McArdle,2014-09-24 Genre fiction has always been a complex mixture of themes and elements The increasing popularity of genre blends or fiction that straddles the traditional labels means greater pleasure for readers but a greater challenge for readers advisory In this informative and entertaining book McArdle gets library staff up to speed on these engaging titles showing how such crossover fiction appeals to fanbases of multiple genres Complete with booklists summaries read alike and thorough indexes this guide Covers suspense fantasy historical fiction horror mystery romance and science fiction as well as non genre titles that don't neatly fit into any categories Offers guidance for shelving displaying and marketing genre blends Shows how to make the most of online discovery tools in cataloging these titles Includes Blend MVPs a section spotlighting several popular authors who regularly move between genres and a useful bibliography of additional resources Providing a unique look at how common genres are often combined this guide will open up new worlds of fiction to readers advisors and those whom they serve Brave new words Jeff Prucher, The Poetics of Empowerment in David Mitchell's Novels Eva-Maria Windberger, 2023-07-17 The Poetics of Empowerment in David Mitchell's Novels combines the investigation of David Mitchell's novels with the introduction of a new critical concept to literary studies empowerment Aiming to situate and establish empowerment firmly within the context of literary studies it offers the first framework and definition for reading fictional texts with the lens of empowerment and applies it in the analysis of discourse the fictional characters and the role of the reader in Mitchell's novels Drawing on narratological analysis cognitive approaches to literature and reader response theory it features close readings of Cloud Atlas 2004 Black Swan Green 2006 and The Thousand Autumns of Jacob de Zoet 2010 and dissects the author's strategies poetics and agenda of empowering fiction This book argues for an inherent indissoluble connection between empowerment and the telling of stories and demonstrates how literary studies can benefit from a serious engagement with empowerment and how such an engagement can stimulate new responses to fiction and put literary studies in conversation with other disciplines A Critic at Large in the Multiverse, Literary Studies and Human Flourishing James F. English, Heather Love, 2023 The Humanities and Human Flourishing series publishes edited volumes that explore the role of human flourishing in the central disciplines of the humanities and whether and how the humanities can increase human happiness The contributors to this volume of essays investigate the question what do literary scholars contribute to social scientific research on human happiness and flourishing Of all humanities disciplines none is more resistant to the program of positive psychology or the prevailing discourse of human flourishing than literary studies The approach taken in this volume of essays is neither to gloss over that antagonism nor to launch a series of blasts against positive psychology and the happiness industry Rather the contributors reflect on how their literary research work to which they are personally committed might become part of an interdisciplinary conversation about human flourishing The contributors' areas of research are wide ranging covering literary aesthetics book history digital humanities and reader reception as well as the important inter disciplines of gender and sexuality studies disability studies and black studies fields in which issues of stigma and exclusion are paramount and which have critiqued the discourse of human flourishing for its failure to grapple with structural inequality and human difference Literary scholars are drawn more readily to the problematic than to the decidable but by dwelling on the trouble spots in a field of inquiry still largely confined to the sciences Literary Studies and Human Flourishing provides the groundwork for new and more productive forms of interdisciplinary collaboration and exchange

Translating Cuba Robert S. Lesman,2021-07-12 Cuban culture has long been available to English speakers via translation This study examines the complex ways in which English renderings of Cuban texts from various domains poetry science fiction political and military writing music film have represented reshaped or amended original texts Taking in a broad corpus it becomes clear that the mental image an Anglophone audience has formed of Cuban culture since 1959 depends heavily on the decisions of translators At times a clear ideological agenda drives moves like strengthening the denunciatory tone of a song or excising passages from a political text At other moments translators indifference to the importance of certain facets of a work such as a film s onscreen text or the lyrics sung on a musical performance impoverishes the English speaker s experience of the rich weave of self expression in the original Spanish In addition to the dynamics at work in the choices translators make at the level of the text itself this study attends to how paratexts like
