprehensively the many documents of the Commission adopted since its inception in 1987 It will be an essential reference for academics students and practitioners The publication is produced in collaboration with the African Society for International and Comparative Law the Centre for Human Rights at the University of Pretoria and Interights in London

Echoes Nick Bullock,2012-08-21 As I sat cradling the man s head with his blood and brains sticking to my hands I heard a voice my own voice It was asking me something Asking how I had ended up like this desperate and lost among people who thought nothing of caving in a man s head and then standing back to watch him die Nick Bullock was a prison officer working in a maximum security jail with some of Britain s most notorious criminals Trapped in a world of aggression and fear he felt frustrated and alone Then he discovered the mountains Making up for lost time Bullock soon became one of Britain s best climbers learning his trade in the mountains of Scotland and Wales and travelling from Pakistan to Peru in his search for new routes and a new way of seeing the world and ultimately an escape route from his life inside Told that no one ever leaves the service the security the stability the job for life Bullock focused his existence on a single goal to walk free with no shackles into a mountain life Echoes his first book is a powerful and compelling exploration of freedom and what it means to live life on your own terms

Colonial Systems of Control Viviane Saleh-Hanna, 2008-04-18 A pioneering book on prisons in West Africa Colonial Systems of Control Criminal Justice in Nigeria is the first comprehensive presentation of life inside a West African prison Chapters by prisoners inside Kirikiri maximum security prison in Lagos Nigeria are published alongside chapters by scholars and activists While prisoners document the daily realities and struggles of life inside a Nigerian prison scholar and human rights activist Viviane Saleh Hanna provides historical political and academic contexts and analyses of the penal system in Nigeria The European penal models and institutions imported to Nigeria during colonialism are exposed as intrinsically incoherent with the community based conflict resolution principles of most African social structures and justice models This book presents the realities of imprisonment in Nigeria while contextualizing the colonial legacies that have resulted in the inhumane brutalities that are endured on a daily basis Published in English

Mediating Xenophobia in Africa Dumisani Moyo, Shepherd Mpofu, 2020-11-24 This book brings together contributions that analyse different ways in which migration and xenophobia have been mediated in both mainstream and social media in Africa and the meanings of these different mediation practices across the continent It is premised on the assumption that the media play an important role in mediating the complex intersection between migration identity belonging and xenophobia or what others have called Afrophobia through framing stories in ways that either buttress stereotyping and Othering or challenge the perceptions and representations that fuel the violence inflicted on so called foreign nationals The book deals with different expressions of xenophobic violence including both physical and emotional violence that target the foreign Other in different African countries

Migration from Malawi to South Africa Banda, Harvey C., 2017-12-16 Since the discovery and exploitation of minerals like gold diamond and copper in South Africa Zimbabwe and Zambia in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Malawi has played the role of a labour supplier Malawians were attracted by the relatively higher wages obtaining in the South African mines up to the period of the decline in mine migrancy at the end of the 1980s Following this decline a cross section of Malawians continued to emigrate to South Africa to seek various jobs in the burgeoning informal sector and also for trade purposes Migration from Malawi to South Africa sheds light on the problems that labour migrants and traders encounter as they are toing and froing between Malawi and South Africa in pursuit of their respective goals It shows that migration which initially was exclusively done for wage employment is becoming more complex by the day This is a result of the infusion of elements of commercial migration smuggling and human trafficking The book advances the argument that the numbers of migrants to South Africa increased in the post 1994 period partly as a result of mal administration by the successive democratically elected governments in Malawi This development weakened Malawi's otherwise promising economy and impoverished the rural masses The book sees forlorn hope in the future of labour migrants and traders unless the Malawi Government starts to genuinely have the welfare of the populace at heart The book is relevant and accessible to policy makers university and college students interested in migration studies general readers and migrants themselves

Making services work for poor people World Bank, Personnel Records Piers Cain, Anne Thurston, 1998 Commonwealth member governments have been taking part in a unique mapping exercise identifying the actual changes which have been made in some key areas of public service management PERSONNEL RECORDS A STRATEGIC RESOURCE FOR PUBLIC SECTOR MANAGEMENT is part of the Public Service Thematic Series which envisages setting out the results of research projects in selected countries or group of countries to provide real insight into the real managerial and structural changes within selected areas of public service In providing some firm ground on which those public servants who are faced with the challenge of public service reform can stand while assessing the options available the Public Service Thematic Series marks a milestone in the debate concerning specific areas of management of the public service

Cold War Liberation Natalia Telepneva, 2023-04-04 Cold War Liberation examines the African revolutionaries who led armed struggles in three Portuguese colonies Angola Mozambique and Guinea Bissau and their liaisons in Moscow Prague East Berlin and Sofia By reconstructing a multidimensional story that focuses on both the impact of the Soviet Union on the end of the Portuguese Empire in Africa and the effect of the anticolonial struggles on the Soviet Union Natalia Telepneva bridges the gap between the narratives of individual anticolonial movements and those of superpower rivalry in sub Saharan Africa during the Cold War Drawing on newly available archival sources from Russia and Eastern Europe and interviews with key participants Telepneva emphasizes the agency of African liberation leaders who enlisted the superpower into their movements via their relationships with middle ranking members of the Soviet bureaucracy These administrators had considerable scope to shape policies in the Portuguese colonies which in turn increased the Soviet commitment to decolonization in the wider region An innovative reinterpretation of the relationships forged between African revolutionaries and the countries of the Warsaw Pact Cold War Liberation is a bold addition to debates about policy making in the Global South during the Cold War We are proud to offer this book in our usual print and ebook formats plus as an open access edition available through the Sustainable History Monograph Project

Ancestors on the Move Karen Foy, 2014-07-01 Ever wanted to understand more about your ancestor s sea travels What was life like aboard ship for both passengers and crew how long did the journey take what kind of conditions could be expected and what exotic locations might they have visited along the way Following the tried and tested routes established by cargo ships Karen Foy describes the development of passenger travel the changing face of the vessels used and the demand for both comfort and speed From transportation to trade adventure to emigration through persecution or for pleasure she explains the reasons behind our ancestor s desire for overseas travel and reveals the records and archives we can search to complete our own genealogical journey

Remnants of an Empire Shurmer-Smith, Pamela, 2015-02-07 When Zambia became Independent in 1964 the white colonial population did not suddenly evaporate Some had supported Independence others had virulently opposed it but all had to reappraise their nationality residence and careers A few became Zambian citizens and many more chose to stay while without committing themselves But most of the colonial population eventually trickled out of the country to start again elsewhere Pamela Charmer Smith has traced survivors of this population to discover how new lives were constructed and new perspectives generated Her account draws on the power of postcolonial memory to understand the many ways that copper miners district officers school children and housewives became the empires relics Her work is not that of a dispassionate outsider but of one who grew up in Northern Rhodesia knew its colonial population and has considerable affection for Zambia
