Heroes Beneath the Waves Mary Nida Smith, 2015-11-17 The unbelievable stories of the heroic men who sailed under the sea. In Heroes Beneath the Waves, many brave men who rode submarines to great depths and across the oceans into unknown territory share their experiences, fears, and thoughts. They allow us to travel back in time through their memories. Trained for years to keep silent, for loose lips sink ships, many still believe what they know to be classified and refuse to disclose even the minutest of recollections. Others, however, want to leave a legacy of reminiscences for people to learn and live by, to know that freedom is not free. Some stories will never be told. Held within the secret confines of their souls, these deep sea veterans block them out for self-perseverance. Yet there are others who will never escape their own minds; they relive their underwater experiences over and over with eyes open or shut. Heroes Beneath the Waves is about teenage boys who left farms, small towns, and inner cities to defend the United States and democracy worldwide. Signing up for United States Navy submarine duty was an adventure of a lifetime during the early 1940s. Dreams of torpedoing Japanese and German ships and subs consumed their thoughts. Those who returned home as young men were older and wiser. Heroes Beneath the Waves was written to honor these men, gallant heroes who served and are serving today on submarines. Silent and Unseen Alfred Scott McLaren,2015-05-15 Silent and Unseen is a memoir of a submariner s life on a U S attack submarine during the Cold War by Capt Alfred S McLaren an experienced submarine officer and nuclear attack submarine commander He describes in riveting detail the significant events that occurred early in the Cold War during his seven years 1958 65 on board three attack submarines the USS Greenfish SS 351 USS Seadragon SSN 584 and USS Skipjack SSN 585 He took part in the first submerged transit of the Northwest Passage a Baffin Bay expedition and as commander of USS Queenfish SSN 651 a North Pole expedition that completed the first survey of the entire Siberian Continental Shelf McLaren s stories and anecdotes offer a look at the development of attack boat tactics and under ice exploration techniques During the early high risk years of the Cold War submarines were continually at sea and each reconnaissance and intelligence collection mission was of potentially great value to the United States The missions often required zeroing in on the potential enemy to collect the intelligence desired generally within weapons range Unlike a war patrol the U S attack boat had to remain undetected and then withdraw as silently and unseen as it s original approach Greenfish was one of the most successful Pacific diesel submarines when McLaren served aboard her as a watch and weapons officer He then served as watch officer on the Seadragon when she became the first nuclear submarine to transit from the Atlantic to the Pacific via the Arctic Ocean En route she examined the underside of icebergs conducted the first underwater survey and passage through the Northwest Passage and surfaced at the North Pole McLaren concludes by recounting his experiences on board what was then the world s fastest and most advanced submarine USS Skipjack SSN 585 during the Cuban Missile Crisis two Cold War missions and the very intensive and exciting period of new tactical and weapons development which followed to counter a rapidly emerging Soviet nuclear submarine threat adventures patrolling the seas and spying on the Soviet Fleet Tony took part in numerous missions including covert operations in the Barents Sea Before this mission the crew of the submarine was advised that if anything went wrong it never happened When things inevitably did go wrong Tony emerged a hero For many years afterward he wasn't allowed to tell anyone where he had been or what he had done Now in his eighties Tony finally gets to tell his story We Come Unseen Jim Ring, 2011-05-19 We Come Unseen first published in 2001 follows the careers of six Royal Navy submariners from their graduation from Dartmouth's Britannia Royal Naval College in 1963 just after the Cuban Missile Crisis to the fall of the Berlin Wall in 1989 Between these dates it seemed that nuclear war was never far away and Jim Ring explains not only the nuclear threat and its beginnings in the last days of the Second World War but why the Polaris and Trident submarines capable of inflicting the damage of the bombs that fell on Hiroshima and Nagasaki many times over and their accompanying attack submarines were critical to avoiding war Alongside a gripping narrative of the Cold War game of hide and seek played out under the waves of the northern seas Ring gives an account of the history of submarine warfare from its earliest pre nuclear days to the 1982 combat in the Falklands A welcome acknowledgement of one of the Cold War's little known aspects Alan Judd Sunday Telegraph An extraordinary story one of the most significant naval books of the year Ship's Telegraph A remarkable story Navy News Blind Man's Bluff Sherry Sontag, Christopher Drew, Annette Lawrence Drew, 1998-10-19 This real life Hunt for Red October is a story Naval Intelligence doesn't want you to know the dramatic history of America's highly clandestine dangerous and sometimes deadly submarine espionage missions from the Cold War thorough the Clinton administration Blind Man's Bluff Sherry Sontag, Christopher Drew, Annette Lawrence Drew, 2000 Two investigative reporters and a researcher tell the epic story of American espionage from the early Cold War Years to the Clinton Administration showing how the Navy and CIA have used submarines to gather intelligence and launch covert operations 8 page photo insert Stalking the Red Bear Peter Sasgen, 2009-03-17 Thrilling submarine espionage and an inside look at the U S Navy's silent service Stalking the Red Bear for the first time ever describes the action principally from the perspective of a commanding officer of a nuclear submarine during the Cold War the one man aboard a sub who makes the critical decisions taking readers closer to the Soviet target than any work on submarine espionage has ever done before This is the untold story of a covert submarine espionage operation against the Soviet Union during the Cold War as experienced by the Commanding Officer of an active submarine Few individuals outside the intelligence and submarine communities knew anything about these top secret missions Cloaking itself in virtual invisibility to avoid detection the USS Blackfin went sub vs sub deep within Soviet controlled waters north of the Arctic Circle where the risks were extraordinarily high and anything could happen Readers will know what it was like to carry out a covert mission aboard a nuke and experience the sights sounds and dangers unique to submarining The Cold War Submariner Jim Boswell, 2021-02-07 In A Cold War Submariner Jim Boswell chronicles the four year period in which he changed from someone dodging the draft of the Vietnam

War to becoming a Cold War submariner commanding control of one of the most powerful ships in the Navy the USS Nathanael Greene SSBN 636 Although Boswell tells us tales of missile launches torpedo firings patrol threatening equipment failures it is more a personal story about the interactions between shipmates serving on the deadliest of ships out of contact with their loved ones hoping they would never be told to use the weapons they carried Although laced with humorous antidotes A Cold War Submariner does not shy away from telling us what it means to make the call to man battle stations missile man battle stations missile Boswell does not overstate his own capabilities in his transition from a liberal arts student to a nuclear trained submarine officer In fact he readily acknowledges that he struggled to keep up with his compatriots throughout his four year service Unlike other submarine stories what makes The Submariner especially captivating is it is a coming of age story written by a grandfather for his grandchildren for historical purposes The deterrent submarine force and those who sailed in them were the heroes of the Cold War Those boats and men never fired a shot in anger yet won the war As the famous war strategist Sun Tzu said the highest form of warfare is to win the battle without fighting So true

Soviet Cold War Attack Submarines Edward Hampshire, 2020-09-17 In this highly detailed book naval historian Edward Hampshire reveals the fascinating history of the nuclear powered attack submarines built and operated by the Soviet Union in the Cold War including each class of these formidable craft as they developed throughout the Cold War period The November class which were the Soviet Union's first nuclear submarines had originally been designed to fire a single enormous nuclear tipped torpedo but were eventually completed as boats firing standard torpedoes The Alfa class were perhaps the most remarkable submarines of the Cold War titanium hulled which was light and strong but extremely expensive and difficult to weld successfully crewed with only thirty men due to considerable automation and 30% faster than any US submarines they used a radical liquid lead bismuth alloy in the reactor plant The Victor class formed the backbone of the Soviet nuclear submarine fleet in the 1970s and 1980s as hunter killer submarines began to focus on tracking and potentially destroying NATO ballistic missile submarines The Sierra classes were further titanium hulled submarines and the single Mike class submarine was an experimental type containing a number of innovations Finally the Akula class were being constructed as the Cold War ended and these boats form the mainstay of the Russian nuclear attack submarine fleet today This book explores the design development and deployment of each of these classes in detail offering an unparalleled insight into the submarines which served the Soviet Union throughout the Cold War period The text is supported by stunning illustrations photographs and diagrams of the submarines

Hostile Waters Peter A. Huchthausen, Peter

Huchthausen, Igor Kurdin, R. Alan White, 1998-08-15 In 1986 the Cold War was winding down yet under the seas the game of cat and mouse between Soviet and American submarines continued unabated Off the coast of North Carolina an aging Soviet ballistic missile submarine suffered a catastrophe accident and came within moments of melting down Had it exploded the entire East Coast of the U S would have been blanketed in radioactive fallout The death toll would have made Chernobyl seem like a traffic accident This is the gripping true story of 60 young Soviet men who fought and died to save our lives Photo insert Foreward by Tom Clancy Martin s Press First Patrol Philip L Munck, Michael J Pastore, 2020-11-16 Follow a patrol of one of the earliest ballistic missile submarines FIRST PATROL chronicles a crew s experiences during the three month period of duty in a strategic submarine patrol cycle The events occurred in the early 1960 s Their submarine is one of the first five boats carrying 16 nuclear warhead Fleet Ballistic Missiles The 60 day patrol at sea starts after a month of upkeep in Scotland The story is told through the eyes of the author a young naval officer on his first submarine patrol after he had completed lengthy nuclear power and submarine training He reports to the off crew offices of his boat on the Submarine Base in Groton CT and is anguished to find he will be the Supply Officer instead of being assigned to a job operating the nuclear power plant He learns that Adm Rickover is replacing the non nuclear trained officers on submarines with nuclear officers His concern is that he has no training in overseeing crew meals and spare parts nor does it give him the experience he needs to become a chief engineer But the job gives him daily access and insight to the crew This is a true story about a unique way of life where watch standing mixes with the human conflicts that occur when 125 men are locked in a steel tube for 60 days Starting with the first midwatch on patrol and continuing until just hours before returning to Holy Loch it is a voyage filled with equipment malfunctions including a reactor coolant leak Mission orders forbade radioing for advice and the Captain must choose between performing a complex repair or aborting the patrol The book is written in a non technical manner using first person narrative and crew member interactions to explain complex events in human terms As the author receives engineering and conning officer watch training he shows how the fledgling submariner acquires the skills and knowledge of his trade At the conclusion of the central story epilogues describing complications in trying to return home from Scotland and some of the experiences of his subsequent four patrols An extensive set of notes covering some of the technical details of nuclear submarine operations for the reader interested in exploring the subject more deeply and a glossary of terms and expressions Besides the unprecedented first day of patrol incident that put the entire mission at risk there were other major equipment failures including a reactor coolant leak loss of trim and drain pumps galley fire flooding loss of the trash ejection tube and failure of the navigation star periscope required for navigation Isolating the coolant leak required two reactor compartment entries and operating the diesel engine to provide power during the reactor shutdowns The crew performed at high levels during these crises and drills because of their intelligence and training During mundane daily routine human nature caused some to regress to frivolous actions There were many daily life situations where boredom drove some to seek to escape tension that even the recreations committee's slot machine doesn't provide. The goat locker the senior enlisted men provided hilarious formal rites for Crossing the Arctic Circle and the Splice the Mainbrace party that involved the whole crew and all officers. But these events only provided brief respites from patrol monotony. Daily life was epitomized in the FBM submariner's mantra: Patrol is 99% absolute boredom and 1% sheer terror.
