The Black Cultural Front Brian Dolinar, 2012-07-09 The Black Cultural Front describes how the social and political movements that grew out of the Depression facilitated the left turn of several African American artists and writers The Communist led John Reed Clubs brought together Black and white writers in writing collectives The efforts of the Congress of Industrial Organizations CIO to recruit Black workers inspired growing interest in the labor movement One of the most concerted efforts was made by the National Negro Congress NNC a coalition of civil rights and labor organizations which held cultural panels at its national conferences fought segregation in the culture industries promoted cultural education and involved writers and artists in staging mass rallies during World War II The formation of a black cultural front is examined by looking at the works of poet Langston Hughes novelist Chester Himes and cartoonist Ollie Harrington While none of them were card carrying members of the Communist Party they all participated in the Left at one point in their careers Interestingly they all turned to creating popular culture in order to reach the black masses who were captivated by the movies radio newspapers and detective novels There are chapters on the Hughes Simple stories Himes detective fiction and Harrington's Bootsie cartoons Collectively the experience of these three figures contributes to the story of a long movement for African American freedom that flourished during the 1930s 1940s and 1950s Yet this book also stresses the impact that McCarthyism had on dismantling the Black Left and how it affected everyone involved Each was radicalized at a different moment and for varied reasons Each suffered for their past allegiances

whether fleeing to the haven of the Black Bank in Paris or staying home and facing the House Un American Activities Committee HUAC Yet the lasting influence of the Depression in their work was evident for the rest of their lives

Subjectivity in the American Protest Novel K. Drake, 2011-04-11 In the first major study of the twentieth century American protest novel Drake examines a group of authors who self consciously exploited the revolutionary potential of the novel transforming literary conventions concerning art and politics readers and characters From the Plantation to the Prison Tara T. Green, 2008 According to George Jackson black men born in the US are conditioned to accept the inevitability of being imprisoned Being born a slave in a captive society and never experiencing any objective basis for expectation had the effect of preparing me for the progressively traumatic misfortune that led so many black men to the prison gate I was prepared for prison It required only minor psychic adjustments As Jackson writes from his prison cell his statement may seem to be only a product of his current status However history proves his point Indeed some of the most well known and respected black men have served time in jail or prison Among them are Martin Luther King Jr Malcolm X Marcus Garvey and Frederick Douglass This book is an examination of the various forms that imprisonment as a social historical and political experience of African Americans has taken Confinement describes the status of individuals who are placed within boundaries either seen or unseen but always felt A word that suggests extensive implications confinement describes the status of persons who are imprisoned and who are unjustly relegated to a social status that is hostile rendering them powerless and subject to the rules of the authorities Arguably confinement appropriately describes the status of African Americans who have endured spaces of confinement which include but are not limited to plantations Jim Crow societies and prisons At specific times these spaces of confinement have been used to oppress African Americans socially politically and spiritually Contributors examine the related experiences of Malcolm X Bigger Thomas of Native Son and Angela Davis Gettin' Our Groove on Kermit Ernest Campbell, 2005 A critical work on the African American vernacular tradition and its expression in contemporary Hip hop Man Walking on Eggshells Herbert Simmons, 1997 Based on the life of Miles Davis this is the story of Raymond Douglas who overcomes obstacles of family and race to become a jazz trumpeter whose music touches greatness Cover The School on 103rd Street Roland S. Jefferson, 1997 When Dr Elwin Carter is confronted in his Watts clinic by two boys terrified by the brutal murder of their friend his investigations lead him far beyond the usual suspicions of drugs or gang violence This 1976 first and only novel potentially an upcoming movie of forensic psychiatrist Roland Jefferson presents a frighteningly prophetic picture of the subterranean war between the races in America The Nation, 1916

Yesterday Will Make You Cry Chester B. Himes, 1999 There could not be a fitter time or place for the publication of this great prison novel than today's United States H Bruce Franklin The Nation Library Journal Melvil Dewey, Richard Rogers Bowker, L. Pylodet, Charles Ammi Cutter, Bertine Emma Weston, Karl Brown, Helen E. called Junior libraries 1954 May 1961 Issued also separately      The Critical Response to Chester Himes Charles L. P. Silet, 1999-10-30 The work of Chester Himes is now undergoing a critical and popular reevaluation as it gradually comes back into print after years of neglect His protest novels from the 1940s and early 1950s his Harlem Domestic crime books first published in France and later released in English in the United States and his remarkable two volume autobiography are now gaining a wider readership through their republication Nonetheless the critical writings on his work remain scattered and are often difficult to obtain This collection of reviews and essays from both popular and academic sources traces the critical response to his work from 1946 to 1996 and thus sheds light on the critical reputation of one of the most distinguished but underrated African American authors Himes has a wide international reputation but this reference book focuses on those essays and reviews in the English language which provide a clearer assessment of his controversial literary standing in his native country where his reputation has been most under debate The book includes a balanced assessment of all his work along with an interview with Himes s brother that offers some corrective commentary on his autobiography The volume also provides a chronology a checklist of his writings and a bibliography      Popular Educator ,1922      Primary Education ,1921      The School Bulletin and New York State Educational Journal ,1905      The Musician ,1903      The Sunday-school World ,1887
