Violence In Families Assessing Prevention And Treatment Programs:

Violence in Families National Research Council and Institute of Medicine, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on the Assessment of Family Violence Interventions, 1998-02-13 Reports of mistreated children domestic violence and abuse of elderly persons continue to strain the capacity of police courts social services agencies and medical centers At the same time myriad treatment and prevention programs are providing services to victims and offenders Although limited research knowledge exists regarding the effectiveness of these programs such information is often scattered inaccessible and difficult to obtain Violence in Families takes the first hard look at the successes and failures of family violence interventions It offers recommendations to guide services programs policy and research on victim support and assistance treatments and penalties for offenders and law enforcement Included is an analysis of more than 100 evaluation studies on the outcomes of different kinds of programs and services Violence in Families provides the most comprehensive review on the topic to date It explores the scope and complexity of family violence including identification of the multiple types of victims and offenders who require different approaches to intervention The book outlines new strategies that offer promising approaches for service providers and researchers and for improving the evaluation of prevention and treatment services Violence in Families discusses issues that underlie all types of family violence such as the tension between family support and the protection of children risk factors that contribute to violent behavior in families and the balance between family privacy and community interventions The core of the book is a research based review of interventions used in three institutional sectors social services health and law enforcement settings and how to measure their effectiveness in combating maltreatment of children domestic violence and abuse of the elderly Among the questions explored by the committee Does the child protective services system work Does the threat of arrest deter batterers The volume discusses the strength of the evidence and highlights emerging links among interventions in different institutional settings Thorough readable and well organized Violence in Families synthesizes what is known and outlines what needs to be discovered This volume will be of great interest to policymakers social services providers health care professionals police and court officials victim advocates researchers and concerned individuals

Program Evaluation and Family Violence Research Sally K. Ward, David Finkelhor, 2014-05-22 Understand and evaluate family violence programs for your community Twenty years ago the major issue in creating interventions to prevent domestic violence was persuading the courts the funding agencies and society that domestic violence was a serious problem worthy of time trouble and money Now that the importance of domestic violence has been established we need safe and effective ways to evaluate those interventions to see which ones are working and how they can be improved Program Evaluation and Family Violence Research brings together some of the best minds in the field discussing such vital evaluation issues as policy implications alternative designs for evaluation studies and ethical concerns This comprehensive book approaches the vexed question of evaluation with compassion as well as scientific rigor Clearly traditional double blind studies and control groups are difficult to conduct when family violence is the subject it is ethically indefensible to sit back and watch abusers hurt their mates or children when interventions are available Yet finding usable methods of program evaluation is also essential Program Evaluation and Family Violence Research confronts these questions and discusses practical ways to evaluate a variety of domestic violence programs Program Evaluation and Family Violence Research draws on years of experience to address the difficult questions raised including going beyond evaluating program effectiveness to analyze why and how interventions help change behavior creating new research designs to adapt to the unique concerns of the family violence field using meta analysis for program evaluation research determining the interaction between research and program results identifying barriers between community activists and social scientists that may impede research Program Evaluation and Family Violence Research offers fresh and creative ways to do program evaluations guarantee subjects physical and emotional safety and make good science humane
