Reilly, 2019-04-10 This book provides a snapshot on economic thinking about global change and provides a starting point for researchers for evaluating the economics of global change in the context of agriculture forestry and resource issues It attempts to rectify the scarcity of economic analysis in global change Sacred Bull, Holy Cow Donald K. Sharpes, 2006 Original Scholarly Monograph Dust Bowl Donald Worster, 1982 In the mid 1930s North America's Great Plains faced one of the worst man made environmental disasters in world history Donald Worster's classic chronicle of the devastating years between 1929 and 1939 tells the story of the Dust Bowl in ecological as well as human terms Now twenty five years after his book helped to define the new field of environmental history Worster shares his more recent thoughts on the subject of the land and how humans interact with it In a new afterword he links the Dust Bowl to current political economic and ecological issues including the American livestock industry's exploitation of the Great Plains and the on going problem of desertification which has now become a global phenomenon He reflects on the state of the plains today and the threat of a new dustbowl He outlines some solutions that have been proposed such as the Buffalo Commons where deer antelope bison and elk would once more roam freely and suggests that we may yet witness a Great Plains where native flora and fauna flourish while applied ecologists show farmers how to raise food on land modeled after the natural prairies that once existed The Big Empty R. Douglas Hurt, 2011-09 The Great Plains known for grasslands that stretch to the horizon is a difficult region to define Some classify it as the region beginning in the east at the ninety eighth or one hundredth meridian Others identify the eastern boundary with annual precipitation lines soil composition or length of the grass In The Big Empty leading historian R Douglas

Hurt defines this region using the towns and cities Denver Lincoln and Fort Worth that made a difference in the history of the environment politics and agriculture of the Great Plains Using the voices of women homesteaders agrarian socialists Jewish farmers Mexican meatpackers New Dealers and Native Americans this book creates a sweeping survey of contested race relations radical politics and agricultural prosperity and decline during the twentieth century This narrative shows that even though Great Plains history is fraught with personal and group tensions violence and distress the twentieth century also brought about compelling social economic and political change The only book of its kind this account will be of interest to historians studying the region and to anyone inspired by the story of the men and women who found an opportunity for a better life in the Great Plains
