Narrative Intervention Programme Victoria Joffe, 2021-04-08

This book improves the understanding and telling of stories in secondary school students and young adults. Specifically designed for older children and young adults, this practical language programme was created by a specialist speech language therapist with input from secondary school teachers and students. It focuses on enhancing the understanding and expression of stories in students aged from 8 to 18 with language and communication difficulties and aims to create an awareness of how storytelling can be used to enhance learning in school and social interactions in school and home environments. It facilitates storytelling. It enhances the joy and enjoyment in telling stories. It identifies different types of narratives and provides examples for each type. It encourages effective listening and attention skills. It examines different means of making story production more interesting through vocal variety, body language and print. It encourages the use of the story planner in planning and structuring essays in the classroom and for homework.

Dr Victoria Joffe is a specialist speech and language therapist and senior lecturer in developmental speech language and communication impairments in the Department of Language and Communication Science at City University London. Victoria runs various workshops for PCTs, LEAs and schools on child speech disorder, evidence based practice in speech and language therapy and collaborative practice in education and provides training for therapists and teaching staff on working with children and young adults with speech language and communication needs in education. Victoria is currently involved in a large scale intervention project funded by the Nuffield Foundation on enhancing language and communication in secondary school children with language impairments on which this programme is based.

Drug Education Stanley Chow, Vicki Ertle, David Keyes, 1972 Ways We Travel Gr. PK-K, 2014 Ways We Travel Ruth Solski, 1997 Time to Talk Jean Gross, 2013-05-21

Time to Talk provides a powerful and accessible resource for practitioners to help develop their own skills as well as supporting a whole school or setting approach to speaking and listening. Written by the government's former Communication Champion for children, it showcases and celebrates effective approaches in schools and settings across the country. Jean Gross helpfully summarises research on what helps children and young people develop good language and communication skills and highlights the importance of key factors: a place to talk, a reason to talk and support for talk. This practical and engaging book also provides whole class approaches to developing all children and young people's speaking and listening skills, catch up strategies for those with limited language, ways in which settings and schools can develop an effective partnership with specialists such as speech and language therapists to help children with more severe needs, examples of good practice in supporting parents/carers to develop their children's language skills, answers to practitioners' most frequently asked questions about speech and language. This book is for all school leaders, teachers and Early Years practitioners concerned about the growing number of children and young people with limited language and communication skills.
