The Transition Of Global Order Legitimacy And Contestation:

The Transition of Global Order M. Terhalle, 2015-03-17 This study looks at the underlying foundations of global order putting aside mainstream institutionalist approaches in showing how China and the US are engaged in an intense process of contestation and renegotiation of an institutionalized order that has long been taken for granted The Rise and Decline of the Post-Cold War International Order Hanns Maull, 2018 This book takes a bird's eye view of what has been happening with the international order over the last quarter century

The New Power Politics of Global Climate Governance

Maximilian Terhalle, Charlotte Streck, 2018-04-19 This book is based on the assumption that great powers determine global politics and in this instance environmental politics It addresses the approaches of both established and rising powers and their implications for the advancement of international climate negotiations The new introduction looks at the key developments in this realm since 2013 examining the bilateral deals between China and the United States and the results of the UNFCCC's 21st Convention of the Parties COP convening at Paris in 2015 Two key features link the contributions of this volume their underlying assumption that major powers are the central actors in determining global environmental politics and their assessment of and implications of the approaches both of rising and established major powers for global climate norms One key argument of this volume is that today's geopolitics are about who gets how much in the fiercely competitive race over the available carbon space The book concludes that prudently balancing power in the new century requires a fair sharing of burden among the existing and emerging powers In light of such burden sharing pluralistic domestic politics as well as diverging normative beliefs and worldviews require consideration of different conditions even if historical legacies of the industrialised world have increasingly been put into question as a political argument by the United States This book is based on a special issue of the journal Climate Policy

China's Blueprint for Global Leadership: GSI, GDI, GCI and Xi Jinping's Vision for the International Order

Matteo Dian, Silvia Menegazzi, 2025-09-30 China's Blueprint for Global Leadership offers the first comprehensive academic analysis of China's Three Major Initiatives the Global Security Initiative GSI the Global Development Initiative GDI and the Global Civilization Initiative GCI launched between 2021 and 2023 Collectively known as the San da changyi these initiatives reflect Beijing's attempt to articulate a new vision of global order rooted in Chinese values norms and leadership and positioned as a challenge to the Western led Liberal International Order The book analyses the origin content and likely consequences of these flagship proposals placing them within the broader framework of China's foreign policy strategy during the Xi era The authors explore how through the GSI GDI and GCI Beijing seeks to present a coherent global vision that spans the realms of security development and political ideology In doing so China proposes itself as a leader beyond its immediate region particularly for the Global South and the BRICS coalition

Drones and Global Order Paul Lushenko, Srinjoy Bose, William Maley, 2021-12-28 This book explores the implications of drone warfare for the legitimacy of global order The literature on drone warfare has evolved from studying the proliferation of drones to measuring their effectiveness to exploring their legal moral and ethical impacts These three waves of scholarship do not however address the implications of drone warfare for global order This book fills the gap by contributing to a fourth wave of literature concerned with the trade offs imposed by drone warfare for global order The book draws on the English School of International Relations Theory which is premised on the existence of a society of states bounded by common norms values and institutions to argue that drone warfare imposes contradictions on the structural and normative pillars of global order These consist of the structure of international society and diffusion of military capabilities as well as the sovereign equality of states and laws of armed conflict The book presents a typology of contradictions imposed by drone warfare within and across these axes that threaten the legitimacy of global order This framework also suggests a confounding consequence of drone warfare that scholars have not hitherto explored rigorously drone warfare can sometimes strengthen global order The volume concludes by proposing a research agenda to reconcile the complex and often counter intuitive impacts of drone warfare for global order This book will be of considerable interest to students of security studies global governance and International Relations

The New Economic Diplomacy Nicholas Bayne, Stephen Woolcock, 2016-10-04 The New Economic Diplomacy explains how states conduct their external economic relations in the 21st century how they make decisions domestically how they negotiate internationally and how these processes interact Although the previous edition published in 2011 was able to reflect the impact of the financial crisis and the immediate reaction to it a lot has happened since then and the atmosphere of economic diplomacy has darkened To capture the emergence of new trends and the intensification of old ones the salient features of this new edition are The advance of China and other emerging powers at the expense of G7 governments despite some setbacks Much greater activity in negotiating regional and plurilateral trade agreements while the multilateral system struggles The persistence of problems exposed by the financial crisis notably the long running euro zone crisis The interaction between domestic and external forces the balance has shifted towards the domestic axis with international agreement more difficult to achieve This edition goes further in comparing the practice of different players to reflect the greater diversity of economic diplomacy Based on the authors work in the field of International Political Economy it is suitable for students interested in the decision making processes in foreign economic policy including those studying international relations government politics and economics It will also appeal to politicians bureaucrats business people NGO activists journalists and the informed public

The Responsibility to Defend Bastian Giegerich, Maximilian Terhalle, 2021-06-08 The rise or resurgence of revisionist repressive and authoritarian powers threatens the Western US led international order upon which Germany's post war security and prosperity were founded With Washington increasingly focused on China's rise in Asia Europe must be able to defend itself against Russia and will depend upon German military capabilities to do so Years of neglect and structural underfunding however have hollowed out Germany's armed forces Much of the political leadership in Berlin has not yet adjusted to new realities or appreciated the urgency with which it needs to do so Bastian Giegerich and Maximilian Terhalle argue that Germany's current strategic culture is inadequate. It informs a security policy that fails to meet contemporary strategic challenges thereby endangering Berlin's European allies, the Western order, and Germany itself. They contend that Germany should embrace its historic responsibility to defend Western liberal values and the Western order that upholds them. Rather than rejecting the use of military force, Germany should wed its commitment to liberal values to an understanding of the role of power, including military power, in international affairs. The authors show why Germany should seek to foster a strategic culture that would be compatible with those of other leading Western nations and allow Germans to perceive the world through a strategic lens. In doing so, they also outline possible elements of a new security policy. Reimagining State and Human Security Beyond Borders

Annamarie Bindenagel Šehović, 2018-01-11. This book delves into the diffuse relationship between states, citizens, and non-citizens. It explores the theoretical heritage of human security and identifies practical responses to the re-negotiated relationships between states and citizens, responsibility, and accountability. It argues that the changes to global order since the 1990s have resulted in a divergence from the understanding of the State as the arbiter within its territory and as the guarantor of human security within its borders. In addition, while interventionist actions of various non-state actors to implement material guarantees of human security, reaching both citizens and non-citizens, including refugees, have solved some immediate problems, they have not answered the question of where accountability ultimately lies. International Security in the 21st Century James D. Bindenagel, Matthias Herdegen, Karl Kaiser, 2017-07-17. Currently, scholars and political leaders are facing various global challenges: failing states, conflicts over distribution, terrorism, and the refugee crisis represent only some of them. In this book, acclaimed experts from Germany and abroad offer a panorama of the international security threats of the 21st century. With a particular focus on the role of Germany, these experts present strategic approaches through which these challenges can be tackled in the most effective and sensible way, thus providing new impulses for the security policy debate in Germany. The End of China's Non-Intervention Policy in Africa Obert Hodzi, 2018-10-22. This book gives a compelling analysis and explanation of shifts in China's non-intervention policy in Africa. Systematically connecting the neoclassical realist theoretical logic with an empirical analysis of China's intervention in African civil wars, the volume highlights a methodical interlink between theoretical and empirical analysis that takes into consideration the changing status of rising powers in the global system and its effect on their intervention behaviour. Based on field research and expert interviews, it provides a rigorous analysis of China's emergent intervention behaviour in some key African conflicts in Libya, South Sudan, and Mali, and broadens the study of external interventions in civil wars to include the intervention behaviour of non-Western rising powers. Obert Hodzi is Visiting Researcher at the African Studies Center, Boston University, USA, and Postdoctoral Researcher at the University of Helsinki, Finland.
