The Tobacco Challenge The Tobacco Challenge:

The Tobacco Challenge Professor Geraint Howells, 2013-02-28 Addressing three central questions of legal policy this is an interesting and comprehensive analysis of the need to control and regulate tobacco consumption The core issues of the book are litigation vs regulation with a comparative analysis of the US and European approaches the challenge to regulate tobacco as a lawful product within constitutional limits to promote the reduction of risks to health and the extent to which consumers should be entrusted with information to make their own informed choices Suggesting dialogue and transparency in policy development this book covers advertising psychology ethics economics and health in addition to the central debate about the litigation and regulation of tobacco and the role of consumer protection law and private law The Tobacco Challenge Geraint G. Howells, 2011 The book provides a comprehensive comparison between US and European approaches to tobacco law covering advertising psychology ethics economics and health in addition to the central debate about the litigation and regulation of tobacco It identifies the need for control and the many challenges this presents such as how to work within constitutional limits to promote the reduction of risks to health and the extent to which consumers should be entrusted with information to make their own informed choices The Tobacco Challenge - Legal and Consumer Protection by Geraint Howells (Book Review). Alberto Alemanno, 2013 Due to its emotive nature the debate about smoking has always been and still is a topic that is capable of polarizing opinions including those of legal scholars As a result the relevant literature whether legal or scientific tends to be inherently biased either against or in favour of tobacco products The Tobacco Challenge by Professor Geraint Howells one of the leading experts in European Consumer Law provides a welcome and notable exception to this trend This book offers a balanced account of the legal moral and public health challenges facing governmental efforts aimed at curbing tobacco consumption Yet its merits go well beyond that of offering an objective examination and reconstruction of such a complex area of law and policy Howells's analysis is also refreshing innovative and brave enough to challenge some of the main tenets of the health community's dominant thinking Although repetitive at times this book deserves praise for revamping the moribund legal debate on tobacco regulation in Europe and beyond Indeed as the tobacco control discourse has been hijacked by the imperative of de-normalization i.e. to change the broad social norms around using tobacco the opportunities for the legal system to pause question and contribute to actual tobacco control efforts have been significantly reduced in recent times Tobacco industry accountability - current practices, emerging issues and challenges Sonu Goel, Amit Yadav, Anna Kontsevaya, 2023-09-07 The Social

Consequences And Challenges Of New Agricultural Technologies Gigi M Berardi, Charles C Geisler, 2019-07-11 Although formal social impact assessment of changing technologies in U S agriculture is still in its infancy scholars have been documenting the effects of new technology throughout the twentieth century In this collection Professors Berardi and Geisler bring together historically relevant research and a carefully chosen cross section of contemporary work Their review of the literature is followed by an evaluation of the effects of mechanization on labor and production written in 1904 which provides a backdrop for papers from the 1940s and 1950s examining the mechanization of agriculture in the South in the Midwest and in rural areas in general Subsequent chapters offer present day insights on such topics as the socioeconomic consequences of automated vegetable and tobacco harvesting center pivot irrigation and organic and no till cultivation The authors also look at compensation and adjustment programs for displaced labor the relationship between technology and agribusiness growth and the effectiveness of university programs that prepare students to perform social impact assessments in agriculture The edited proceedings of a spirited roundtable discussion on new directions for the study of the social impacts of farm technology and the political economy of agriculture provide the thought provoking conclusion to this overview of the field outcomes in these socioeconomic groups on the major determinants of cardiovascular disease and death hypertension diabetes obesity heart failure coronary heart disease stroke peripheral vascular disease and multi organ involvement Moreover in many countries and not only in those with limited socioeconomic resources basic preventive measures are still lagging behind weight control healthy diet sedentary lifestyles smoking cessation alcohol use In this book contributors will review the prevalence of these risk factors as well as discuss possible remedial measures In the different chapters scientists from different countries and regions and with extensive research done in CVP in their respective fields will give their views on the status of CVP and suggest feasible remedial steps Currently there are many publications on the exciting and more recent developments in CVP and the new directions undertaken polygenic risk scores primordial prevention new antilipidemic and anti inflammatory therapies etc This book in contrast will go precisely in the opposite direction defining the most basic and known effective CVP tools applied in the largest segment of the world s population This will be a valuable resource for students and professionals from different specialties such as primary care providers cardiologists registered nurses public health professionals social workers and economists It will also be of interest to readers in the graduate and undergraduate levels To ensure broad accessibility an open access option is available for those with limited financial resources

A farm-level perspective of the policy challenges for export diversification in Malawi Johnson, Michael E.,Edelman, Brent,Kazembe, Cynthia,2016-08-26 The primary goal of the study is to investigate the potential to expand oilseeds specifically soybeans as an alternative commercialcrop to tobacco among Malawian farmers A principal motivation for undertaking the study at the microeconomic level is to determine in a theoretically consistent fashion the type of policy and economic environment under which farmers begin to shift more of their scarce resources to oilseed production The study aims to provide recommendations to a growing demand among policy makers and development partners for a greater diversification of exports and crop production systems of the majority smallholder farmers in Malawi Using representative farm models the study examinesthe potential for expanding production of soybeans among typical smallholder farming systems in Malawi The results will help guide future policies and investments targeted at promoting greater crop diversification and incomes in order to reduce poverty and malnutrition in Malawi Given the amount of labor and land resources allocated to maize production for food security purposes we also consider the policy challenges that emerge for crop diversification as a result
