You Cant Fix Everything A Husbands Perspective On Dealing With Breast Cancer:

You Can't Fix Everything John W. Boyd, Sharon F. Boyd, 2011-01 The author's wife was diagnosed with breast cancer. He wrote this book to help husbands understand and be a part of the treatment and recovery process. This is a chronicle of the journey he and his wife faced together. Cancer Survivorship Coping Tools - We'll Get you Through This Barbara Tako, 2015-03-27 Hearing the words "You have cancer" can be devastating. Some cancer patients even say that the emotional pain and loss of certainty from hearing this are worse than the pains from the cancer surgeries, radiation, chemotherapy, and other treatments. This is the intimate journey of a melanoma and breast cancer survivor who honestly and sometimes even humorously shares her own story and offers supportive emotional tools to help people diagnosed with cancer and their loved ones and caregivers work through the emotional pain and upheaval of a cancer diagnosis. You will be supported in knowing what it feels like to hear you have cancer and be given a variety of helpful ideas to start feeling better whether you are newly diagnosed, in treatment, or months or years after treatment. If you are a caregiver, friend, or family member who wants to help you, you will get a better understanding of the cancer experience as well as tools to help the person you care about. My Life --- Such As It Is Bonnetta Carol Caraway, 2012-08-09 When I started writing this journal, I had no intentions anyone else would even see a page of this because it had the worst of my life and I didn't want anyone I love to read it and lose respect in the person I push in public. I'm a very shy and very naive person. I am basically a loner. It is very hard for me to make friends, so I stay home a lot. Not too long ago, even in my old age, I found a very wonderful person that could see into my soul and pull me out. Diane and I have gotten to be the best of friends. Her name is Diane Wilson and she is the most wonderful, loving, caring friend I know. She listens to all my troubles and gives me advice even though she has more than her share of troubles. She talks and I feel that I do have purpose in life. She is the sister I never had. She has so many problems but she finds the time to be my best friend. I never liked this town because the roll the streets up in the evening well, it does seem like it. There aren't any places to go, nothing to see. Not for the adults, not for the kids. But my sista pal texts me and asks if Paul has any coffee left or we will go out. We call that our gal pal time. We just go to McD's and have a coke or a frappe and I tell her my troubles and she tells me her troubles. We would talk for ages and cry in our frepe. I would like to thank everyone for all the time they have spent making it possible for a shy, scared great grandmother to share her life such as it is. Learning to Cry Louise Hyland, 2013-04-17 Learning to Cry will have you traipsing through the bush of South Africa, living the opulent Orange County, California lifestyle and enjoying a pint in middle class England. The sudden loss of her father in the middle of Africa creates a stirring in the author to discover who she is, where she's from, and where she really belongs. The journey across three continents uncovers secrets, lessons about family, and finally unconditional love and acceptance. The journey, both devastating and empowering, provides her with the courage to make life-altering decisions in search of true happiness.

Living through Breast Cancer with Faith, Hope, and Laughter Laura Jensen Walker,2012-10-01 Breast cancer survivor and bestselling author uses her faith and sense of humor to offer hope and help to cancer patients survivors and caregivers Clinical Perspectives on Elderly Sexuality Jennifer L. Hillman,2013-03-14 Throughout my clinical training and practice I have been surprised by the number of times that sexual issues have emerged as an unexpectedly central feature in my work with older adults I can vividly remember my own internal reaction on hearing one of my elderly female patients tell me that she was date raped a few years after the death of her elderly husband when she was 68 years old I can see in my mind s eye the blood splattered on the floor of an inpatient unit from an elderly man who smashed his arm through a window furious that his antidepressant medication made it impossible to climax through masturbation On a much less dramatic but equally important note I think about the elderly amputee who told me softly about his fears of resuming sexual activity with his wife of 25 years I also think about the elderly woman whose inability to take herself shopping to find fashionable comfortable clothes to fit over her hunched shoulders and large breasts helped precipitate a serious depression In sum I learned early on that elderly sexuality is not just about how many times a week someone makes love It is my hope that sharing these experiences and introducing the related theories research and interventions will assist other clinicians in dealing with these often challenging and clinically demanding situations Without my patients this text would not have been possible
