Cartographies of Struggle Chandra Talpade Mohanty, 1991 The Politics of the Female Body Ketu Katrak, 2006-02-15 Is it possible to simultaneously belong to and be exiled from a community? In Politics of the Female Body Ketu H Katrak argues that it is not only possible but common especially for women who have been subjects of colonial empires. Through her careful analysis of postcolonial literary texts Katrak uncovers the ways that the female body becomes a site of both oppression and resistance. She examines writers working in the English language including Anita Desai from India, Ama Ata Aidoo from Ghana and Merle Hodge from Trinidad among others. The writers share colonial histories a sense of solidarity and resistance strategies in the on going struggles of decolonization that center on the body. Bringing together a rich selection of primary texts Katrak examines published novels poems stories and essays as well as activist materials oral histories and pamphlets forms that push against the boundaries of what is considered strictly literary. In these varied materials she reveals common political and feminist alliances across geographic boundaries. A unique comparative look at women's literary work and its relationship to the body in third world societies this text will be of interest to literary scholars and to those working in the fields of postcolonial studies and women's studies. A Companion to Gender Studies Philomena Essed, David Theo Goldberg, Audrey Kobayashi, 2009-03-16 A Companion to Gender Studies presents a unified and comprehensive vision of its field and its new directions. It is designed to demonstrate in action the rich interplay between gender and other markers of social position and disadvantage such as race class ethnicity and nationality. Presents a unified and comprehensive vision of gender studies and its new directions injecting a much needed infusion of new ideas into the field Organized thematically and written in a lucid and lively fashion each chapter gives insightful consideration to the differing views on its topic and also clarifies each contributor's own position Features original contributions from an international panel of leading experts in the field and is co edited by the well known and internationally respected David Theo Goldberg
