Winning The Next War Cornell Studies In Security Affairs

M. Weissmann

Winning The Next War Cornell Studies In Security Affairs:

Winning the Next War Stephen Peter Rosen, 1991 Rosen argues that armies and navies are not forever doomed to fight the last war Rather they are able to respond to shifts in the international strategic situation Lethality, Legality, and Reality Timothy M. Cullen, 2008 This study evaluates the potential for non lethal weapons to become viable tools for the air support of ground forces in military conflicts During the Cold War the US Air Force developed conventional air support aircraft and munitions to fight Soviet mechanized infantry and armor in the central plains of Europe Since the end of the Cold War the United States increasingly confronts adversaries in situations where it is not in the national interest to use destructive force In response to this new security environment the Department of Defense has established the Joint Non Lethal Weapons Program and deployed a myriad of non lethal devices to conflicts around the world All non lethal weapons in the US armed forces however are ground weapons and are severely limited in range Aircraft could provide the perspective and added range joint force commanders desire thus this thesis explores the potential for aircraft to provide non lethal force options Abstract Technology and the Intelligence Community Margaret E. Kosal, 2018-03-19 This volume examines the role of technology in gathering assimilating and utilizing intelligence information through the ages Pushing the boundaries of existing works the articles contained here take a broad view of the use and implementation of technology and intelligence procedures during the cold war era and the space race the September 2011 attacks and more recent cyber operations It looks at the development of different technologies procedural implications thereof and the underlying legal and ethical implications The findings are then used to explore the future trends in technology including cyber operations big data open source intelligence smart cities and augmented reality Starting from the core aspects of technical capabilities the articles dig deeper exploring the hard and soft infrastructure of intelligence gathering procedures and focusing on the human and bureaucratic procedures involved therein Technology and innovation have played an important role in determining the course of development of the intelligence community Intelligence gathering for national security however is not limited only to the thread of technical capabilities but is a complex fabric of organizational structures systemic undercurrents and the role of personnel in key positions of decision making The book s findings and conclusions encompass not just temporal variation but also cut across a diverse set of issue areas This compilation is uniquely placed in the interdisciplinary space combining the lessons from key cases in the past to current developments and implementation of technology options The Pursuit of Technological Superiority and the Shrinking American Military Daniel R. Lake, 2019-01-22 Why has the US military begun to suffer from overstretch in recent decades Why is one of the largest militaries in the world and the most expensive by far periodically stressed by the operational demands placed upon it This book argues that recent problems with overstretch are the result of a heavy reliance on technology to solve tactical and strategic problems Over the last seven decades the US armed services have consistently chosen to push the technological frontier out in an effort to first gain and then maintain qualitative superiority over potential foes The high procurement and support costs associated with cutting edge weapon systems has resulted in a military that is shrinking in both absolute size and in the relative share of combat forces The culmination of this process is a US military that increasingly lacks the capacity needed to conduct operations without putting significant stress on its personnel and equipment Lake argues that this pattern is a manifestation of an American cultural disposition favoring technology He shows that this affinity for technology is present in the organizational cultures of all the armed services though not to the same degree By examining procurement programs for each armed service this book reveals how attempts to develop and leverage superior technology has resulted in some notable program failures high procurement costs for the latest generation of equipment with associated production cuts and the high support requirements that are causing the relative share of combat forces to shrink Lake's analysis of recent initiatives by the armed services suggests that this pattern is likely to continue with the US military remaining prone to overstretch whenever its operational tempo increases above the peacetime baseline

Defence Planning for Small and Middle Powers Tim Sweijs, Saskia van Genugten, Frans Osinga, 2024-08-01 This book examines the processes practices and principles of defence planning in small and middle powers Small and middle powers are recalibrating their force postures in this age of disruption They are adapting their defence planning and military innovation processes to protect the security of their nations The purpose of this book is to explore defence planning and military innovation in 11 contemporary case studies of small and middle powers in North America Europe the Middle East Asia and Oceania Employing a structured focused comparison framework it traces patterns in the choices of small and middle powers across the following themes 1 alliances dependencies and national ambitions 2 approaches processes methods and techniques and 3 military innovation strategies and outcomes Breaking new theoretical ground it offers a three pronged typology distinguishing between the strategic defence planner the transactional defence planners and the complacent defence planner The book offers a rich array of insights into cases that fall across different geographies strategic cultures and governance systems These insights can help guide discussions on how to structure decision making structures arrive at ambition levels formulate priorities select partners and design defence planning and military innovation processes This book will be of much interest to students of defence studies security studies public policy and international relations as well as to professionals in defence planning

Continental Powers and Naval Development Brian C. Chao, 2025-10-16 This book examines how continental great powers have attempted to develop and wield strong navies since 1801 Continental Powers and Naval Development argues that a continental great power's ability to build and effectively use a strong navy is greatly affected by two factors a naval force design capable of executing national strategy strategy coherence and the deployment of that navy to places or for purposes that minimize the dominant naval power's threat perception threat diffusion Each factor is deceptively difficult for a continental great power to achieve but through an analysis of four historical case studies this book shows how both factors are vital not just for successful naval development but for keeping the peace among great powers Finally it highlights how states commonly thought of as unnatural naval powers can nonetheless achieve their political objectives at sea This book will be of much interest to students of naval history maritime strategy and International Relations Weapon of Choice Matthew C. Ford,2017 Exposes the mechanics of power across the military industrial complex from battlefield to back office An Untaken Road Steven A Pomeroy,2016-01-15 Steven A Pomeroy has authored the first history of the American mobile intercontinental ballistic missile ICBM a technology the United States spent four decades and billions of dollars creating but never deployed An Untaken Road showcases how the evolution of a technology that ultimately never existed and the politics that surrounded it end up significantly shaping American nuclear strategy and forces for decades Utilizing recently declassified documents years of experience and an unrivaled passion for the history of military technologies Pomeroy has created a new framework on the nature of strategic weapons technology innovation This thorough study of a road not taken is a must read for those seeking to understand the challenges and constraints on U S military weapon programs especially when inter organization competition domestic politics strategic needs and new technologies collide Success and Failure in Limited War Spencer D. Bakich,2014-03-20 Common and destructive limited wars are significant international events that pose a number of challenges to the states involved beyond simple victory or defeat Chief among these challenges is the risk of escalation be it in the scale scope cost or duration of the conflict In this book Spencer D Bakich investigates a crucial and heretofore ignored factor in determining the nature and direction of limited war information institutions Traditional assessments of wartime strategy focus on the relationship between the military and civilians but Bakich argues that we must take into account the information flow patterns among top policy makers and all national security organizations By examining the fate of American military and diplomatic strategy in four limited wars Bakich demonstrates how not only the availability and quality of information but also the ways in which information is gathered managed analyzed and used shape a state s ability to wield power effectively in dynamic and complex international systems Utilizing a range of primary and secondary source materials Success and Failure in Limited War makes a timely case for the power of information in war with crucial implications for international relations theory and statecraft The East Asian Peace M. Weissmann,2012-06-12 Using a case study based approach Weissmann analyses the post Cold War East Asian security setting to demonstrate why there is a paradoxical interstate peace He points out processes that have been important for the creation of a continuing relative peace in East Asia as well as conflict prevention and peacebuilding mechanisms
