nationalism status hierarchies and minority political identities along with updated material this is an essential reference for scholars and students interested in the intersection of the two fields Terror in the Holy Land Judy Kuriansky, 2006-10-30 Israelis and Palestinians have been caught in what seems a forever war with routine terror in the promised land for more than 100 years This book is the first to bring together commentary and anguished personal insights from people on both sides of the battle Readers get a personal look at and a clearer more nuanced understanding of the psychological trauma that is common for men women and children there Psychologists in the regions as well as scholars from across disciplines tell their personal stories interwoven with academic reflections on important issues fueling the conflict such as humiliation revenge hate and the need for a homeland and identity Readers are brought face to face with controversial issues like the psychological impact of Israel's Separation Wall and unique perspectives including the stories of eight Palestinian female martyrs the insights of a young student helping to save blasted bodies after the bombing of a bus the compassion of a Jewish doctor treating suicide bombers the thinking of a Jihadist woman raised to hate Jews but now working for peace with Israelis and a doctor bringing together Palestinians and Israelis using meditation to find peace The Psychology of Counter-Terrorism Andrew Silke, 2010-10-26 This work firstly aims to provide balanced and objective insight into the psychology of terrorists what their motivations are what keeps them involved in terrorist groups and what eventually forces most to end their active involvement in terrorism Secondly the contributors focus on the challenging issue of how to respond to terrorism These chapters provide information for those concerned with short term tactical problems e.g. interviewing as well as those looking towards the more long term strategic questions of bringing an entire terrorist campaign to an end Ultimately the individuals involved in terrorism require a more complex response from society than simply a quest for their apprehension Believing inaccurate and misleading characterizations leads inevitably to damaging policies and deficient outcomes with campaigns of violence being needlessly prolonged It is from this perspective that the concern arises with how researchers and the policy makers guided by them perceive the psychology of terrorists and of terrorism A Psychosocial Understanding of Self-Injury and Trauma: Wounds and Their Meanings Maggie Long, 2022-01-21 Drawing on research theory and survivor wisdom A Psychosocial Understanding of Self Injury and Trauma provides a clear down to earth and practical guide to supporting people who self injure Helen Spandler Professor of Mental Health UCLan UK Editor Asylum the radical mental health magazine This is a very welcome book which is authoritative and engaging in equal measure Andrew Reeves Professor in Counselling Professions and Mental Health The University of Chester UK In this accessible and instructive book Long has made excellent use of her inter disciplinary knowledge to invite readers to engage with critical thought around self injury Fiona Stirling Lecturer in Counselling Abertay University UK Maggie Long's wise and humane study of self injury offers an important contribution to understanding how personal wounds may come to be written on the body Liz Frost Co editor of Journal of Psychosocial Studies Associate Professor of Social Work UWE Bristol UK This book is a key resource for any student or practitioner in the helping professions who wishes to develop a holistic understanding of self injury Debunking common myths and stereotypes Long uses an interdisciplinary approach to help readers understand the people behind the symptoms The impact of interpersonal societal and intergenerational trauma is considered in depth as are the key practical implications for research policy and practice this understanding of self injury brings Though primarily aimed at Counselling and Psychotherapy students Long considers the challenging processes of help seeking more broadly providing useful strategies for responding to self injury disclosures for practitioners in a range of roles where counselling skills are used including those in Social Work Youth Work Teaching and Nursing Maggie Long is a lecturer at Ulster University Ireland Her work is cross border and interdisciplinary drawing on her background in both sociology and counselling
