T. J. Dodson, C.T. Dodson, P.E. Parker, Phillip E. Parker, 1997-01-31 This book arose from courses taught by the authors and is designed for both instructional and reference use during and after a first course in algebraic topology It is a handbook for users who want to calculate but whose main interests are in applications using the current literature rather than in developing the theory Typical areas of applications are differential geometry and theoretical physics

We start gently with numerous pictures to illustrate the fundamental ideas and constructions in homotopy theory that are needed in later chapters We show how to calculate homotopy groups homology groups and cohomology rings of most of the major theories exact homotopy sequences of fibrations some important spectral sequences and all the obstructions that we can compute from these Our approach is to mix illustrative examples with those proofs that actually develop transferable calculational aids We give extensive appendices with notes on background material extensive tables of data and a thorough index Audience Graduate students and professionals in mathematics and physics processing to sorting and searching networks and critical path methods Resource constrained scheduling methods and linear programming methods are also discussed along with the branch and bound concept Comprised of 11 chapters this book begins with a review of some of the basic principles that make a software development effort successful emphasizing the need to keep things simple and understandable The reader is then introduced to the basic principles of list processing searching and sorting the concept of networks and several matrix and list oriented methods for representing networks in the computer and the critical path method Subsequent chapters deal with more complex programs and algorithms to handle scheduling of activities under precedence and resource restrictions the resource constrained scheduling problem formulated both in an exact using integer programming and in a heuristic manner the design of algorithms for the solution of large linear programming problems and the application of list processing concepts to the development of branch and bound algorithms for solution of combinatorial optimization problems The book also considers the design of random number generators and discrete event simulation programming before concluding with a description of two programming languages GPSS and WIDES for use in simulation modeling This monograph will be of value to students and practitioners of operations research and industrial engineering RADECS ... ,1996 High Performance Algorithms and Software in Nonlinear Optimization Renato de Leone,Almerico Murli,Panos M. Pardalos,Gerardo Toraldo,2013-12-01 This book contains a selection of papers presented at the conference on High Performance Software for Nonlinear Optimization HPSN097 which was held in Ischia Italy in June 1997 The rapid progress of computer technologies including new parallel architectures has stimulated a large amount of research devoted to building software environments and defining algorithms able to fully exploit this new computational power In some sense numerical analysis has to conform itself to the new tools The impact of parallel computing in nonlinear optimization which had a slow start at the beginning seems now to increase at a fast rate and it is reasonable to expect an even greater acceleration in the future As with the first HPSNO conference the goal of the HPSN097 conference was to supply a broad overview of the more recent developments and trends in nonlinear optimization emphasizing the algorithmic and high performance software aspects Bringing together new computational methodologies with theoretical advances and new computer technologies is an exciting challenge that involves all scientists willing to develop high performance numerical software This book contains several important contributions from different and complementary standpoints Obviously the articles in the book do not cover all the areas of the conference topic or all the most recent developments because of the large number of new theoretical and computational ideas of the last few years PC Mag ,1986-04-29 PCMag.com is a leading authority on technology delivering Labs based independent reviews of the latest products and services Our expert industry analysis and practical solutions help you make better buying decisions and get more from technology
