Lamp Software, 1987 Computers Helping People with Special Needs Klaus Miesenberger, Joachim Klaus, Wolfgang Zagler, Arthur Karshmer, 2008-07-14 Welcome to the proceedings of ICCHP 2008 We were proud to welcome participants from more than 40 countries from all continents to ICCHP The International Programme Committee encompassing 102 experts from all over the world selected 150 full and 40 short papers out of 360 abstracts submitted to ICCHP. Our acceptance rate of about half of the submissions demonstrates the scientific quality of the programme and in particular the proceedings you have in your hands. An impressive group of experts agreed to organize Special Thematic Sessions (STS) for ICCHP 2008. The existence of these STS sessions helped to bring the meeting into sharper focus in several key areas of assistive technology. In turn, this deeper level of focus helped to bring together the state of the art and mainstream technical, social, cultural and political developments. Our keynote speaker Jim Fruchterman from BeneTech USA highlighted the importance of giving access to ICT and AT at a global level. In another keynote by Harold Thimbleby, Swansea University, UK, the role of user-centred design and usability engineering in assistive technology and accessibility was addressed. And finally, a combination keynote and panel discussion was reserved for WCAG 2.0, which we expect to be the new reference point for Web accessibility from the summer of 2008 and beyond.

Challenges of Expanding Internet: E-Commerce, E-Business, and E-Government Matohisa Funabashi, Adam Grzech, 2006-06-08. 21 E-Government, e-Governance and e-Democracy. The term Electronic Government or e-Government as an expression was coined after the example of Electronic Commerce. In spite of being a relatively recent expression, e-Government designates a field of activity that has been with us for several decades and which has attained a high level of penetration in many countries. What has been observed over the recent years is a shift on the broadness of the e-Government concept. The ideas inside e-Governance and e-Democracy are to some extent promising big changes in public administration. The demand now is not only simply delivering a service line. It is to deliver complex and new services which are all citizen-centric. Another important demand is related to the improvement of citizen's participation in governmental processes and decisions so that the government's transparency and legitimacy are enforced. In order to fulfill these new demands, a lot of research has been done over the recent years (see Section 3), but many challenges are still to be faced, not only in the technological field but also in the political and social aspects.
